Chas. Bogue, chairman of the B. of R. T. protective board, is home from Chicago where he attended a meeting of representatives of the order on all lines west of Chicago. For a time it was thought the B. R. T. would join the engineers and firemen in a demand for increased pay and change in working conditions, but it was finally voted to "back away" from the proposition.

Boosting the Lincoln Highway.

T. C. Patterson, county consul for the Lincoln Memorial Highway, has appointed the following town consuls for Lincoln county: North Platte, M. J. Forbes; Brady, J. W. Pulliam; Maxwell, J. W. Nugent; Hershey, D. M. Leypoldt; Sutherland, A. W. Hoatson. The object of these consuls is to boost the highway in all possible ways and especially the sale of the highway certificates. Certainly the men selected by Mr. Patterson are full of energy and they are very enthusiastic for the highway. Good work may be expected of them.

The sale of certificates in Lincoln county has not been pushed, only about eighty having been sold up to last Saturday, but now that the town consuls have been appointed the sales will be pushed with energy.

A meeting of the county and town consuls will be held at Grand Island November 19th and it is expected that all the Lincoln county consuls, as well as the three county commissioners will attend. There will be present at this meeting the highway engineer, representatives of the Union Pacific and State Consul Fredrickson. It is probable that a general outline of the work to be performed in Nebraska will be formulated, and the exact route of the highway laid out. The route is pretty certain to be on the Union Pacific right-of-way clear across the state, but its exact location as to where it will traverse the south side and where the north side of the track will be determined. Certain it is that the railroad crossings will be as few as possible.

The general opinion is that the material to be used on the highway through Nebraska will be Sherman gravel, which the Union Pacific has offered to furnish at about the cost of loading and transporting. This is undoubtedly the best material that can be obtained, and it certainly makes a fine roadway.

The first move the people of North Platte and the Lincoln county people living along the highway line should make is to boost the sale of certificates, as our interest in the highway will be largely gauged by the number sold. Down in the east part of the state some individuals are buying as high as one hundred each, and in the little town of Waterloo, with only 410 inhabitants, $2,900 worth of the certificates have been sold. At least 1,000 should be sold in Lincoln county. The next move after the sale of certificates will be the construction of a bridge across the river east of town. To acquire this bridge it will be necessary for North Platte to vote its share of the bonds for the construction. Without this bridge the highway cannot well come into North Platte, for it is known that the highway officers would not for a minute consider the south of the river route with its meandering road.

The national highway will be a big thing for North Platte; it will bring thousands of visitors to the city each season, and each visitor will leave more or less money with our business men. Probably nine-tenths of those who pass through will spend the night in town. But the highway cannot be built without the hearty co-operation of the people along the route, and North Platte and the people of the valley must do their share.

The Law on Wire Tapping.
In view of the fact that the wires of the electric company were recently tapped, and that there had been several previous instances of the same nature, we append the state law relating thereto.

Section 1. (Electric connections prohibited.) Any person who connects any wire, cord, socket, motor or other instrument, device or contrivance with any wire transmitting or supplying or intended to transmit or supply electricity or electric current without the knowledge and consent of the person, partnership, corporation or company furnishing the electricity or electric current transmitted or supplied by said wire, in such manner that any portion of such electricity or electric current may be transmitted or supplied to any globe, lamp, heating apparatus, motor, or other instrument by or at which electricity or electric current may be consumed, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished as provided in Section 6 hereof.

Sec. 2. (Meter tampering.) Any person who connects or changes any wire, cord, socket, motor, or other instrument, device or contrivance with any wire transmitting or supplying or intended to transmit or supply electricity or electric current without the knowledge or consent of the person, partnership, corporation, or company furnishing the electricity or electric current transmitted or supplied by said wire, in such manner as to transmit or supply any such electricity or electric current to any globe, lamp, heating apparatus, motor or instrument by or at which electricity or electric current may be consumed without passing through the meter provided for measuring or registering the amount or quantity of electricity passing through it, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished as provided in Section 6 hereof.

Sec. 3. (Meter, Interference With.) Any person who wilfully injures, alters or by any instrument, device, or contrivance in any manner interferes with or obstructs the action or operation of any meter made or provided for measuring or registering the amount or quantity of electricity passing through it, without the knowledge and consent of the person, partnership, corporation or company furnishing or supplying the electricity or electric current passing or intended to pass through said meter, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished as provided in Section 6 hereof.

Sec. 4. (Electricity Misuse.) Any person who knowingly uses or who knowingly permits the use of any electricity or electric current in any globe, electric motor, heating apparatus or other instrument or device, owned, leased, or used by such person, or by any partnership, company or corporation, of which such person is a member, officer, representative, or agent; when any portion or quantity of such electricity or electric current passes through or along any line, cord, socket, motor, or other instrument, device or contrivance which has been connected with any wire transmitting or supplying electricity, without the knowledge and consent of the person, partnership, corporation or company furnishing the electricity or electric current transmitted or supplied by said wire, or when any portion or quantity of such electricity or electric current passes around, or by, or through a meter provided for measuring or registering the amount or quantity thereof, without being so measured or registered by reason of said meter having been changed, interfered with or obstructed without the knowledge and consent of the person, partnership, corporation or company furnishing the electricity or electric current transmitted or supplied by said wire, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished as provided in Section 6 hereof.

Sec. 5. (Evidence.) Proof of the existence of any wire connection, or any injury, alteration or obstruction of a meter, as in this act provided, shall be taken as prima facie evidence of the guilt of the person in possession of the premises where such connection, injury, alteration or obstruction is proven to exist.

Section 6. (Violation of Act, Penalty) Any person convicted of a violation of any of the provisions of this act shall be punished for each offense by a fine of not less than Fifty Dollars ($50.00) nor more than Three Hundred Dollars ($300.00) or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not less than thirty (30) days nor more than ninety (90) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.
