

SYNOPSIS.

Professor Desmond of the Peak observatory causes a great sensation throughout the country by announcing that what appears to be a satellite is approaching at terrific speed. Destruction of the earth is fesred. Panic prevaits everywhere. The satellite barely misses the earth. The atmospheric disturbance knocks people unconscious, but does no damage. A leaf bearing a cabalistic design flutters down smong the guests at a lawn party. It is identical in design with a curious ornament worn by Doris Fulton. A hideous man-like being with huge wings descends in the midst of the guests. He notices Doris' ornament and starts toward her.
The men fear he intends some harm to Dotis and a flerce battle ensues, in which Tolliver and March, suitors of Doris, and Professor Desmond are injured. The flying man is wounded by a shot from Tolliver, but escapes by flying away. A farmer reports that the flying man carried off his young daughter. People everywhere are terror-stricken at the possibilities for evil possessed by the monster. The governor offers a reward of $500,000 for his capture, dead or alive. Putnam is the first of the aviators to respond. After a thrilling chase in the air be in thrown from his machine by the flying man and killed. Doris talls March of awakening in the night to see the face of the monster at her window.

CHAPTER VII.-Continued,

"HIM. Yes, I saw him as plainly as I did that night on the lawn when he feil from space, only now he was a hundred times more hideous. And he was making mouths at me or trying to say something or-Oh, I don't know what he meant, but anyway I the gun he has just bought, but there he haunting me? What can it be? and now again in the midst of all these horrible things he is doing he comes to my window at midnight. I I had to call up some protector to be means?" A cold, prickly chill had enveloped March, a nameless fear at the daring to compete with him face to ing towards the little treeless playthought of the monster's apparently estrange fascination for the sweet his back was turned, when he had at woman at his side, but while his voice was more or less serious as he answered her he tried to present the the field to dispute with him. Doris, that they were expected to arrive to matter in as light a form as possible. however, relieved the situation some-I am inclined to think like this. what. It is probable that your trinket with 11s peculiar likeness to a leaf with which he was familiar in his own little visit for some time—we have Tolliver passed out of the gate and happy or very wretched." She averted to you. And so having noticed you-" March had to start his love making at the first opportunity-"and your sweet-

"As if a monstrosity like him could appreciate what we are pleased to call prettiness among ourselves, even assuming that any of us possess it. Why, we must look as grotesque to him as he does to us, with our wingless bodies, earth-bound forms, clumsy looking limbs, queer flapping garments and snail-like galt."

"Very well. We will assume then that you, personally, were a secondary consideration and that he was merely fascinated by the trinket. That should relieve your mind, and nothing is simpler than to leave him the ornament sutside as a peace offering. Also, you must remember this house is the place where he received his first introduction to human beings, and last night in his prowlings he probably chanced this way and stopped for a moment snerely out of curiosity."

"But why come to my window?" "Probably through coincidence pure and simple. Perhaps he merely wished to see what was inside. He sees like a bat in the dark, you know."

She removed her hands from her face and once more sat composedly. "Of course it may be that what you have said is true, since all any of us can do is guess. However, I think differently. I think it was a desire for revenge that brought him here, for that he is malevolent and revengeful there can be no doubt. And it was here, remember, that he was first attacked, attacked before he had offered violence to us. You know Clay started it by shooting him, and Clay was here for several days afterward while he was getting well. It is possible that the creature knew that to be so, does not know that Clay has left and came here looking for him. And then again perhaps he was after me once more. Oh, I don't know, but I am terribly worried."

"Doris!" he cried almost fiercely. "Fathers are all right enough as far as they go, but what you need above all other things is one who can be at your side in the darkness as well as the light, someone who can guard you, protect you and comfort you in times of distress like this as no father can-" | tive."

Which I suppose means that I need a husband," she broke in quietly. "You have guessed marvelously."

"And therefore that the husband should by rights be you."

"Unquestionably," A faint smile rippled across her face, think I was hasty-" Very well, sir. I will file this application among the others, and a little assistant I will be pleased to communicate with you further," she responded in a monotonous, businesslike voice.

nounced. Displeasure amounting to anger, and conversational track to have an exwho had just left her house after staybeing armed now he could have resentif this was of Doris' bringing about.

"Did you not expect him?" he in quired casually. Her head shook. "No. It is entirely of his own motion." "Have you told him of your experi ence of last night?"

"And are you going to tell him?"

least. He might infer that the Flying Man was searching here for him and realistic was it all that March half jumped out of bed and ran to father's be worried because of its worry to me arose to his feet with hands clenched room. He came back instantly with I shall say nothing to him about it as though to do battle, while Tolliver at present." She arose and went to muttered a flerce imprecation beneath was nothing in sight then. Why is the head of the steps to greet him. smiling, her hand outstretched. He death. For a moment they looked at The first night on the lawn he seemed bowed over it, muttering something each other with startled eyes, then to single me out from everybody else, inaudible to March's ears, then nodded Tolliver forced a laugh. to him.

so soon," he said drily to the latter it was nothing but a fool cloud, and am frightened, dreadfully frightened with one of his queer looks. The and do not want to be alone a moment. whole affair exasperated March. But tious. Listen to that!" From overa few hours before he had confessed head there came the peculiar clanking with me this afternoon, so I rang you. to the other man that he had not heard Can you imagine what the creature from Doris for days, and it must look ping quickly to the lawn they gazed to Tolliver as though his rival, not face, had kept out of his sight until ground park a little way beyond which once rushed to her upon the first information that there was nobody upon enough to come. We had not had a one at each side of her March and world and which may have some symboth been rather busy, you know." wandered towards the alighting place her face that he might not see the bolic meaning among his people, first Clay did not seem in the least dis- of the planes. Her head uncovered. attracted his attention and curiosity turbed at the possibility that he had her glossy hair glinting opalesque in ed in a voice that was low and pasinterrupted a tete-a-tete.

"It was frightfully lonesome to be by myself after the delightful society ness and prettiness-" She checked of the past week, so I just absentmindedly followed up my thoughts until I found myself here," he laughed. Beastly the way that flying animal walked so erectly at her side. is misbehaving himself. Too bad I did not get him that first night and save all this commotion."

"If you had not attacked him it is quite possible no commotion would twenty-five, determined of face and an could desire a more gallant admirhave arisen," she suggested mildly. He seemed a trifle put out at that view

"I don't think that is quite appreci-

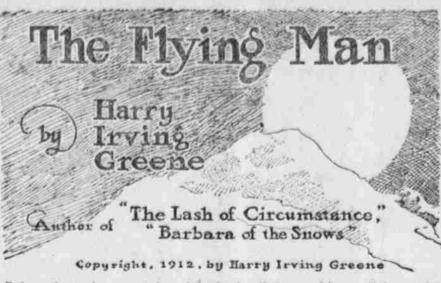

"He Was Making Mouths at Me."

ative. He was after you, reaching for you, and of course I could not permit anything like that from man or beast if the advance was repellent to you. You did not wish him to touch you?" treatment might have been more effec-

"Miss Doris, when it comes to protecting our women folks from the creatures of this or any other world, I believe in the guapowder treatment first to his usual manner, Tolliver seeming and the diplomatic afterwards-if to be thinking deeply seldom spoke there is any afterwards. But if you and she finally began to wonder mild-

"I am not criticising, and you know how much I appreciated your motives.

almost as straight as a wall, vast, ity. brooding, tumbled as an angry sea She leaned forward, looking down the stretched away and away into the dis- ly speaking. But mentally-" He street. "There comes Clay," she and tance to where the everlasting snow- halted and seemed to be seeking the disappointment approaching disgust the porch talked along in the warmth ly. pervaded Alan's being. After ten days of the sunny afternoon, the girl of not seeing her and now, just when seeming to forget her misgivings and they were getting started on the right laughing as lightly as had been her Doris. Those six days at your house wont before the coming of the strange | brought my mental disease to a cliceedingly disagreeable third person creature from another sphere to haunt max, that is, if it be true that love her. In fact, the spirits of all three is a disease, as some psychologists ing there constantly for days appear arose and for once all friction between would make us believe. I restrained upon the scene was somewhat more the rivals for the time disappeared and myself from speaking to you about it than irritating. He would rather Clay Alan even condescended to accept the while I was at your house, although hat been the Flying Man himself, for cigarette that Clay condescended to you may be very sure it was ever upproffer him. Then in the midst of permost in my mind. Yet the time ed the intrusion of the other with their light chatter a grotesque thing comes when love. like murder, must vigor, whereas he must now tamely happened. Across tht mid-afternoon out. In my case that time has come, submit. However, he would ascertain sun a black cloud came floating, and now you must listen to me for a sprawling, malformed, a cloud which few moments before making me very had huge batlike wings and a lean. outstretched arm that ended in a grasping hand. And as their tongues stopped as they stared at this apparition of the sky its shadow fell black upon the lawn, approached them with "I have told no one but father and silent stealth, ran snakelike up the porch until the claw mounting to Doris' waist held her for an instant in its "I do not know-not at present at grasp, then releasing her passed on beyond the house. So startling and his breath and the girl grew pale as

"Uncanny that! Too realistic by "Hardly expected to see you again half to be comfortable. But of course thank goodness we are not superstiwhistle of aerial propellers and step up. Two new aeroplanes were speedhas been set aside for their use.

"It is North and Luther arriving,"

March told them. "I saw in the paper day. North is an old friend of mine. Suppose we go down and see him. "Yes, I sent for him and he was good | Doris quickly assented, and walking the sunlight, exceedingly fair of face | sion filled. and faultless of form in her perfectly fitting gray gown, no man passed her without a second admiring look, few women without secret envy. And proud > machine, tightening this, loosening averted, her voice unchanged. that, testing everything. He was a good-looking young fellow of about foremost rank, although almost the an- been such." tithesis of the ill-fated Putnam. For where the dead man had been boastful North was modest, where one had been reckless the other was merely clous." brave, and where obstinacy had been predominant in the former in the man sway. He greeted March enthusiastically.

off and on all day. Maybe we won't his cap. "Delighted to meet you, Miss Fulface and hastened to apologize. "Beg pardon for mentioning such a disagreetoo, Mr. Tolliver." He turned to Alan-at the end of that time-"

"It is a contract." He took Alan by the arm. "We have got to hurry to me, you understand. Somehow I al- marrying-as yet." ways did have a hankering desire to "Most certainly not. But diplomatic chance at it, he rattled on. Off Chrough the loiterers the two friends went rapidly, leaving Clay and the until they should return. For fifteen minutes thereafter, and very contrary ly as to the cause of it.

"You are feeling quite recovered by now?" she inquired at length. He again. later if I find I have need of such an But let us talk about something else." laughed with an uneasy note in his

"Yes, Miss Doris, that is, physicalcrowned peaks glinted marble white words he wished-"I am very much in the sunlight. Lazily the three upon | disturbed." She glanced at him quick-

"May I ask about what?" "You may. It is about yourself,

The Claw, Mounting to Doris' Waist,

Held Her for an Instant in Its Grasp.

"It is Impossible that you with your keen perception have not read my could remain oblivious to such a paof her indeed were the two who tent state of mind as mine has been They found North busy about his known?" Her face still remained

"I have realized that you have been kind, courteous, considerate. No womsinewy of form and an aviator of the er, since you assert that you have "You suspicioned nothing more than admiration?" "I think I am by nature unsuspi

His dark face clouded with a slight displeasure. "Believe me, I am far too they now saw cool determination held serious to jest. "Doris, I have been in love with you with a love that has increased with each passing moment man. Remembered that this was your | tried to make you understand it in you have known it for months. And enough to introduce me." He removed | me have fanned my hope until I have sometimes thought I would not be over-presumptuous in speaking to you on." He gazed at Doris with frank as I am doing now. And your soliciadmiration. "Don't know as I blame tude—I might almost say tenderness shadow that flitted across the girl's out with it. Therefore I came this better than all else, that I would sacable beast in your presence, Miss Ful- rifice my life for you-and I want you March. He isn't half bad when you should ever come when I shall be put get to know him. Glad to know you, to the test-and that above all other things earthly I wish to marry you. cuse you for just half an hour while grown pale with suppressed emotions, you show me a decent place near here his rather sharply cut features seemed for half an hour, you know." Doris ing quickly sidewise at him, thought "If you will both promise to return him quietly, half seriously, half lightly.

proud and gratified to feel that so honorable a man so highly esteemed her make it, and these are busy days with But I had not thought seriously of

They walked a dozen steps in sinot be considered the essence of this had made his start the other remained between us. I will be content to await girl to ramble about by themselves any length of time if I may only tionless in the air, then as the cloud continue to hope. May I have that of other planes arose and with his hope, Doris?"

"I will answer you tomorrow. "Today, now"-he begged. But she only shook her head and he walked the same position as though he was Before them the mountains rising | voice that caused her a slight perplex | may consider to be an impertinent | circle went whistling out over the me. Is there-are you-

"No," she interrupted quickly. "I am not promised to anyone else, if that is what you are about to say." Instantly his face grew lighter and he even laughed a bit.

"Then to every cloud there is a silver lining after all. I was dreadfully frightened for a few moments and the relief is unspeakable. I beg your pardon for hinting at such a possibility. Until tomorrow at least I shall continue to cherish hopes—yes even after that no matter what the answer may Tonight, even though it be for the last time, I shall revel in my dreams.

"I think we had better turn back now," she said quietly. Back at his machine after his lunch North was testing the motor, March face flown bloodless, his eyes staring, his voice coming in an awed whisper. "Great Maker of Miracles! Look up

CHAPTER VIII.

The Pursuit of the Planes. March raised his eyes and an exclamation burst from his own lips as well. Just rising from the nearby range, where he had doubtless been roosting as he watched, swinging wide over the plain perhaps two miles distant and two thousand feet up, marvelously distinct in the tenuous mounand soaribg with occasional sweeps of his thin pinions. Alan had witnessed his fight with the ill-fated Putnam, but North, now seeing him for the first time, was fairly awed at the wonderful poise and ease of the enemy's flight. For perhaps five seconds he gazed at him in fascination as he continued to squeeze his companion's arm with an undiminished grip, then released his hold and gasped:

"Shade of Darius Green! Now that's what I call flying!' whisper, already working frantically side as he leaned forward in his seat at his engine. "Don't you dare look as a jockey rides a leaping race horse. up-don't you dare make a move. every muscle taut as the singing stays They will all see him in another min- about about him, the rush of wind in warmth of her color, while he proceed- ute and then things will be turned up his face, the throb of the machine be side down. I want to get away early neath him, the roar of the propeller and avoid the rush. He sprang into behind. Ecstatically he gloried in the his seat and grasped his operating long, sweeping upward rise of the gear. "Make way, there," he roared machine when they rose and rose as feelings towards you, for no woman at the stragglers about. "I am going a ship mounts a towering, upheaving to start, and when I do I'll be a cy- billow; involuntarily he drew his clone on wheels. Make way, MAKE breath with a sharp intake as they towards you. Dorls, have you not WAY!" Like sheep charged by a swept downward in a long dip as the raging wolf, they scattered before the ship sweeps down from the towering great monoplane, and North, throwing crest of a lord of the ocean when the on the power, shot forward and sprang deck falls from beneath one's feet lightly into the air like a bounded and he feels as though he floated in rubber ball. With his propeller whir- midair, so rapid is the plunge into the ring at topmost speed he turned at valley below. Then the graceful rise a dizzy slant and as a bee goes for again with the sudden plunge into an its hive so did he head onward and upward for the marvel beyond that floated so buoyantly in the limpid air.

Instantly wild tumult and hoarse uproar burst forth. A hundred voices bellowed the discovery at once and in half a dozen seconds a score of aviators had leaped upon their seats with fierce shouts of warning to the fleeing "Mighty glad to see you again, old since the day I first met you. I have crowd. Monoplanes and biplanes streaked the earth as they achieved home and have been thinking of you many ways, and I am convinced that their momentum for the upward leap. Twenty great propellers were whirhave a good old time together once always your uniform kindness, and ring, churning, roaring all at once. more when I get that million. Be good often your apparent pleasure at seeing Then rising in buzzing flight like a covey of mammoth grouse, they went whistling away in twos, threes and clusters in the wake of North, whose powerful "Blue Dragon" was splitting the air at nearly ninety miles an hour. Alan and the Flying Man for making in caring for me during those days Betts and Fairfield, the last to rise, their headquarters here." He saw the when I was disabled determined me to collided before they had fairly left the ground and came down with a crash afternoon to tell you that I love you and a snapping of wires, themselves receiving awkward tumbles, but springing to their feet practically unton-I mean the Flying Man, not to remember that phrase if the time hurt. Their machines, however, were temporarily disabled, and calling down maledictions upon their luck and each other's heads they could only stand "I wonder if your friends will ex- His eyes had brightened, his face rooted to the spot like other men and watch their companions in the mad million-dollar chase, when but for a where I can get a bite to eat-merely to have softened and the girl, glanc. little ill fortune they would have been close in their wake. The greatest ophim handsome indeed. She answered portunity of a lifetime had gone aglimmering because someone in his "It would make almost any woman frantic haste had blundered. Small wonder that their rage was boundless. And now once more the Flying Man seemed to have made up his mind to Putnam individually before he had his thread, floating practically moforemost foe more than half way to him he became active. Throwing himself forward upon a horizontal in much "I am going to ask you what you dred feet, and starting in a mighty lion is noble enough for me."

question. Of course you may ignore plain, his score of pursuers instantly it altogether, evade it or answer as changing their course to a tangent in you please without fear of offending order to cut him off. And seeing that they bid fair to do so the pursued one straightened his course into direct flight, and with his face turned backward over his shoulder led them straight away. For the next mile the Blue Dragon and about half a dozen of the fastest of the machines seemed to be holding their own with him, while the rest, unable to keep up the terrific pace, gradually strung out behind like a kite's long tall. Whither he was leading them none but himself could guess, but as for the pursuers they cared little provided they could keep him in sight. Whether they ran the race and fought the fight over jagged mountain tops or level ground made little difference to these seasoned sailors of the upper air sea, whose constant close association with death had made them almost contemptuous watching him with mild interest of it, and as grayhounds course a hare Suddenly the aviator clutched his they went whistling on with strained friend's arm with a grasp of seed, his muscles and eyes glued upon the black streak that sped as an arrow before them. Whether the pursued one was doing his best or only trifling with them they could only conjecture, but this much was evident, doing their own best as they were. they were barely holding their own with him. North, still retaining his initial advantage over his nearest competitor, could not see that he had gained a foot upon the enemy. To the spectators upon the ground and now far behind, the ones in the air appeared but distant floating specks. Then one by one even the specks disappeared and a great sobbing sigh of tain air, the Flying Man was floating relaxation welled from the bosom of the watching city.

Fire minutes had elapsed since North left the ground, five minutes during which time March, grown to the spot, had stood staring after the flyers with his heart pounding and his enthusiasm mounting with its every beat as he thrilled with admiration at the skill and daring of the pursuers of this half human-like, half bird-like creature of prey of the upper air. Carried away by the excitement of it, he had in spirit flown with North in his He was speaking in a fierce, harsh aerial rush, seeming to ride by his air bank that opposed them with a test them out en masse as he had done wolidness that caused the light plane to shudder and shiver at the impact, be a millionaire and this is my first lence. "Time," said he at last, "need slain him. For a minute after North and wherein the machine again seemed a ship wallowing in a sea that contract, should there be a contract like a spider suspended at the end of had swept her from stem to stern, until shaking herself free she once more raced on, buzzing like a hornet, (TO BE CONTINUED.)

Whither He Was Leading Them, None but Himself Could Guess.

Noble Enough for Him.

Miss-"Of course you know, baron, that my father is not in the remotest beside her with downcast eyes and about to swim in water, he gave a degree a nobleman?" He-"Say no moody face until presently he spoke mighty beat of his wings. Like a more, beautiful one. A man who will darting fish he leaped forward a hun- give his daughter a dowry of a mi-