Council Withdraws

Depot Complaint

At the regular meeting of the city council Tuesday evening it was decided to withdraw the complaint now pending before the state railway commission to compel the Union Pacific company to build a new depot here. The action passed the council by a vote of 7 to 2, Hoagland and Sorenson voting against it.

The committee from the chamber of commerce, with Harry Dixon as chairman, appeared before the council and recommended that the complaint be withdrawn on account of the ill feeling that would necessarily be aroused among the railroad officials. Five members of the committee spoke before the council and brought out the fact that the sentiment of the people in general seemed to be against forcing the issue and that when the council could see that they could feel sure that they were not expressing the desires of the citizens of North Platte but were acting as individuals were putting the city in bad because the action was taken as coming from the city of North Platte.

Mr. Dixon first read the resolutions that the committee had drawn up urging the withdrawal of the petition in order to keep on friendly terms with the company and to best express the wishes of the people of North Platte as a whole. Mr. Seeberger then spoke from the standpoint of a business man and as president of the chamber of commerce. He also brought out Mr. Mohler's side of the question and showed that he was doing all he could to get a depot for this city. He stated that the action was not taken by the chamber to criticize the council and their action, but that every citizen of the city was equally to blame for not appearing before the council before the action was taken.

J. Q. Wilcox then spoke on behalf of the business men of the city and emphasized the expediency of keeping the good will of the company. He brought out the fact that the North Platte business men are dependant upon one another and upon the railroad for their means of livelihood on account of the small towns that have grown up in the past few years and have taken much of the rural trade that formerly came to this city. He was followed by Father McDaid, who spoke along the line of the moral need, showing that the action of the council would be held ridiculous on account of the sentiment of the people against it, and because this sentiment was known outside. He showed the receipts for the last year by the railroad company to be for freight, $302,302.70 and for tickets, $135,575.37 making a total of $437,878.07. As against this he showed that the railroad had paid into the city, at the least, $600,000, and that they paid taxes in Lincoln county on over $6,870,000 worth of property.

Mr. Bars then spoke on the dollars and cents side of the question and showed the decrease in the country trade, the increase in the population and that the wealth had remained constant, making it harder to get money by each individual. He spoke largely upon the decrease of business on account of the Stapleton extension and the necessity of us bringing in more outside trade, and showed that to could best be done by keeping on good terms with the railroad.

W. H. McDonald then spoke largely along the same lines and brought out especially the fact that Mr. Mohler had made an earnest attempt to get the depot here and showed that a large amount of the big receipts of the railroad company was due to the land drawing bringing in so many people. He was followed by Frank J. Doran who spoke from the laboring man's standpoint.

Mayor Eynas and City Attorney Keefe answered the men and stated that the relations of the council were friendly and that if the company was forced to build, the city would give them more time and keep on friendly relations. They were answered by Mr. Seeberger, M. E. Crosby and W. H. Ingles and Chief Dispatcher Zentmeyer then spoke as a railroad official.

Schatz then moved that the action be withdrawn and it was seconded by Crosby. The vote showed only two against withdrawal, and City Attorney Keefe was instructed to withdraw the action.

Attorney Albert Muldoon appeared before the council in behalf of the Union Pacific railroad and informed the men that the company wanted to dedicate a portion of Front street and of Seventh street for a public highway. These streets, it appears, are a part of the Union Pacific right-of-way and have been used by the city only through the courtesy of the company. They offer to send an engineer here to meet with the mayor and a committee and decide what the city wants for a highway. The matter was left with the mayor and the street committee for them to act in conjunction with the city engineer and decide what they wanted.

Hugh Gaunt then appeared before the council and asked for a reconsideration on the action regarding the saloon on north side. He stated that if they were not allowed a saloon they would do everything in their power to do away with saloons entirely in the city. He offered a license of $2,000 for the privilege of running a saloon there. Mr. Morrill then appeared on behalf of the petition that was presented at the last meeting of the council and the matter was dropped without further action.

City Water Commissioner appeared before the council in regard to the meter rate to the government building. A rate of 10cents per thousand was made them and the custodian refused to consider this a rate as it is the rate for amounts of from 100,000 to 200,000 gallons per quarter and they use nearly 300,000 gallons. A special rate of 7 cents was made to them and to all consumers that use over 200,000 gallons.

A number of the city firemen appeared before the council and presented griefs regarding the way the department is operated and upon the power given the chief. They were authorized to draft a new constitution and by laws and present them to the council for ratification.

The reports of the water commissioner, the city treasurer, city clerk and chief of police were then presented and accepted and the bills were allowed, after which the council adjourned.
