Many Pay Tribute To Honored Dead

Memorial Day exercises were held Saturday afternoon both in this city and at Fort McPherson. T. C. Patterson had charge of the program at the fort and J. E. Evans at this place. Nice crowds attended at both places and enjoyed the programs.

At Fort McPherson it is estimated that there were over one thousand people and over one hundred fifty automobiles besides many carriages and teams. In the forenoon the people gathered and just before twelve o'clock the flowers were strewn on the graves by a number of little girls. At noon a picnic dinner was enjoyed and the exercises were held beginning at 2 o'clock. Rev. Barrett of Brady gave the invocation and then there was singing of a number of patriotic songs under the leadership of Mrs. C. C. Clarke of that vicinity. A recitation was given by Miss Georgina McKay and Rev. J. L. Barton of this city delivered the address.

The exercises were held here at the Keith theatre and a nice crowd attended. The lower floor was comfortably filled. So many attended at the fort that it detracted from the crowd here. A recitation was given by Mrs. W. J. Tiley and George Thompson read the Gettysburg address. Prof. Garlin had charge of the singing and he had the school children sing a number of patriotic songs. H. G. Knowles of the Christian church delivered a nice address which was much enjoyed. J. E. Evans, who had charge of the meeting here, gave a history of the post here and made a nice talk.

Dont Get Roped in by Cata'og Houses

It isn't a pleasant sensation to send your good money away for a car of Lumber, and then find the stuff not as good as you expected to get.

Yet scores and scores of farmers are getting "roped in" that way every day.

The bait of "cheap prices" seems to wrap there business judgment, and away goes their money to buy stuff sight unseen.

You sober common sense should tell you that the cost of doing business with million of expensive catalogs, and thousands of clerks make it impossible for catalog houses to sell you as good lumber for the same money as your local dealer can, and that they resort to lowering the grade in order to make the price appear cheaper.

When you can buy your Lumber and Building Material here as cheap as away from home, why shouldn't you be loyal to your home community and its interests, which are also yours? Think it over, and remember, we can meet or beat any catalog house price on the same grades.

Mrs. W. S. Dolson Dies of Paralysis.

Margaret E. Dolson, wife of W. S. Dolson, a Union Pacific engineer of this city, passed away at her home on West Sixth street a few minutes before midnight Saturday night. Paralysis was the cause of her death and she had been stricken with the last attack only a few days before.

Margaret E. Platt was born in Morris Ann, N. Y., June 23, 1857. Her parents died when she was quite young and she was adopted. In 1871 she came to Grand Island with her foster parents, her brother W. H. Platt, at that time being mayor of Grand Island. In 1876 she came to North Platte and made her home with Dr. and Mrs. F. N. Dick. She removed to Sidney in 1878 and was there married to W. S. Dolson April 10, 1879. They returned to North Platte two years later and have made their home here continuously since that time.

For several years Mrs. Dolson has been in indifferent health and only recently recovered from a serious illness. About two months ago she and her husband left for California for her health and they returned from there about a week ago and thought that Mrs. Dolson was completely recovered. Saturday morning she and her husband went out to the cemetery to place flowers on the graves and while returning she was stricken with another stroke of paralysis. She was unconscious before she got back to the city and did not regain consciousness. A few minutes before twelve o'clock she passed away.

Mrs. Dolson was the mother of five children, all of whom were born in this city with the exception of Ralph, the eldest. All of them are graduates from the local schools. Ralph L., the eldest, was killed in a railroad accident in Gothenburg in 1903. The other children are Frances Enroy, wife of J. D. Wolbach, of this city, William A., who holds a responsible position with the Union Pacific company at Omaha, Frederick C., of Oakland, Calif., and Howard F., of Omaha.

All the sons and their wives will be here to attend the funeral and also C. H. Dolson and daughter, Mrs. Carlson, of Oshkosh, the stepmother Mrs. J. A. Dolson, of Grand Island and a sister, Mrs. Fannie Moyhanan, of Broadwater, Mrs. Schott of this city is also a close relative of Mrs. Dolson.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 10:30 from the Episcopal church, Dean J. J. Bowker officiating. Interment will be in the North Platte cemetery. Mrs. Dolson was an active member of the ladies auxiliary of the B. of L. E. and that body will attend the funeral en masse.

Mrs. Dolson was well-known to many people in this city and the country around and her loss will be deeply felt by her many friends as well as by her family. She was a woman respected by all who knew her and one to whom many looked up and were glad to call a friend.

A recent issue of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch contains a two-column article on a decision handed down by United States Judge Jacob Trieber, of Little Rock, Ark., in regard to the recent federal game laws passed. A man was arrested for shooting game out of season according to the federal laws and upon filing a demurrer his case was brought before Judge Trieber and the court handed down the decision that the federal laws regarding the regulating of hunting and fishing were unconstitutional. That each state had a right to govern the game within its borders and the congress of the United States had no right to interfere. Several test cases of this law have been made and in all other cases decisions were handed down against the alleged offenders. While this one comes at the close of the spring shooting it may be well to keep it in mind for another year.

Final tabulation of the casualties in the sinking of the steamer Empress of Ireland in the St. Lawrence river Thursday night of last week, show that 964 perished and 408 had been saved.
