Commencement is Attended by Many

The Keith theatre was filled almost to capacity Friday evening when the class of 1914, a class of thirty, graduated. The program was carried out as scheduled with the exception of the trombones that by Wilson Tost and Arthur Tramm and that had to be left out on account of the latter being out of the city.

The program was much enjoyed and especially the piano number by Miss Esther Hogsett, a member of the class. The addresses were all good and show much talent in that line in the class. A. F. Streitz gave a nice presentation speech which was full of timely advice and also commended the class for their faithfulness. Supt. Tost spoke favorably of the class for their good record through school as compared with other classes and also presented the scholarship to Miss Marion Cross, the honor student.

After the exercises the Junior-Senior banquet was held in the Masonic hall. The banquet was an elaborate one and was successful from every standpoint. The Junior class and their advisor, Miss Aileen Gantt, decorated the rooms very beautifully with the high school colors, red and white, and the Junior colors orange and black. The place cards were also unique and the table decorations, which consisted of red and white carnations and candles, were appropriate.

The supper was served by the Lutheran ladies and was a fine course supper. The girls of the Songmore class served. This was followed by a toast list of nine numbers. Cody Boal was to have been toastmaster, but on account of his absence Robert Loudon acted in this capacity. The first toast was a toast to the Seniors and was an original poem set to music and delivered by the Junior Minstrels. During the evening a toast was received by wire from Clarence Day and Cody Boal, two Juniors who could not be present.

Game Ends in Dispute.

The game Sunday afternoon between the Stapleton team and the Independents ended in a dispute over a decision of the umpire and the visitors refused to play the game out, but after the local men had left for their homes they changed their minds and asked to finish. The score stood 4 to 2 in favor of the visitors at the end of the first half of the sixth with the locals still to bat. The game had been fast and was characterized by much crabbing by the visitors.

Todenhoff for the visitors pitched a good game and allowed only three hits. Jones did not seem to have his pitching clothes on when most needed although he fanned eight men. The local men did not play in their usual form and there were many errors. The batteries were Jones and Sandall, Todenhoff and Haliday; umpire, Rolfe Halligan.

Talk Church League. The ball game last week between the Lutherans and the Episcopalians incited considerable comment among the members of the brotherhoods of the other churches which promises to result in the organization of a church league.

Much talk among these men circulated around Friday and much of it was to the effect that such a project should be launched. Members of the Christian, Presbyterian and Methodist brotherhoods expressed themselves as favoring such an organization and stated that they would get to work toward organizing teams.

Of all the kinds and classes of leagues the church league generally provokes the most merriment and should such an organization be formed there is promise of great sport along the line of the great American pastime.
