to cover any possible fire loss to your property holdings. The cost is very little indeed when the importance of the protection afforded is considered. The premiums are so little, and the protection in case of fire so great, that it is a matter of wonder why any wise people owning property should allow it to remain uninsured. If this is your reproach now see me about a policy.

Ridgely for Governor of Wyoming.

H. S. Ridgely, formerly of this city, and but recently United States district attorney of Wyoming, has announced himself as a candidate for the republican nomination for governor of that state. Since leaving in that state a dozen years ago Mr. Ridgely's rise in legal and political circles has been meteoric, and he is regarded all over Wyoming as one of the leaders of the state. He is a tireless worker, a brainy fellow and a good "boiler" in the class of men who make a success in life.

North Platte Ladies Enter Contest.

To raise funds for the erection of a Nebraska building on the Panama-Pacific exposition grounds, contributions of $1.00 will be taken from the citizens of the state. To receive these contributions 8,000 ladies have been appointed in the towns and precincts of the state, and the one receiving the most money will be given a five-day trip to the exposition, and to those receiving next other prizes will be awarded. This notice has been advised that the contestants in this city are: Mrs. E. R. Longman Edna Sullivan, Lela Scott, Jeannette White, Irene Howard and Pearl Frank.

Make It Impromtant

The North Platte steam laundry installed a new Property outfit mouder in their plant this week. The mouder is operated entirely by steam and is a big improvement to the laundry. The mouder is a constructed that the steam of the boiler is kept entirely without friction. This makes the steam work much longer and also gives a more uniform heat. The plant is now operated entirely by steam and the heat is kept in the boiler. They have a number of machines that permit fast work and they can get out laundry in one day. The capacity of the plant is almost unlimited with the new machinery added.

Nearly a hundred teachers have registered at the Junior Normal and the teachers' institute for this summer. The Normal last week all arrived in the city Saturday and Sunday and the regular work opened on yesterday morning in the high school building. Large Class is Confirmed Sunday

The seating capacity of St. Patrick's church was met to the utmost on Sunday afternoon when the sacrament of confirmation was administered to a class of 120 pupils by the Rt. Rev. James D. Bishop of the Kearney Diocese. The services began shortly after three o'clock with a thorough examination of the members of the class on the Christian Doctrine, in which they had carefully instructed by their teachers, Miss Jessie and Daniel Steio, Frances Donegan and Lucretia Murphy as sponsors. Father McCallid.

Following this an interesting sermon was delivered by the Bishop on the value of religious education, recommending the re-organization of the parochial schools in this city. His sermon was admirably well commensurate the local party on the presence of his classmate as sponsors for the boys were Messrs. Frank J. Horn and John Betrad, prominent members of the Knights of Columbus while Mrs. W. McCallid and Mrs. J. L. Murphy, two of the most faithful church workers, sponsored the girls.

The Bishop was assisted in the services by Rev. Hayes of Lexington, Rev. Hines of De Soto, Rev. Sullivan of Elm Grove, and Rev. McDaniel of North Platte.

For this impressive occasion the sanctuary was beautified with cut flowers. The special music furnished during benediction by the choir was excellent. An especially beautiful soprano solo "O Salutaris" was rendered by Miss Sadie Trevillo with Violin Obligato by Prof. E. A. Garlich. During this, his first official visit to North Platte the Bishop was given an opportunity of meeting the members of St. Patrick's Parish and was very favorably impressed with present conditions, encouraging people in their good works and winning the hearts of the children and adults. The impressive services will be long remembered by all who witnessed them.
