

SUCCEEDS IN CANADA

An interesting and successful American farmer, Lew Palmer, of Staveley, Alta., passed through the city today. Mr. Palmer came from Duluth, Minn., just ten years ago, and brought with him four cows and three horses—and that was his all. He homesteaded in the Staveley district, and today has 480 acres of land, $3,000 worth of implements, 34 Percheron horses, made $1,000 out of hogs last year, raised 7,000 bushels of wheat, 6,000 bushels of oats, 12 acres of potatoes, and 18 tons of onions. His farm and stock is worth $30,000, and he made it all in ten years.—Exchange.—Advertisement.

Benefit of the Best Light.

We should be as generous with a man as we are with a picture, which we always give the benefit of the best possible light.—Ralph W. Emerson.

SCALP ITCHED AND BURNED

833 South Scioto St., Circleville, Ohio.—"My little girl's trouble first started on her head in a bunch of little pimples full of yellow-looking matter and they would spread in large places. In a short time they would open. Her scalp was awfully red and inflamed and the burning and itching were so intense that she would scratch and rub till it would leave ugly sores. The sores also appeared on her body, and her clothing irritated them so that I had to put real soft cloth next to her body. She would lie awake of nights and was very worrisome. At times she was tortured with itching and burning.

"I tried different remedies with no benefit for months. I had given up all hope of her ever getting rid of it, then I concluded to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The second application gave relief. In a short time she was entirely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Alice Kirlin, Nov. 4, 1912.

Oldest Welshman.

The oldest Welshman in the world is Mr. Thomas Morris, who lives at Westerville, Neb. Although he is now an American citizen, he was born a subject of George III, at the little village of Berlew, Montgomeryshire, on January 15, 1794. He is therefore one hundred and twenty years old.

His father was an agricultural laborer and died when the boy was three years old. Morris was apprenticed to a cobbler and followed his trade in this country until 1871, when, at the age of seventy-seven, he emigrated to America.

The old man is very proud of the fact that he has lived in three centuries. He remembers the union of Great Britain and Ireland, the assassination of President Lincoln and the laying of the first Atlantic cable.

Morris can still walk with the aid of a stick and see with the aid of spectacles, which he first purchased after passing his hundredth birthday. His hearing is good, and he enjoys a cup of tea or coffee with each meal.—Daily Express.

Glad to See Them Go?

Patience—I see a London railroad station has been equipped with penny-in-the-slot machines for the sale of tickets to persons who wish to accompany friends to the train platforms.

Patience—That's too cheap. I know I'd give more than a penny to see some of my friends leave the town.

The Usual Fate.

"Did old Titepurse leave anything behind him?"
"Yes, I believe he left all he had."

HER MOTHER-IN-LAW

Proved a Wise, Good Friend.

A young woman out in Ia. found a wise, good friend in her mother-in-law, jokes notwithstanding. She writes:

"I was greatly troubled with my stomach, complexion was blotchy and yellow. After meals I often suffered sharp pains and would have to lie down. My mother often told me it was the coffee I drank at meals. But when I'd quit coffee I'd have a severe headache.

"While visiting my mother-in-law I remarked that she always made such good coffee, and asked her to tell me how. She laughed and told me it was easy to make good 'coffee' when you use Postum.

"I began to use Postum as soon as I got home, and now we have the same good 'coffee' (Postum) every day, and I have no more trouble. Indigestion is a thing of the past, and my complexion has cleared up beautifully.

"My grandmother suffered a great deal with her stomach. Her doctor told her to leave off coffee. She then took tea but that was just as bad.

"She finally was induced to try Postum which she has used for over a year. She traveled during the winter over the greater part of Iowa, visiting, something she had not been able to do for years. She says she owes her present good health to Postum."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Postum now comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.

Green Serge and Taffeta for Afternoon

ONE of the prettiest models for an afternoon gown has been developed by Green of Paris. It is unusually plain and it is unusually shapely. Yet it is strictly in the mode, and the mode started out to be very fussy. But Americans would not have too much fussiness. Hence it is a quieted and much-chastened mode exemplified in the model shown in the picture.

The skirt is draped in plaits folded over toward the left side, with a short split at the hem. It hangs in at the ankles and out a little at the hips. The underbodice is a separate garment of silk and lace.

The little coat is cut with kimono sleeves and shaped to the figure at the front by folding it in from the swell of the bust downward. A short basque is shaped into a semi-fitting back and short rounded end. A double ruffle, widening toward the back, is sewed to the edge of the coat and gives the effect of a shaped overskirt. There is a smart finish of military cord and silk tassels across the front.

The sleeves are three-quarter length, terminating in a ruffle trimmed to a point. There is an underruffle of silk and a cord finish.

There is no coat collar, but a tie of plaid silk makes a pretty finish at the neck. But in the matter of the neck finish there is latitude here for the use of any of the modish collars of lace or net which the makers of neckwear have provided for the prevalent styles.

Taking it altogether, this is a costume which is far more satisfactory to the possessor of a good figure than most of those furbelowed and full, hanging or bunched effects to which fashion gives countenance, but her devotees give a rather wide berth.

Designed for Youthful Wearers

HATS for misses and little girls do not noticeably reflect the modes that are in the ascendant for their grown-up sisters. The sailor shape for misses, like that shown in the picture, the poke-bonnet shapes and wider brimmed droopy hats, almost cover the field of choice for the miss. But these few dominant ideas have been so variously developed that there is no monotonous sameness.

For little girls the bonnet shapes, the sombrero and some small replicas of the simplest shape worn by their elders, provide a wide enough choice.

For the copyist who finds it worth while to trim the children's millinery at home, the four hats pictured here are excellent models to follow. It is no more difficult to trim these shapes at home than to make dresses for the same young wearers.

A quiet, easily-trimmed poke bonnet of hemp, shown in the picture, is trimmed with a wreath of forget-me-nots and a plain sash of No. 60 satin ribbon. The underbrim is faced with the ribbon, shirred on. A ruffle is sewed to the underbrim about a half-inch in from the edge. It is turned over the edge and tacked down in a cascade on the upper brim.

Satin messaline is the ribbon chosen, in any light color. It is tied in a four-looped bow at each side. Finally the wreath of forget-me-nots is adjusted. It extends about the base of the crown at the front and along the edge of the ruffle at the back.

The small and wonderfully artistic "sombrero" in the next picture is trimmed with a cord, very appropriately, and finished with a ribbon ruffle about the brim, headed with the cord. Loops and ends of this cord make the finish.

One of the hats, for an older girl, is a sailor shape with oblong crown. There is a collar of fancy silk braid in rich colorings and a fan of satin ribbon in the color which predominates in the braid, at the front.

The remaining hat is a sailor with a round crown covered with overlapping rows of narrow ribbon over the top. There is a wide band of braid about the side-crown and six small fans of satin ribbon, doubled, set about the base of the crown at intervals.

By following the copy one runs no risk of turning out an amateurish-looking hat as the result of painstaking efforts in home trimming.

GET AFTER SUMMER PESTS

This is the Time to Wage War Against the Deadly Fly and the Annoying Mosquito.

Let us bear in mind that one of the prime objects of a spring cleanup is to eliminate the fly and the mosquito. When we are exercising our muscles and our ingenuity ridding our dwellings and neighborhoods of dust and filth, it will be worth our while to give these twin winged pests serious attention.

The first spring fly, of course, came some time ago, though she is still pleasantly modest and retiring. It is not reassuring, however, to reflect that the little insect is keeping carefully out of our sight and the roach of our swatters while she lays a few myriads of eggs, which presently will hatch out into a whole flying regiment of nuisances and disease-carriers.

The shy and unobtrusive mosquito is making the best use of her time for the same purpose. When the open season on human beings arrives she hopes to have a whole army corps of her progeny to lead to the attack.

Now is the time to get busy if we want to preserve ourselves from the pests a few months hence. The swatter and the kerosene can are fully as important household implements at this season as the broom and the scrubbing brush.

Dog Mothers Kitchens.

"Mike," a rat terrier owned by William Bailey of Georgetown, was discovered yesterday mothering a pair of kittens he had stolen from the home of a neighbor. "Mike" had gone to the house, picked the kittens up by the neck, and carried them to his own home, where he was discovered playing with them and making them comfortable in every way. When the two kittens were returned to their mother "Mike" was inconsolable, and has since refused to eat.—Georgetown (Del.) Dispatch to the Philadelphia Inquirer.
