

Local and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Brown returned Saturday from a week's visit in Denver and other Colorado points.

Joe Pizer, of Grand Island, arrived in the city Friday for a visit with her cousins, Harry and Joe Pizer of this city.

Col. Wm. Beatty and a number of other democrats were scouting around the city Saturday, presumably to see the town.

Mrs. F. J. Wurtele and daughter are expected home this week from a visit on several weeks in points in Wyoming and Colorado.

Mrs. W. H. LeDioy and family expect to leave tomorrow for Portland, Ore., to spend several weeks on an outing and visiting friends.

The case of the state of Nebraska vs Higgins was up for hearing Friday afternoon in the county court and was continued to July 8th by agreement of parties.

Charles Bogue returned Saturday morning from Omaha where he spent a few days looking after some matters in the interests of the E. of R. T.

Joe Larsen, George C. Yost and Robert Armstrong returned Saturday morning from Omaha where they spent a few days attending the meeting of the safety first committee.

Thomas Marcott, of Brady was in the city Friday afternoon to visit his son Logan Marcott of the county superintendent's office, and to look after some business matters.

Co. Surveyor R. L. Cochran returned Friday evening from Wellfleet where he spent a few days looking after some engineering work for the county.

A number of the young people from this city attended the dance at Maxwell Friday evening. Among them were Clarke LeDioy, Charles Tighe and Dr. C. W. Cronen.

Will Hendy is suffering from a sore nose which he sustained Thursday while cranking a car. The engine "kicked" and the handle of the crank struck him on the bridge of the nose.

A large number of the farmers in the county began last week cutting their rye which is the first grain to be cut. Much of the fall wheat is almost ready to be cut and some of the farmers are beginning on it this week.

Father Stillivan arrived in the city from Elm Creek for a visit with Father McDaid. He and Father McDaid left Sunday evening for Alliance to attend the retreat of the clergy of the Kearney diocese.

For Sale—Blacksmith's forge blower good as new, cheap. J. H. VanCleave.

Word has been received from Miss Grace Burke, who has been quite ill at Eureka Springs, Ark., with typhoid malaria, announcing that she is continuing to improve. Mrs. Burke is with her there and will bring her home as soon as she is able to make the trip.

The board of county commissioners adjourned Friday evening until this morning and Commissioners D. B. White and E. H. Springer returned to their homes Saturday. They spent the week sitting as a board of equalization to adjust tax matters.

The local Socialists will hold a Public Picnic at Dillon's grove on July 4th. Everybody come and bring your dinners and suppers too. There will be a program. Fred J. Warren and others will speak. There will be sports and a stand to serve you. Come and make a day of it.

All parties are hereby notified that lariatting stock in the streets so that they can run across the road is contrary to the city ordinances and that they must discontinue so doing. It is dangerous both for the stock and for the traffic. By order of JOHN FRAZIER, Chief of Police.

The Hershey Giants held a baseball rally at Hershey Friday evening for benefit of their team and a musical program was given at the opera house. This was followed by some clever stunts by the baseball team. A nice sized crowd attended the rally. Among the musical numbers were two selections by a mixed quartette from this city.

John Bratt let the contract last week for his new building that is to be built on Locust between 5th and 6th street, to Contractor C. M. Hogsett. The building is to be a two-story brick structure twenty-two by eighty feet. The ground floor will be used for a storeroom and there will be a basement and office rooms in the second story. The building will be built of building brick and will have a pressed brick front. The work of building will be started as soon as possible.

Bowyer Pleads Guilty

J. F. Bowyer, who was arrested last week at Sidney by Postoffice Inspector Booker on the charge of sending obscene matter through the mails, appeared before United States Commissioner O. E. Elder Friday evening and entered a plea of guilty to the charge. He was bound over to the federal court on bonds of $500, which he did not furnish and he was remanded to the county jail.

Bowyer was arrested at Sidney, and his case was taken before another commissioner, but he was brought here for hearing on account of there not being adequate jail at that place. He asks that he be allowed to plead before another judge in order that he may receive his sentence as soon as possible and he may be taken elsewhere and be allowed to enter his plea. While he pleads guilty to the crime it was evidently done thoughtlessly and his sentence will undoubtedly be light.

Bring Home Game Limit.

O. E. Elder, J. C. Den, Will Otten, Will Hupfer, J. F. Smalried and Ed Rehausen returned Friday evening from Ender's lake where they spent the week on a fishing trip. They brought home the game limit of fifty fish each, all of them bass. They all report a fine catch and state that fishing was good. They left the lake Friday morning with their catch packed in ice and arrived here in the evening. The fish were kept in a live box until time to return home when they were all taken out and dressed and packed on ice. One of the parties stated to a reporter that since the trip he is not able to look a fish in the face.

Among them were Fred Williams, representing the Silver-Burdette company, Frank Purdie, representing the Alwyn & Bacon company and Mr. Bradbury for Ginn & Company.

POSITIVE PROOF

Should Convince the Greatest Skeptic in North Platte

Because it's the evidence of a North Platte citizen.

Testimony easily investigated.

The strongest endorsement of merit

The best proof. Read it:

Mrs. A. G. Westberg, 708 W. Fourth street, North Platte, Neb., says: "I had a dragging pain in my back and trouble with my kidneys. A doctor diagnosed my case as a floating kidney. Many a day I was unable to stand on account of the pain through my kidneys and the kidney secretions were unnatural. An operation was advised, but luckily I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a supply from McDonell & Graves' Drug Store (now Schiller & Co's) and began using them. A few days' use removed the pains and restored my kidneys to their proper working order. I hold, if anything, a higher regard for Doan's Kidney Pills now than when I recommended them some years ago. Another of my family has since been troubled by kidney complaint and has had a world of good from this remedy."

In the District Court of Lincoln County Nebraska.

In the matter of the estate of Esther Harris, deceased.

Order to show cause.

Now on this 15th day of June, 1914, this cause came on for hearing upon the petition under oath of Minta Stewart, administratrix of the estate of said Esther Harris, deceased, praying for license to sell the following described real estate of said Esther Harris, namely, one-half interest in lot six (6), block eighty (80) original town of North Platte, subject to a mortgage of $800.00 in favor of the Mutual Building & Loan Association of North Platte, Nebraska, or a sufficient sum thereof to bring the sum of $1900.00, for the payment of debts allowed against said estate and allowances and costs of administration, for the reason that there is not a sufficient amount of personal property in the possession of said Minta Stewart, administratrix, belonging to said estate to pay said debts, allowance and costs.

It is, therefore, ordered that all persons interested in said estate appear before me at chambers in the city of North Platte in said county on the 29th day of July, 1914, at the hour of 10 o'clock a. m. to show cause, if any there be, why a license should not be granted to Minta Stewart, administratrix, to sell so much of the above described real estate of said decedent as shall be deemed necessary to pay said debts and expenses. It is further ordered that a copy of this order be served upon all persons interested in said estate by causing the same to be published once each week for four successive weeks in the Semi-Weekly Tribune, a newspaper printed and published in said Lincoln county.

H. M. GRIMES, Judge of District Court.

Pete Coyne's Elevation

By SARAH BAXTER

In the development of a country its people are developed also. The leaders in the primitive state often become the leaders in its developed condition. Sometimes they take on a higher refinement; sometimes they don't.

When the first railroad was pushing its way across the great American desert, I, being fond of hunting wild game, went to a small town on that part of the line that was finished and made it my headquarters for hunting buffaloes and other game. I boarded with a Mrs. Copeland. Whether she was a widow, a brevet widow or held no matrimonial commission whatever no one cared, and no one asked. Her regular boarders called her by her first name, Kate. She was one of those women who fit in readily with uncouth surroundings. Her boarders were all men, but every man was respectful to her, in accordance with the manners of the country. They did not hesitate to swear in her presence, and probably if one of them should have had a difficulty with another neither would have hesitated to shoot in her presence, but so far as she was herself concerned she was immune from any diatribe whatsoever.

Mrs. Copeland was but twenty-three years old and tolerably good looking. She showed no preference for any of the men with whom she came in contact and accepted no attentions from any one of them. She treated them all alike, except one, Peter Coyne, whom she seemed disposed to quarrel with. Coyne had been a professional gambler, but had recently turned his attention to a contract he had with the railroad for taking dirt from where it was not needed and putting it where rails were to be laid. He appeared to be the most forceful of Kate's boarders, and I wondered why she singled him out for ill usage. Her treatment seemed to trouble him, and every time she scolded him he would hang his head and take what she said to him like a guilty schoolboy.

I noticed that Kate's reprimands to Coyne were never occasioned by any ill treatment of her. Sometimes they arose from differences of opinion, sometimes because he was unmindful of the feelings of others, and once I heard her abusing him because he had shown a tendency to backslide into his former profession of gambling. Just before I left I witnessed a makeup after one of the dressings Kate gave Coyne, and it was very amusing. The big man had got a pock somewhere and offered it to her as a peace offering. He went up to her with it as shyly as if he expected her to open on him with a six shooter.

Soon after this little episode I finished my hunting operations and returned to the east. The railroad and other transcontinental lines were finished, and the western part of North America began a development that has worked wonders. New farming territory was opened, towns and villages sprang up with modern conveniences, and the people, throwing off their uncouth manners with their rough dress, were transformed into ladies and gentlemen. Some twelve years after my hunting trip to the west I had occasion to visit Washington. Congress was in session, and the social season was at its height. At a reception of the president, which I attended, I was moving about among the throng when I met a man and a woman handsomely dressed, both of whose faces seemed familiar to me. The lady showed signs of recognizing me, but passed on with only the sign. Later a man, evidently a westerner, approached me and said:

"Beg your pardon, sir. There is a lady in another room who desires to speak with you."

I followed him, and he led me to the woman I had met shortly before.

"Mrs. Senator Coyne," said my conductor, and since he did not know my name he left us.

I stood looking at the lady wondering, while she sat looking at me with an amused expression on her face. Then suddenly through the silk and lace gown she wore I recognized the woman I had boarded with years before. I grasped her hand.

"You would hardly recognize in me," she said, "the woman you boarded with when on your hunting trip, would you? And you wouldn't have expected that I would marry Pete Coyne. Fact is, I saw there was the making of a fine man in Pete, and when you were with me I was trying to get him up on to a higher plane. He made money by contracting, and after awhile I married him. Then when the territory became a state he was sent to congress. That led to his being made one of the state's senators, and here we are right in it for all we're worth."

"And I assure you," I replied, "one would not suspect but that you were born here."

Something About Government Ownership

No. 9

Contrary to the American custom of 24-hour telephone service, practically every government-owned European telephone exchange, except in the very large cities, is closed all night.

American telephone and telegraph rates, in terms of the actual buying power of money, are much lower than those of any government-owned system in Europe.

Wages paid American telephone employees are the highest in the world.

Europe has four times the population of America, but less than one-third the number of telephones.

Every European telephone expert who has visited America has conceded that the telephone service here is the "model of the world."

Bell Telephone Service Has Set the Standard for the Rest of the World.
