Giant Put Up Good Scrap

The North Platte Independents defeated the Hershey Giants Wednesday by the score of 6 to 5 in the fastest and most exciting game of the season. The game started out in good style and up until the first half of the seventh inning it was very close and was real baseball. North Platte scored one in the third and one in the sixth and it looked as though the game was to be a shut out for the Hershey boys. In the seventh inning the balloon went up when Becker hit a single to left. The next man up whiffed and the next one flied out and then there were three hits in succession, which coupled with two wild throws gave the visitors four scores.

In the last half of the inning the visitors experienced the same aerial flight and the locals came over for the same amount, leaving the score 6 to 4. The game then settled down again to a real game and there were no more scores made until the ninth when the visitors pushed one over and got a man on third. However, there were two out and the next man fouled out to Bullard, leaving the score 6 to 5.

This was the first game the Hershey Giants have lost and it sure enough raised the opinion of the local men for their baseball ability. All the men hit strong and they do some good fielding. There were only two errors in the game and they were both by the visitors.

North Platte secured 10 hits off McClure. McClure hit two men and struck out nine and Bechan walked two men and struck out ten. The locals made one double play, fly to Halligan to Elncker, and Duncan got one two base hit. The hardest were McClure and Pass, Bechan and McConnell; umpires Keefe and Mahaffey.

Railroad Army Reduced

The Wall Street Journal has taken a poll of the railroads in the United States and finds that thirty-four roads had a total of 1,023,336 employes on May 1st, 1914, as compared with 1,142,893 on May 1st, 1913, a decrease of 119,557 during the twelve months. This reflects the condition of business in the United States, for railroads are the first to feel a depression in trade as well as the first to respond to increasing business.

The Union Pacific is boasting of the fact that it is the only one of the large railroad systems of the United States fully protected with block signals. City Council in Regular Session

The city council met Tuesday evening in regular session for the purpose of allowing bills and transacting other routine business. An ordinance extending sewer district "K" up 3rd and 4th streets was introduced and read and put on its final passage. A committee from the residents of 9th street appeared before the council and asked permission to put their curbing on the old survey instead of changing it and the matter was referred to the street committee. Also the residents of 7th and 8th streets appeared with a complaint that the sewers were backing up water in their cellars, owing to the Union Pacific overflow, and a committee was appointed from the council to confer with engineers of the Union Pacific and find out what can be done.

After this the reports of the city clerk and the city treasurer were read and approved and the bills allowed after which the body adjourned.

H. G. Knowles, pastor of the Christian church, gave an address Tuesday evening at the meeting of the local suffrage society. A nice crowd attended the meeting, which was held in the high school auditorium, and a musical prelude was given. He advanced arguments both for and against the suffrage to women and showed that the arguments against it were rather weak and that they were more than over-balanced by those in favor of it.
