JUDGE GRIMES GRANTS INJUNCTION AGAINST HAHLER

Order Restrains Mr. Hahler from Interfering with Track Laying on the Ground Claimed by U. P.

Some time ago Julius Hahler brought an action in the district court wherein he sought to restrain the Union Pacific from laying a track on ground in the east end of the city to which he claims title and which the Union Pacific claims is part of its right-of-way. The track proposed to be laid extends from the signal main-tainer's office east of the brick dwelling owned by Mr. Hahler southwest across front street to the proposed location of the new building of the North Platte Electric Co., the track to be used for the purpose of unloading coal for the electric company's use. The Union Pacific company appeared as defendant in the argument of the case before Judge Grimes Saturday and asked for an injunction restraining Mr. Hahler from interfering with the laying of the track, claiming that the land to be occupied by the track belongs to the company. After hearing the arguments by the attorneys for Mr. Hahler and for the company, the judge granted the injunction as prayed.

W. V. Hoagland, who represented Mr. Hahler, went to Lincoln Sunday night and yesterday appeared in the supreme court and asked for a temporary order restraining Judge Grimes from granting the injunction. At this writing it has not been learned what action the supreme court has taken, but if the restraining order is denied, the case will be prosecuted in a different manner.

If the company is given the right to build this track, it probably establishes the right of the company to build the full length of Front street. It already has several hundred yards of track on the west end of Front street, which it succeeded in securing by laying the ties and rails between the hours of twelve o'clock midnight and seven o'clock in the morning.

We take pleasure in announcing the advance fall showing of Wooltex Coats, Suits and Skirts.

The first collection of the handsome new garments for fall, 1914, has arrived.

It is a small, but very choice and attractive assemblage of Wooltex garments, such as will be wanted immediately by women who enjoy being first to wear the new fashions.

Styles as expressed in Wooltex apparel are authoritative. The garments are designed and tailored with exceptional artistic skill, bringing out the completest beauty of the season's styles in the most charming and original fabrics.

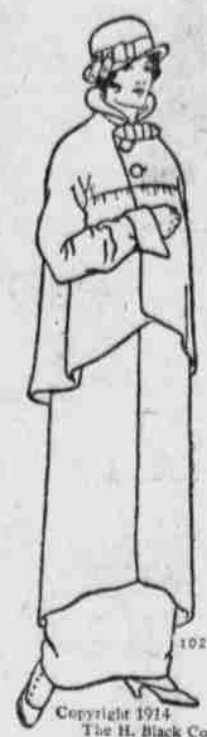

This season there are many features about Wooltex and the new fashions that will be gratifying to women of refinement and good taste.

The approved lines are more graceful and the new skirts provide more walking room than women have had during the past few seasons.

The straight line effect is a dominating feature, but it is made very graceful and charming by the influence of the ripples which are produced in coats, suits and skirts.

There are too many splendid features to tell about here. We invite you to come and view the exhibition and see in the garments themselves, what new beauties the fall fashions have presented.

UNION PICNIC PROVES A BIG SUCCESS

ELEVEN HUNDRED PEOPLE EN-TERTAINED SATURDAY AT RAILROAD MEN'S PICNIC.

Big Dinner Served, Many Contests Held, and Crowds of Young and Old Enjoy Dancing.

In point of attendance and general jollification, the second annual union picnic of the members of the B. of L. E. B. of L. F. and E. O. R. C. and B. of R. T.—the four railroad orders—and their families, held at the Dillon grove Saturday, surpassed anything of its nature ever held in North Platte. During the day and evening eleven hundred men, women and children were present, and during the afternoon and evening there was not a moment when there was not something in progress that proved entertaining. Each lady attending provided sufficient lunch for her family and one or two others, and the committee provided ice cream, lemonade and coffee. The result was that each present had an exceptionally fine dinner.

Following dinner the contests were held, thirteen events being scheduled. The leading contests were the tug of war between ten Second district and ten Third district men, in which the Second district won; a ball game between teams of the two districts, which was also won by the Third district; a tug of war between teams of twelve women, representing the two districts, in which the Third district won; and a game of ball by women in which those of the Second district won. In addition to these there were races for fat men, for women, for boys and for girls.

During the afternoon Senator Hoagland gave an interesting address. A big platform for dancing had been erected, and to music furnished by a seven-piece orchestra the whirl of the waltz was participated in by many. It was 10:30 when "Home, Sweet Home," was rendered, and the attendants departed after a day and evening full of enjoyment.
