EVENTS IN SOCIETY

Mrs. H. C. Brock has issued invitations for a card party next Wednesday afternoon.

Ruth and Ruby Moody, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Moody, were given a surprise party by their young friends Monday evening on the occasion of their birth anniversary. The evening was pleasantly spent with games supplemented by refreshments.

Twenty-five members of the Entrenous club and several invited guests enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Asa Snyder Wednesday afternoon. In the high five games Mrs. Lawhead won first prize and Mrs. Bonner the emblem of consolation. Enjoyable refreshments were served.

The home of Mrs. Frank H. Barber, on west Fourth street was enlivened Tuesday afternoon by thirty-five ladies who were her guests at a kensington. The afternoon proved a most enjoyable one to the ladies, who spent their time in social conversation. A two course luncheon was served at small decorated tables.

Mrs. J. B. Hayes, assisted by Mesdames Seeburger and Hoagland and Miss Keliher, entertained the Indian card club yesterday afternoon. A large representation of the membership, in addition to several out-of-town guests, were present. The first prize was won by Mrs. Munger and the second prize by Mrs. Quigley. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. J. B. Redfield, Mrs. Perry Carson and Mrs. Guy Swope were hostesses at three functions this week, a luncheon Tuesday and Wednesday and a kensington yesterday afternoon. At each of the luncheons covers were laid for twenty-eight and three courses were served at small tables. As the ladies were received they were given place cards, and following the luncheon table seats were retained and 500 played. The kensington proved as enjoyable as did the luncheons. The Redfield home at which the functions were held, was profusely decorated with garden flowers.

WORK ON PLANT PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

CONCRETE FOUNDATIONS NOW ALL LAID AND MACHINERY SOON TO BE INSTALLED

Contract for Erecting the Big Stack One Hundred and Fifty Feet High Let to Chicago Construction Co.

Work on the building of the concrete foundations for the new electric power plant and the gas plant has progressed to the extent that they are beginning to take on the aspect of a building. The concrete foundations for the power plant has all been poured and those for the engines, generators and other machinery are nearly completed. On the gas plant about one-half of the foundations have been poured and those for the gas holder are set and hardening.

The main building which will contain the power plant is being built on the northwest corner of the block facing Front street, recently purchased by the company. This building is eighty-five feet wide and one hundred and seventy feet high, standing north and south. It is built in fourteen and a half feet from the property line in order that there will be sufficient room for the laying of a side track on the north side of the company's grounds. The foundations for the generators and boilers are in the northwest corner of the building, and in the south end are located the foundations for the monstrous engines. The gas generating plant is in the northeast corner of the block and the gas holders will be located in the south east corner. The power plant and the gas plant are built in such a manner that at any time the demand requires they can be enlarged toward the middle of the north half of the block.

The foundations are built entirely of concrete and are two feet in width and are set seven feet in the ground. This takes them two feet into the gravel which will insure them against cracking from the settling of the ground. All the available teamsters in the city are being employed in hauling in sand and gravel from the river bottom and a large amount is being hauled in daily. They, however, are somewhat handicapped on account of the rise of water in the river, and because of the fact that they are compelled to pull up the river bed on account of the indisposition of one man to let them drive across his place. The company is also somewhat handicapped in their building operations on account of the litigation over the putting in of a side track to let them get their material shipped in on the grounds.

The contract for the construction of the mammoth concrete chimney, which will be located at the northeast corner of the power house, has recently been let to the General Concrete Construction Company of Chicago and building operations on it will begin soon. This chimney will be one hundred and fifty feet above the ground and set eight feet down on the gravel. It will measure seven feet inside diameter at the top and the foundation at the bottom will be twenty-one feet square, and will be built entirely of concrete.

The laying of gas mains began Tuesday in the west end of the city in the alley between Front and Sixth streets. One block of pipe was laid Tuesday and after they get well started they will lay from one thousand to fifteen hundred feet daily. The plans for the laying of the mains have been changed quite materially and as far as is possible they will run through the alleys. This is done to avoid tearing up the streets and also for the purpose of letting the service pipes come in from the alley and thus dispense with cutting up the front lawns of the users of gas.

The engines and generators are now here and are being unloaded in readiness for installing as soon as the building is far enough advanced. There are four carloads of this machinery and it is of the best and represents the largest item of expense of the entire plant. There will be two five hundred horse power engines and one engine carrying one hundred and seventy-five horse power to carry the load after midnight. The plant here when completed will be one of the best in the state and will have an capacity to more than supply this city, even though it increases to twice its present size. It is larger than the plant which this company recently built in Aberdeen, S. D., a town of about 12,000 inhabitants, and will be equipped with the most modern and efficient machinery.
