The week following Roosevelt's visit to Lincoln does not develop any hole in the Nebraska political sea.

Editor Eames, of the Maxwell Telegraph, in the last issue of his paper, denies the persistent rumors that he has withdrawn as an applicant for the registration of the North Platte land office.

Even if success of woman's suffrage in Nebraska does result in denying to us the privilege of buying a glass of beer when we are thirsty, we feel constrained to cast a vote favorable to giving the girls a right to vote.

At the battle of Gettysburg during the civil war the death rate was $5.5 per 1,000 men engaged. In the present engagement between the Germans and the allies the number of men is placed at 3,000,000.

Candidates say it is almost impossible to get the voters interested in politics; in fact if the subject is not broached by the candidate, the average voter remains dumb.

Our young friend Brownfield can hardly afford to waste much time on a wild goose chase for the office of sheriff. With a less formidable opponent than Art Salisbury Mr. Brownfield might have a fighting chance, but with Salisbury in the best of trim, the outcome of the race has already been marked up.

While at Brady last week a democrat of that village whispered in our ear that Colonel Beatty is no longer the democratic controller in the east part of the county.

The filibustering tactics of the republicans in the United States senate resulted in decreasing the river and harbor appropriation bill in the sum of thirty-three million dollars.

If there is any decided opposition to the re-election of Commissioner Springer it is slow in developing. As a matter of fact the people of Lincoln county regard Mr. Springer as a mighty good commissioner; a careful, conscientious member of the board.

When the city council decreed that water consumers be placed on the meter system and pay for the water they used, about half of the property owners sent up a most pitiful wail and predicted all kinds of dire results.

More importance attaches to the county judgeship than the average person considers; in fact the probate business of the county court is vastly important as it relates to the settlement and division of estates.

J. C. Den's Beer Vault

Badly Damaged by Fire. J. C. Den's beer vault located in the east yards was badly damaged Friday afternoon by a fire supposedly starting from sparks of a passing engine.

The fire started shortly after one o'clock but was not noticed until it had gained quite a little headway. Two alarms were turned in, but the firemen worked under great difficulties on account of an unusually low pressure of water.

The Leader To Be Closed Tomorrow. The Leader Department Store will be closed Wednesday of this week on account of that date being the Jewish Atonement Day.

Alumni Defeat High School.

The alumni foot ball team defeated the high school eleven Friday evening at the city park by a score of 12 to 0. The game was held down to nothing for the first three quarters and until the last three minutes of the last quarter there was no scoring.

The ball was in play in the center of the field for the greater part of the game, although twice the high school men came perilously near the alumni goal line, but both times they lost the ball on a fumble.

The alumni then kicked off to the high school and Baskins ran down and fell on the ball behind the goal line, making another touch down. They again failed to kick goal and the game ended with the 12 to 0 score.

The high school boys played a nifty game and went into the field to win. They are a little weak on team work and also get somewhat excited when hard tackled.

Something About Rates

As a public service corporation we are servants of the public and as such should discharge our duties efficiently.

To give the most efficient service, the construction, equipment and operation of this Company must conform to the best known practices.

To meet these requirements, the Company must charge such rates as will meet necessary operating expenses, provide adequate reserves for replacing worn-out or obsolete plant, and give a return on the money actually invested in the business that shall be reasonable and sufficient to invite new capital as required for expansion.

Should any earnings be made over and above those necessary to meet these requirements, we feel the amount should be used for the benefit of the public to further increase the efficiency and reliability of the service.
