

Early Morning Wedding at St. Patrick's Church.

A quiet and pretty wedding was solemnized Tuesday morning at 5:30 at St. Patrick's church when Miss Pearl M. Howland was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to William F. Stack, Jr. The wedding ceremony was witnessed by only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties and was followed by a nice three-course breakfast given by Mrs. Albert A. Schatz, aunt to the bride.

The couple was attended by Miss Edith Howland, sister to the bride and John Stack, brother to the groom. They were married at the altar with the ring ceremony and nuptial mass was said by Rev. Father McDaid.

The bride was dressed in a traveling suit of dark green broadcloth and wore a picture hat to match. The bridesmaid wore a black and white checked tailored suit.

The guests were served with a lovely three-course wedding breakfast at the home of Mrs. A. A. Schatz which was served by Misses Irene Hubard, Marie Schatz and Nellie Cahill.

The couple were escorted to the train by the young people who gave them a good shower of rice and bade them a hearty good bye and bon voyage. They left on No. 16 for Omaha, Kansas City and Topeka where they will spend about two weeks visiting relatives and friends. Upon their return they will make their home in this city.

Miss Howland has made her home for the past seven years here and up until recently taught school. She is an orphaned girl and has made her home with relatives here. She is an estimable young lady and has a host of friends here. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Stack and has lived here all his life. He is now employed in the Lierk-Sandall grocery store.

Hansen Thought to Have Left Buried Treasures.

Information has been received here to the effect that Neils Hansen, who was found dead on his homestead on Jack Morrow Flats, left considerable money hidden on his place. The information was to the effect that the man had owned considerable property and that it was sold several years ago. Also that he had been left a legacy from his father in Denmark.

A search of the man's house disclosed nothing in the house save a few beets and some old potatoes.

Let Contract for Basement.

At the meeting of the vestry of the Episcopal church Wednesday evening the contract for the building of the basement was let to Contractor Winslow who submitted the lowest of the five bids. The work will start at once. The contractor asked for ninety days in which to complete the work, but stated that with good weather he would finish it in less time than that.

A basement will be built under the entire building and the building will be raised up about three feet. It will be equipped with a steam heating plant and will make a big improvement.

All Big Leaguers Visit Here.

All the big league baseball players in their most showy poses can be seen daily at the Star Clothing house in their north show window. The collection of photographic reproductions shows the stars for several years back and contains many of the "has-beens". They include all the players that made exceptional meteoric showings in the world's series for the past four years as well as those who will compete for honors this year.

Henry Ridinger, residing north of this city was brought to the North Platte general hospital Tuesday evening where he was operated upon for appendicitis by Dr. Dent. He had been suffering for some time and was confined to the hospital for several days during the haying season. At that time he recovered sufficiently to return to work. Tuesday evening the doctor was called out at about eleven o'clock. When he arrived he found the man in a serious condition and immediately brought him to town and operated upon him. His appendix was in a serious condition and the operation was very timely.

Schuster Closes Engagement.

Milton Schuster and his troupe of comic opera stars finished their engagement here Wednesday evening by presenting "The Girl from Brighton", which proved on a par with the other two which were presented. Their engagement here was characterized by big houses at all three shows and they made big hits each night. The costumes of the company were especially good and several of the cast showed exceptional talent. From here they went to Kearney.

The troupe while here left a good bit of money in this city. All of the men of the company bought outfits at the Scoonover Clothing store and they also laid in a supply of silk hose for the chorus girls. The men bought overcoats and hats.

Residents of this city who went to Omaha to witness the electrical parade Wednesday evening were disappointed to some extent as a severe storm came up soon after the parade started.

Toned up Whole System.
"Chamberlain's Tablets have done more for me than I ever dared hope for," writes Mrs. Esther May Baker, Spencerport, N. Y. "I used several bottles of these tablets a few months ago. They not only cured me of bilious attacks, sick headaches and that tired feeling, but toned up my entire system." For sale by all dealers.

The Potato Habit.

Potato eating has become a habit not because potatoes contain enough nourishment to carry on life, but because they are cheap, easy to prepare and bulky enough to fill up the stomach. The potato consists almost entirely of starch, and though this has a place in the diet it is not capable of building up strength and muscle. Constant reference is made to the hardness of colonists and early settlers. They were not raised on a potato diet, for the potato was a luxury as late as 1800, to be served with sugar, nutmeg and mace. It is a product of more recent years, part and parcel of the struggle to keep down the living expense at the cost of the body.

This does not mean that potatoes should be eliminated from the dietary, for like every other food they have a definite mission to fulfill, but they must be used with discretion and in proper combination. Excessive use brings an inevitable trail of anemia, obesity and autointoxication.—Country Gentleman.

Poisoners of Rome.

Tofana, the Italian woman poisoner of the seventeenth century, was carrying on a tradition of ancient Rome. In 331 B. C. a supposed pestilence swept the city, and many leading men were carried off. Then a slave girl gave information, and the authorities surprised twenty Roman matrons preparing drugs over a fire. Since they insisted that the drugs were not poisonous they were compelled to drink them in the Forum, and all perished. Further information having been laid, 170 matrons were condemned. In 184 B. C. a four months' inquiry by the praetor resulted in the condemnation of 2,000 persons for poisoning. There were many similar scandals, but it will always remain doubtful whether in any particular one of these ancient cases the epidemic was not really natural.—London Spectator.

Gladstone's Quick Temper.

A story is told of an encounter between Queen Victoria and Mr. Gladstone.

Mr. Gladstone in an audience with the queen one day produced a list of people whom he wished to be made peers. The queen demurred and said, "I cannot create as many as this, Mr. Gladstone."

Whereupon Mr. Gladstone, who sometimes got into a temper, tore the list up. The queen flushed slightly, but said nothing to Mr. Gladstone, who shortly afterward quitted the royal presence.

Some short time later Mr. Gladstone presented a new list, much shorter than on the previous occasion. The queen, without looking at it, tore it up. It was then Mr. Gladstone's turn to flush.—New York Sun.

Wonders of the Soil.

Professor W. B. Bottomley, in a lecture recently delivered at the royal botanic gardens, said that a clod of earth might seem to have no romance in it, but it was one of the most wonderful things imaginable. The soil was alive, it was a living machine, where microbes so small that 10,000,000 to 100,000,000 were contained in enough earth to cover a halfpenny were working together in a systematic way. They could not be seen and were only known by their work, and the greatest benefactors to the human race were those who promoted their activities. The wise gardener looked after their well being, for without them there would be no plant life and no human life, since all nutriment was drawn from the soil.—London Globe.

Modesty.

Dribbler—In my opinion a man who writes an illegible hand does it because he thinks people are willing to puzzle over it. In other words, he is a chunk of conceit.
Scribbler—Not always. Sometimes a man writes illegibly not because he is conceited but because he is modest.
"Modest! What about?"
"About his spelling!"—London Mail.

A Step Higher.

The Delegate—I tell you, sir, that the root of trouble of the educational system of this nation is the teacher. The Listener—But, say, ain't you a teacher yourself? The Delegate (indignantly)—A teacher, sir! Certainly not. I am an educator!—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
