TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB GIVES CHARITY LUNCHEON

The general meeting of the Twentieth Century club will be held this evening at the library building and all the ladies of the city are invited to attend. Following the program which will be given by the domestic science department a lunch will be served to the public, the proceeds of which are to be turned over to the Associated Charities.

A good program has been prepared by the domestic science department and it is hoped that many of the ladies of the city will attend. Following the program the men are invited to be present for the luncheon.

About two hundred lunches will be put up in boxes and it is hoped that they can all be sold. All are urged to come out and help in this worthy cause as it is one that is much in need at the present season and one that everyone can afford to help by contributing their mite.

The work of the Associated Charities is being felt by many in the city and has already, even in its experimental stage proved that it will do the work much more thoroughly and efficiently than the old system. The funds are coming in fast for the aid of the poor but much more will be needed before the winter is over. Each person by contributing a small amount they will hardly miss will help the cause to a great extent. If all the smokers would give the price of their cigars for one day the treasury of the association would be more than full. Come out and help by patronizing this lunch given by the Twentieth Century Club.

Memorial Services are Well Attended.

About a hundred and fifty people were present Sunday afternoon at the memorial services which were held by the B. P. O. Elks at their home. A number of visitors were present and enjoyed the impressive services.

The services were opened by Exalted Ruler, C. P. Clinton and then followed the program. The music by the orchestra and quartette was very good and was much enjoyed. The opening number by the orchestra and "The Vacant Chair" and "Crossing the Bar" by the Elks quartette were especially worthy of mention.

The address was given by W. V. Hoagland who spoke largely upon the propriety of the occasion, bringing out the fact that while we here hold service in memory of our dead perhaps once each year every day should be a memorial day to the good deeds done by those who have passed beyond never again to answer to roll call. He also mentioned that at the present time every day was a memorial day in war-stricken Europe and that it was altogether fitting and proper that the memory of our friends should be forcibly brought before us, dead who answered no more to the mystic roll call.

He mentioned that the B. P. O. Elks stood for the greatest and best things of this life and that in their striving for the upbuilding of mankind they gathered together once a year to pay tribute to their honored

First Watch Award.

One of the contestants in the pony contest will be given a nice watch this week. The one receiving the most votes up to midnight Thursday will be the lucky one. This should be an incentive for each contestant to do some extra hustling, as the watch is well worth the work. This is the first of six watches that will be given during the pony contest.

Interest in the pony contest has spread all over the town, and each day some new contestant enrolls. Many thousands of votes were cast Saturday, several contestants who live in the country securing big bunches of votes.

Dresses! Dresses!

For street party or evening wear, all colors, all styles, all sizes, no two alike, now selling at reduced prices at BLOCK'S.

This section was visited Saturday and Sunday nights with light falls of snow, much of which melted as it fell. Yesterday morning the ground was covered with a half inch, which reminded us that winter is near. The moisture though not heavy, is gladly received, for it has been unusually dry this fall.

Mothers' Favorite.

"I give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to my children when they have colds or coughs," writes Mrs. Verne Shaffer, Vandergriff, Pa. "It always helps them and is far superior to any other cough medicine I have used. I advise anyone in need of such a medicine to give it a trial." For sale by all dealers.

The Moral Value of Music in Your Home

The possession of a piano and the ability to play is about the most cherished desire of every child. You—fathers and mothers—do you ever stop to think what music means to your children?

When you mention getting them a piano, do you notice the light that comes into their eyes? Their little hearts crave music—a natural, wholesome, God-given craving; as necessary to them as sunshine and play.

You are sending them to school to learn reading, writing and arithmetic—but are you giving them the advantages of a musical education? Are you neglecting that which, next to their spiritual welfare, is most morally essential to their young lives?

It's a fact, and the foremost educators agree that music in the home is an essential part of a child's morals. That the child who sings or plays the piano is naturally cleaner morally than the child whose mind knows no music.

Music in the home is an essential part of a child's play by bringing them up without a knowledge of music; their young associates play—their way is easier socially. The ability to produce music secures for your child an open door to most every home.

You want your children to have a knowledge of music; it isn't lack of desire perhaps, but the usual high price of a good piano has caused you to put it off. You have hesitated paying the prices generally asked for the make you want.
