POULTRY AND PET STOCK SHOW EXCEEDS EXPECTATIONS

The poultry and pet stock show which is being held by the Lincoln County Poultry and Pet Stock association opened yesterday with entries of over eight hundred chickens besides the many exhibits of other fowl and pet stock. There is also a fine display of eggs.

This show is much more of a success than was anticipated and the promoters were agreeably surprised. Over two thousand people visited the show yesterday and all were more than pleased with the exhibits. It continues over tomorrow which will undoubtedly be the biggest day of all.

There are on display at the show every kind of tame fowl in this part of the state besides the pet stock. They include chickens, canaries, pheasants, pigeons, guinea fow, geese, dogs, guinea pigs and gold fish. The exhibit is one that speaks well for Lincoln county and the native birds show up well with those shipped from outside. A number of exhibitors from over the state have made entries.

The scoring of the birds started yesterday and will continue over today. The judge will probably finish up this afternoon. C. W. Breahn of Harvard is the judge and he is a man of considerable experience and is a competent judge.

The premiums given are such that attract many and while there is but one cash prize which was donated by a citizen of Lincoln county, the premiums are of intrinsic value as well as a testimony of the quality of the specimens exhibited. With the numerous entries made it will mean something for a person to carry off any premiums.

The admission to the show room is free and all are invited to attend. The show is being held in the room formerly occupied by the MacKay dry goods store and it is in a location where everyone coming to the city can attend. Standing room was at a premium all day yesterday but there will be room for all if they wait a short time.

Fired Out of Town

Quite drastic measures were taken yesterday with the number of men who were arrested for drunkenness and for fighting. They were given their choice of leaving town with no delay or of laying out heavy fines in the county jail. They chose the former and are being hustled out as fast as possible. Eighteen men were arrested in one day and the county jail was crowded to capacity.

These men are the riff-raff of the worst class and if they were left in this city long the citizens would suffer from it. They were all shut off at the saloons but nevertheless they made themselves obnoxious. Some undesirable occurrences have transpired within the past few days on account of these men being in the city and the sooner they are out the better for North Platte.

New Electric Sign Installed.

A new electric sign is being put up on the electric light and power plant which will be visible from all over the city. The sign extends across the north end of the building and across the west side. Workmen are busy this week installing and wiring it.

Dr. H. C. Brock, dentist, First National Bank Building, 101st

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Steele returned yesterday to their home in this city after a visit of two weeks through the east. They visited relatives at Cleveland, Ohio, and other eastern points.

Break Into Tramp's Store

Robbers some time in the night last night broke into the dry goods department of the Tramp & Son store, gaining entrance through the front door by breaking out the plate glass. A hasty inventory this morning failed to show anything of great value missing and very little of the stock was disturbed.

When Mr. Tramp arrived on the scene this morning he found that the glass had apparently been kicked out of the front door on the dry goods side. Investigation revealed that entrance had been made as there were heel tracks on both the outside and he inside where some one had stepped on pieces of glass.

As soon as the breaking was discovered the officers were notified and Chief of Police Frazier is now working on the case. The damage from breaking the glass amounts to about twenty-five dollars aside from what may be found missing. Some of the stock was disturbed but they have not yet been able to definitely find anything missing. The building belongs to John Bratt.

Dies From Operation

As the result of an operation performed yesterday morning Mrs. J. H. Davis, of Stapleton died in this city about eleven o'clock last night. The body will be shipped to Stapleton today where burial will be made. Her husband was here with her and will return with the body today.

Mrs. Davis was brought to this city in a very critical condition a few days ago and her physician advised that the only chance for recovery was an operation and that she had very little chance with an operation. She came out of the operation nicely but the shock caused her death last night.

State Representative Scott Reynolds returned last evening from Lincoln where he spent a few days during the opening of the legislature.

RAILROAD NOTES

H. V. Hilliker, special inspector of equipment for the Union Pacific, spent yesterday in town transacting business and visiting friends.

A. Bunting, machinist's helper at the round house, was off a few days this week with injuries received from getting a flash of electricity from the electric welding machine.

J. E. Dixon, a boilermaker, was slightly hurt this week when a piece of steel flew into his eye. He will be laid up for several days with the injury, which is very painful.

A few slight injuries were reported this week at the ice houses. Those who are on the injured list are as follows: Ansel Dazles, Charles Tillinghast, William Jameson, Joe Baker and Albert Kolmer.

J. P. McGovern, of Denver, former express agent in this city, arrived in town yesterday for a visit with his son Frank and with friends. "Mac" was a very popular North Platter and he always receives a hearty welcome when he comes here to visit.

At the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania road to be held March 9th, the stockholders will be asked to authorize an increase of one hundred million dollars in the indebtedness of the road. The money will be used for buying equipment and refunding bonds.

The Nebraska Railway Commission in its annual report just issued has this to say of the "full train crew" law: The railway commission calls attention to the weakness of the full train crew law enacted two years ago and says if there is any merit in the law as proposed before the last legislature, it should be amended. The act in question appeared before the legislature in the form of H. R. 57. It purports to provide that a light engine running from one division point to another, outside yards limit, must be manned by a crew comprising an engineer, fireman and conductor.

Only one complaint has been filed with the state railway commission under this law. The attorney general when asked for an interpretation held that the law does not apply to light engines run between stations in general, but only between two division points.

Misses Dog, Hits Window
William Furgeson was fined five dollars and costs yesterday before Justice L. Walker for shooting firearms within the city limits. Furgeson came into the city Wednesday evening and as he passed the home of Frank Distel at 120 south Dewey street a dog ran out. He picked up a rifle which he claimed to have been carrying for rabbits and fired at the dog. He missed the dog and the bullet glanced off and went through a window into the house. Luckily no one was in the room or serious injury might have resulted.

Furgeson has been employed for some time on the Lewis dairy farm south of the city. He was on his way to town to spend the evening when the accident occurred. He was much frightened when he found how nearly he had come to doing serious damage. The people in the house heard the bullet crash through the window and went into the room where it had entered and found that it had gone into the wall on the other side.

Commercial dinner will be served at the Christian church Monday, January 11th, from 11:30 to 1:30. Everyone is urged to come. Price thirty cents. The following menu will be served: Chicken and dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, cabbage salad, browned parsnips, grape jam, apple pie and coffee.

Hugh, the little son of Mrs. M. V. Mitchell, is able to go to school again after having been laid up for a few days with a broken arm.
