B. of L. E. Installation.

A large number of the members of the B. of L. E. and the ladies' auxiliary of that order were present Wednesday evening at the public installation of officers which was held by Division 88 at the Masonic hall. All report an enjoyable evening.

The ladies' auxiliary served the refreshments to the party and this was followed by the installation. After this George W. Vroman, C. F. Tracy and J. C. Strahorn were presented with badges by the order. They have been members of the B. of L. E. for over forty years. The presentation speech was made by W. J. Stuart.

Following this dancing was indulged in by some and many of the older members were able to show the younger ones the new dances. Those who were indisposed to dance sat around the smoking room making over past runs.

The following officers were installed: M. Hayes, chief engineer; G. O. Troxler, first engineer; L. J. Dean, second engineer; S. Schwaiger, third engineer; W. M. Welsh, guard; W. M. Whitlock, chaplain; W. R. Richards, delegate to the convention and chairman of the local committee.

Mrs. N. McCabe has been spending this week with friends in Omaha having left for that city Monday.

Heroic Mustache.

Probably no dog has ever rendered such signal military service or been so honorably recognized as the celebrated poodle Mustache, who shared the victorious fortunes of the French army through most of the wars of the consulate and of the French empire. He won special honors at Marengo and was decorated on the battlefield of Austerlitz by Marshal Lannes as a reward for having rescued his regimental standard from an Austrian soldier when in the act of snatching it from the grasp of the standard bearer as he fell mortally wounded. The plucky poodle drove off the assailant, and then, seizing the tattered colors in his teeth, dragged them triumphantly till he reached his own company.

A Lucky Illness.

It was owing to an illness that Sir Laurence Alma-Tadama became a painter. He was educated with the intention of making him a lawyer, but sickness cut his studies short. When confined to his bed he relieved the tedium by making little sketches. These showed so much ability that when he was well again he readily obtained his mother's permission to devote himself to painting.

His Desire.

"Where did you work last and how long?" demanded the colonel. "Lad you quit of your own accord or were you discharged, and?"

"Loogy yuh, boss!" sourly returned Brother Bogus. "I isn't puhposin' marriage to yo'; I's axin' for a job"—Puck.
