Judge French is writing a decision to the nineteen objections filed against the allowance of claims against the estate of W. D. Lyle. The greater part of the objections relate to court costs in proving the identity of the Scotland heirs.

Last week at the Apple Car. The committee handling tickets for the Fire Department ball on April 5th made a partial canvass of the business section Friday and disposed of 230 tickets. The committee is still at work and hopes to swell the number to near the 500 mark.

Capt. Hardy and George Carter, two of the well known trap shooters of the west, and Miles Marcott formerly of this city but now ranching in Garden county, were visitors in town Sunday. A trap shoot had been scheduled for afternoon at the gun club grounds, but the weather proved too chilly.

A farmer living twelve miles south of town tells us that he has petroleum delivered at his door at six and three-quarter cents per gallon in barrel quantities. The oil wagons from town make trips that far out in the hills. It looks to us as though that is getting coal oil pretty cheap, and it looks as though the Standard oil company is not as greedy as pictured.

T. J. O'Brien, the boniface of the Henshaw Hotel in Omaha, visited friends in town Sunday. He was enroute home from his ranch north of Paxton, where he is wintering a big bunch of cattle. He ran out of hay on the ranch and was forced to buy several hundred tons, part of which he was compelled to haul twenty miles.

Miss Mary Bakahr and Miss Francis Wyman, the instructors for the woman's short course in household economics, arrived yesterday morning from the east. The short course opened this morning at nine o'clock in the basement of the Baptist church with a large attendance of ladies. The course will continue today, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday with sessions during the forenoon and afternoon of each day, with practically a different program at each session.

Fred J. Diener, the real estate agent with offices in the McDonald block at the corner of Front and Dewey streets, has filled his petition as a candidate for city clerk. Mr. Diener is an old resident of the county and city, and is well known in town. He has been one of the city assessors for several years.

Spring "has come," that is the almanac designated Sunday as the opening of the spring season, but the weather with its snow squalls, its chilly winds and the cloudy sky, didn't indicate much spring. However, we feel convinced that spring weather is now due, and firm in this belief, we shall put in our onion sets and plant our sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. York Hinman, daughters Betty and Dorothy and son Junior left Sunday morning for California where they were called by the illness of Mrs. Hinman's father, W. J. Crusep. A letter was received Saturday telling of his serious illness, and this was followed by a telegram saying that Mr. Crusep was suffering from congestion of the brain and that death seemed near.

Last week at the Apple Car.

The Anglo-French contention that the allies have the right to declare European waters and the Mediterranean a blockade zone may be accepted in principle by the United States, but this government will insist that such blockade must be delivered against only cargoes and vessels intended for German ports. Interference with American commerce en route to or from neutral ports will be strenuously objected to. That much has already been decided upon by the president and his advisors.

Will Make Bridge Award Today.

The county commissioners will meet in session today, with State Engineer Price present, and will make the formal award of the contract for building the new bridge east of town. The commissioners practically decided last Friday to let the contract to the Canton Bridge Co. because its bid was the lowest, but the attorney-general insisted that it was his prerogative to look over the bids, and to satisfy him the bids were taken to Lincoln by State Engineer Price for his inspection.
