Call to the "McKinley Men"

The call to the "McKinley Men" sounded by ex-Senator Root to again rally and relieve the country from the incubus of democratic incompetency is not just sheer sentimentality. It rests on history—on the fact that republican politics, as exemplified, not only under McKinley, but under other republican presidents from Lincoln down, have meant progress. The greatest and most substantial growth and development of the country has been brought about under the application of these policies.

Three times in the last half century have the people, in the midst of prosperity, listened to the promise of the democrats, and three times has the country fallen upon adversity coincident with the change. Democratic theories of government have operated every time to displace confidence with distrust, to put the brakes on business and to disarrange where they did not actually destroy American industry. "McKinley men" are the true progressives; because they make experience their guide, and while not afraid to take new steps, are careful to choose the way. They are the men who rallied behind Abraham Lincoln in 1860, who united to save the country again in 1896 from silver inflation and who will again revive that system of government which begets prosperity and permits all to share in it.—Omaha Bee.

Parcels Post Cheaper than Drayage

Shipments of large quantities of grain, coal, ore, sugar and other heavy goods by parcel post over short mail routes where the postage has been less than regular drayage would have been, is causing much trouble in the postal service in Nebraska, Wyoming and Colorado, according to C. M. Reed of Omaha, who is superintendent of the railway mail service for that division.

Parcel post rates within the first zone in some mountainous and other regions where travel is difficult, are much lower than the actual cost of hauling, says Superintendent Reed. "The result has been that a few unscrupulous mail contractors, who are paid as high as $2.50 or $3 per 100 pounds for carrying mail on their routes, have bought grain and similar goods in the railroad town where their route begins, and have mailed the stuff to themselves at the other end of their routes."

Our Changed Position

It is plain, even to the casual observer, that the United States is rapidly being transformed from a debtor to a creditor nation. If we get through this war-cataclysm without war, as every patriot prays we may, we will still be forced into new economic conditions that will be difficult to solve.

Every thoughtful person can see new adjustments are to be made. We have been borrowing from Europe three hundred million dollars a year. Europe has and will have no more money to loan us or to invest in the development of our industrial institutions. On the contrary Europe is going to need more money than it has in sight to carry on the war, and at the end of it to restore its physical condition to something like living again. The waste of the struggle is so vast a sum as to stagger the imagination.

One thing of an encouraging nature about the war is that it stops the stream of American travel to Europe. That will relieve a drain of one hundred millions a year. This will account for one-third the amount we are now borrowing annually abroad. Our exports are now growing at so fast a rate that the balance of trade is becoming a stupendous sum each month. This will keep growing till the war ends. It means we are paying back to Europe instead of borrowing, for Europe cannot ship us gold and will not.

What are we going to do about it? We are going to be hard up for currency. Will our new banking act admit of sufficient expansion of the currency volume to care for this new burden upon our financial system? It will be a new role we will soon be playing. Acting as creditor will be a severe test of our money supply. It will mean the interest rate will not come down; though, even so, industrial production abroad is so demoralized and demolished that our factories must for a long time be the main dependence for the world's necessities.—Fremont Tribune.

BERLIN RESIDENTS GET BREAD BY CARD ONLY

Washington, D. C.—How the Berlin authorities are handling the food situation distributing bread to the civil population in allowances of 4.4 pounds weekly to each person, is told in a report received by the State Department from Consul Julius G. Lay. The report says:

"The negotiations for the regulation of the bread consumption of Greater Berlin are at an end. It has been definitely decided to apportion the 4.4 pounds allowed each person weekly by means of bread cards.

"The lord mayor of Berlin, after a conference with the rectors of the city schools, has announced the division of the city into 170 bread districts. Each one of these districts has 11,000 to 12,000 inhabitants. The bread cards are not transferable and are valid only for the week of issuance.

"The cards will be given only to a single person and not to whole families. They are numbered, and those issued for the different weeks are of various colors so as to overcome the possibility of misuse. The punishments for the misuse of the cards is sufficiently heavy to prevent bakers from giving bread to persons who do not possess the proper cards. The amount designated on the cards are 25, 50, 100 and 250 grams (888, 1.76, 3.53 and 8.82 ounces.)"

The Day's War News.

Berlin says one of the greatest battles of the eastern campaign has developed in the Carpathians.

French war office announced that the Belgian army has made gains along the Yser. Aside from this movement the only change of note was in Vosges, where the French claim to have occupied a considerable section of the German front.

British admiralty announced that five aeroplanes had made successful raids on the German submarine plant at Hoboken, near Antwerp.

Expected land attacks on the Dardanelle fortifications in conjunction with the operations of the allied fleet probably will be inaugurated soon. It is reported from Athens that troops conveyed to the Dardanelles on transports were landed yesterday on the Gallipoli peninsula.

Petrograd announced officially that the Germans in northern Poland had virtually abandoned their attempt to capture Ossowetz.

Ayrshire Bull For Sale

Major Lincoln, a pure bred Ayrshire bull of excellent type and breeding, red and white, weight 1725 pounds, herd broke. This bull should greatly improve the milking qualities of any grade herd without decreasing the size or giving undesirable colors. His dam gave 11,183 lbs. of milk, 450.6 lbs. butter fat in one year. Ayrshire cattle are the highest priced dairy cattle in the United States today. Here is a good one priced for breeding purposes at $125.00.

For the Stomach and Liver.

I. N. Stuart, West Webster, N. Y., writes: "I have used Chamberlain's Tablets for disorders of the stomach and liver off and on for the past five years, and it affords me pleasure to state that I have found them to be just as represented. They are mild in their action and the results have been satisfactory. I value them highly." For sale by all dealers.
