Canada is Calling You to her Rich Wheat Lands

She extends to Americans a hearty invitation to settle on her FREE Home-stead lands of 160 acres each or secure some of the low priced lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

This year wheat is higher but Canadian land just as cheap, so the opportunity is more attractive than ever. Canada wants you to help to feed the world by tilling some of her soil—land similar to that which during many years has averaged 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre.

The Government this year is asking farmers to put increased acreage into grain. Military service is not compulsory in Canada but there is a great demand for farm labor to replace the many young men who have volunteered for service.

NEWS and GOSSIP OF WASHINGTON

How Sleepy Senate Page Lost an Important Bill

WASHINGTON.—Senator Ollie James of Kentucky has been trying ever since the adjournment of congress, on March 4, to find out what became of a certain bill that was passed by both houses and never reached the president for his signature, thereby failing to become a law.

The boy was told to take the bill across the corridor to the enrolling clerk, who has his desk in the office of the secretary of the senate. The boy started with the bill. It never reached the desk of the enrolling clerk. For this fact the youngster was later wholly unable to account, nor has the text of the measure ever been found.

School That Gives Children Training for Life

WASHINGTON has a unique new school, the first one of its kind to form part of the public school system of the city. It is a school where desks have given place to household furniture, sewing machines, work benches, tool cases and the shoemaker's bench and last.

Through the open door come the rasp of file and plane, the rhythmic thump of the shoemaker's pegging. The energetic hony sounds of house-keeping float out to meet the visitor, while the appetizing aroma of stewing fruit and delicious baking custards extends a fragrant welcome.

It is not until the startled gaze adjusts itself somewhat to the novelty of the scene and the different classes are studied individually that the real spirit of this place makes itself felt, for it is a school to dignify labor and to give to boys and girls some idea of the demands of life.

Though all signs of academic instruction are absent from the shops and housekeeping department, the pupils are faithfully taught the traditional "R's" and all else prescribed in the usual curriculum for the grades to which they belong.

In addition, the plan is to equip the pupils so that they may step out into the commercial world, and by making use of the instruction they have received here be able readily to secure employment in a familiar line of work, and also be spared many weary hours of apprenticeship, should they conclude to use what they have learned as the foundation upon which to build their life work.

President May Sell Newspapers in Baltimore

BECAUSE President Wilson wrote a mighty interesting and helpful letter to Baltimore newspaper boys, in which he told them, besides other things, that "the right road is the straight road and is the only road that will carry any man where he would care to go," and "that it isn't worth while to go anywhere if you cannot go with honor and self-respect," he was heartily thanked by a committee of the boys, consisting of Samuel Friedel, seventeen; George Harrison, fifteen; William G. McQuinn, fifteen, and Jesse Rosenstein, fourteen.

Harrison handed the president a badge of the child labor bureau of Baltimore, entitling him to sell newspapers in that city. He assured the boys that if he ever got hard up he would use the permit to make some money. Harrison is better known among the Baltimore "newsies" as "Germany," while McQuinn is universally called "Giggles."

The president in his letter to the newsboys said: "I am very glad to hear about the way in which you youngsters are beginning to take care of yourselves and stop the things that you are sure to be sorry for afterward, and I want to send you this message of hearty good will and express the hope that the things you are learning now will make you not only more successful men, but happier men."

Girl Drives Congressional Library Jitney Bus

THE first jitney bus to be operated in the capital is driven by a young woman, Miss Elizabeth Cushman, who utilizes her care to take fellow clerks at the congressional library to and from their homes in Cleveland Park.

Miss Cushman says she is not running a "regular" jitney line. It is just an accommodation line, run at the request of girl friends in Cleveland Park, who are associated with her at the library.

Miss Cushman does not believe a line from Chevy Chase to the downtown section would be a paying venture, owing to the distance, but she is surprised that jitney bus lines have not been inaugurated in cross-town streets and from districts that are not served by car lines.
