Entertain for Miss Birkinshaw.

A great many friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Artz Wednesday afternoon at a shower tendered Miss Nellie Birkinshaw by Mrs. Artz and Mrs. E. W. Cross. Blue and white decoration was the color scheme. The presents fell from the shower basket which was hung from the center of the room and were very pretty, numerous and useful. The guests of honor was seated under a shower of wedding bells and archway of blue and white. Social conversation was the theme of the afternoon after which a dainty lunch was served. The friends on leaving wished Miss Birkinshaw a bright and happy future.

Waterworks Company Dismisses the Suit Against the City.

The suit of the American Waterworks Co. against the City of North Platte, in which the company sought to recover some six thousand dollars alleged to be due for hydrant rental, has been dismissed by the company. The company not only entered suit for the $6,000, but also for interest on that sum for a number of years, the total claimed due reaching nearly $10,000.

W. V. Hoagland, representing the city, had been at work on the case for some time getting ready for trial in the federal court. As he collected the evidence in the case, he became certain that the company had little on which to base its claim. Evidently the attorney for the company arrived at the same conclusion a month or so ago, for at that time he wrote to Mr. Hoagland that he thought the suit could be settled by the city paying a couple of thousand dollars. Mr. Hoagland, however, paid no attention to this suggested compromise, and now comes the dismissal of the suit by the company.

One evening the early part of this week nine cars were observed stuck in the mud on the two roads leading south to the bridge. The Locust street road at the Gus Meyer place and the Dewey street road between the the Payne dairy and bridge are both in awful bad shape.
