Polo Auto Races.

North Platte is to have polo auto races, a new form of amusement, but more exciting than auto races, horse races or base ball; a contest that has set people talking wherever the races have been given. The date of the races will be June 22d and 23rd and there will be five cars, ten players and five car drivers, a sufficient number to guarantee an animated contest. The races have been secured here under a contract executed by T. L. Green to the representative who was in town yesterday, and Mr. Green is firm in the belief that this new amusement will more than please the people. The races will be held at the base ball grounds, and the admission fee will be fifty cents for adults and twenty-five cents for children. These polo players will be one of the features at the stockmen's convention at Alliance.

Evans, in behalf of the G. A. R., presented the Elks with a flag, and this was accepted for the lodge by T. C. Patterson. "America" and the "Star Spangled Banner" were sung by the audience. The theme of the exercises throughout was "old glory."

CAR PLUNGES OFF THE BRIDGE INTO RIVER.

Robert Dean and Harry York had an experience Sunday forenoon that they are not likely soon to forget, and that Dean escaped with his life is evidence that his time had not yet come. The men, both of whom had but little experience, were driving the former Idderby car now owned by Derryberry & Forbes. York had driven the car at out to the state farm and Dean was at the wheel on the return trip with York standing up behind him to help in case assistance was needed. Dean drove up the approach to the south end of the bridge at about ten miles an hour, and when about thirty feet on the bridge the front wheels veered sharply and the car plunged through the railing on the west side and dropped into the river. As the car fell it turned completely over, and York was thrown clear. Dean, however was pinned under the car with the back of the seat across his chest. At this point there was fully two feet of water, but fortunately Dean had the presence of mind to keep his mouth closed, and by wiggling his body loosened the seat under him, partly freeing his chest and enabling him to get his nose and mouth above the water. In this condition he laid for several minutes until rescued by York and some of the state farm employes who fortunately arrived in a car. With the aid of these men the car was lifted and Dean was pulled through the rear door.

When rescued Dean was in pretty bad shape, and for several hours after being taken home spit up considerably blood, but today, though still feeling sore, there is nothing to indicate any serious injury.

York, other than taking a head first dive into the water, did not suffer.

The car was hauled out of the river shortly after the accident, and was not much the worse for the plunge.
