Cotton in California.
 Since cotton was first planted in Imperial valley, California, as an experiment, about eight years ago, the acreage has increased yearly until it is now 65,000, yielding 50,000 bales. The United States department of agriculture says the valley's production per acre is more than twice that of any other part of the country. In the valley there are nineteen cotton gins, three cottonseed oil mills, and three compresses. Over half the acreage is in the vicinity of Calexico, there being there eight gins, two oil mills, and one compress, all busy day and night during the winter making by-products like cottonseed oil, cottonseed feed and hulls.

VICTIM OF CRUEL DECEPTION

Fair Seaside Visitor Satisfied She Had Seen Remarkable "Government Salting Apparatus."

They were passing the holiday at Onset and during the course of the sunny afternoon took a stroll on the beach. At one point "Ley" came upon an improvised breakwater, where some resident had filled bags with sand and piled them in breastwork fashion to prevent the sea from encroaching upon his land during the stormy season.

One of the young ladies was curious immediately. She would know what the bags were for.

"Why, it's very simple," explained her companion with due gravity. "The water in Onset bay originally was fresh, a peculiarity of nature which has puzzled scientists. It seemed too bad to deprive the place of seashore advantages so the government took the matter in hand, filled the bags with salt and thereby has imparted the proper flavor to Onset water."

Far from rebuking him for being "fresh," she is now telling her friends of having seen the "government salting apparatus" down there.

Calm Resignation.

Reference having been made to beautiful resignation, Congressman Joseph J. Russell recalled an appropriate story.

During a dinner party some time ago, the congressman said, the topic turned to the connubial state. Among the guests was a bachelor person. "Speaking of marriage," eventually remarked the bachelor, "it seems that the longer a man is married—"

"The happier he is," impulsively broke in a spinster party with a hopeful glance at the other.

"I was going to say," resumed the bachelor, disregarding, "that the longer a man is married the less he seems to mind it."

Nearly Lost.
 She—if you could have one wish, what would it be?
 He—it would be that—that—Oh, if I only dared tell you what it would be!
 She—Well, go on! Why do you suppose I brought up the wishing subject?

POULTRY FACTS

WHITE WYANDOTTES IN FAVOR

One of the Most Important Things for Beginner is Selection of Breed—Seven Good Characteristics.

(By JOHN C. LISTER.)
 When a beginner starts a poultry plant, large or small, one of the most important things for him to consider is the breed he wants.

If after eggs only it would be policy for him to select one of the Mediterranean breeds, such as the Leghorn. If he desires to market mature birds he should keep a meat breed like the Cornish or the Brahma. If a general purpose fowl is his aim he must select the White Wyandotte for the following reasons:

First. As layers this breed has proved its superiority to all others, as shown in three recent laying competitions, when the grand average for White Wyandottes was 190 eggs in one year—a far better record than that of the Leghorns or the Reds.

Second. White Wyandotte eggs are large and brown, an advantage that is of great importance in the markets of my vicinity.

Third. The chicks are hardy and grow to broiler size quicker than any other breed, and the fine feathers, being white, do not spoil their appearance when dressed for market, as in the case of Bred Rocks.

Fourth. The White Wyandotte makes a good rooster and a profitable capon. The males will average about eight pounds and the females around five or six pounds.

Fifth. Pullets hatched in April, with proper housing, feeding and attention, will lay late in October, when the egg market is advancing its prices.

Sixth. The small, rose combs of the White Wyandotte are never frosted, thus eliminating a trouble that affects large-combed breeds in cold weather. It is generally recognized that the White Wyandotte continues laying in the coldest months.

Seventh. As mothers the White Wyandottes have no betters. They are not continuously broody, but are faithful, careful and attentive when setting or mothering chicks. I have analyzed the White Wyandotte very carefully, and have failed to find any breed that combines these seven characteristic features that make the White Wyandotte a sure money-maker if given proper attention.

RATLESS PENS FOR CHICKENS

Fine Woven Wire Stretched Around Bottom of Coop Keeps Rodents Away, Thereby Saving Chicks.

Last year we had many young chickens caught by rats and eggs taken from under setting hens. This spring we made the rat-proof pens shown in the drawing, writes Mrs. E. P. Rich of Oregon in Missouri Valley Farmer. A one by six inch board was set in the ground to keep the rats from digging under. Then we stretched fine wire netting two feet wide all the way around above the board and from the top of the coop at the back, covering everything with woven wire. The enclosure was partitioned off into pens and the hens were set in the house. We kill rats or mice by spreading a thick coating of calomel on a slice of bread and butter and put where they can find it.

Temperature of Brooder.
 As the weather becomes warmer you will have to see that the brooder is not too warm for the young chicks. Common sense ought to teach anyone that the heat required for brooding the chicks in cold weather is not required when the weather gets warm, but we often forget these things, to the detriment of the young chicks.

Dry Bran for Chicks.
 Dry bran placed before the chicks at the fifth day is a good feed and prepares them for the heavier dry mash which should start around the seventh to tenth day, when the chicks are ready to stand a feed that is heavier in ash and protein.

Canadian Wheat to Feed the World

The war's fearful devastation of European crops has caused an unusual demand for grain from the American Continent. The people of the world must be fed and there is an unusual demand for Canadian wheat. Canada's invitation to every industrious American is therefore especially attractive. She wants farmers to make money and happy, prosperous homes for themselves while helping her to raise immense wheat crops.

You can get a Homestead of 160 acres FREE and other lands can be bought at remarkably low prices. Think of the money you can make with wheat at its present high prices, where for some time it is liable to continue. During many years Canadian wheat fields have averaged 20 bushels to the acre—many yields as high as 45 bushels to the acre. Wonderful crops also of Oats, Barley and Flax.

Mixed farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain raising. The excellent grasses, full of nutrition, are the only food required either for beef or dairy purposes. Good schools, markets convenient, climate excellent.

Military service is not compulsory in Canada. There is no conscription and now a tax on lands.
