Dispatch Carriers 12 Hours Late

With clothing, face and hair coated thickly with dust, the Kearney rider in the trans-continental motorcycle relay race reached North Platte at 12:46 yesterday afternoon, just twelve hours behind schedule time. The greater part of this time was lost coming through Illinois and Iowa, where recent heavy rains had rendered the roads almost impassible. The small hand-bag containing the dispatch was turned over to Ralph Lutholz and George Easton, at the postoffice corner, and the boys dashed west at a furious speed. It was not the intention to make a stop as one relay man succeeded the other, but the strap of the bag caught on the glove of the Kearney rider as he extended it to the North Platte rider, and in order to disengage it a delay of nearly two minutes occurred. Lutholz and Easton carried the dispatch to Big Springs, where it was turned over to the relay rider who carried it to Sidney.

The Kearney rider covered the distance to this city, 110 miles, in three hours and fifteen minutes. Soft roads were encountered at Cozad, and two of the three riders who started from Kearney dropped out, the other one coming in from Cozad alone.

From here west it is expected that the riders will shorten up the last time and possibly enter San Francisco on schedule.

Help Get Exhibits

The worth of an agricultural exhibit depends largely on the number of varieties and kinds of products on display. Everybody is urged to keep both eyes open for unusual kinds of grasses and grains or other products and bring these in, or report them to Mr. Gilman, who has been employed by the County Fair Association to prepare exhibits. Do this now as now is the only time to collect an exhibit. Mr. Gilman is located at the Experiment Station.
