"The Moonstone," taken from Wilkie Collins' novel has as the leading actors Eugene O'Brien and Elaine Hammerstein. The settings to this picture are so fine that they warrant special mention. As to the story it has enough of mystery to it to make it the snappy, breathless kind. The solution to the mystery in the last reel brings a surprise. If you are not satisfied with this attraction your money will be refunded. 10 and 15 cents. Don't forget the time and place.

Work on Bridge Delayed

Work on the new bridge has been delayed for a week by the non-arrival of two cars of lumber needed for staging and operating the pile driver. The steel piling and considerable of the structural steel has been received, unloaded at Gannett and hauled to the bridge site. Cars of timber have been lost somewhere between here and the point of shipment, and though tracers have been sent out, they have not yet been located. About a dozen men have so far been employed on the work, but when construction work begins twenty-five or thirty will be employed.

W. L. Cary, representing the contractors, has been for some time looking after the preliminary work.

COMMISSIONER PROCEEDINGS

July 26, 1915. Board met pursuant to adjournment. Present, Herminghausen, Springer and county clerk.
