Wheat Prices

The great range in quality of the 1915 crop of Nebraska wheat is reflected in the market prices at Omaha yesterday. The Bee's quotations show several cars of No. 3 hard winter wheat selling from $1.05 down to 99 cents, while No. 4 hard winter sold all the way from 91 cents down to 70 cents, the quality of course determining the price. Here is a range of thirty-five cents a bushel from the best No. 3 to the poorest No. 4.

It is probable that the range of quality of wheat in Lincoln county will class with the state at large, therefore the farmers can reasonably expect quite a variance in price.

We have paid out thousands of dollars in fire, lightning and fire losses this season. Honest losers can get more of this money if insured with us. BRATT & GOODMAN.

THE FAIR OPENS

Yesterday was the opening day of the Lincoln county fair, a day in which exhibits were entered and placed. However, up to last evening only about half of the exhibits had been placed, but the men were at work last night, and by noon today the big hall will be filled with agricultural products, fancy work, school work, the products of the thrifty housewife, and the booths of the local business men. The building for the exhibits is the one used for the Lowry-Moody revival meetings and is exceedingly well adapted as an exhibition hall. It is well electrically lighted, the display tables are conveniently placed, and on both sides are the booths.

Among the booths that were occupied last evening were: W. W. Birge Co., Howe & Maloney, Davis Auto Co., North Platte Creamery, G. S. Huffman, Gaston Music Co., Lloyd Powers, Maxwell Auto Agent, Block Ladies' Furnishing Store, Smith the Apperson Auto Agent, Hendy-Ogier Co., Ford and Dodge Cars, Derryberry & Forbes and the Coates Lumber & Coal Co. Other booths will be fitted up today.

The big barn on the premises is used for the display of horses. Last evening several of the stalls were filled and the exhibitors who will come in today will fill every stall—and then some, for the display of live stock this year will be greater than ever.

The hog pens are numerous and several exhibitors brought in their animals yesterday. Three pens of fine Chester Whites attracted the attention of visitors yesterday and there were also several pens of the black fellows.

The red building on the grounds is used for the poultry and pet stock exhibit. Last evening the display in this line was fine, including thoroughbred chickens, geese, ducks, rabbits, and the very interesting exhibit of pet stock by Lee Simon.

The display of grains and grasses prepared by Mr. Gilman is really wonderful, made the more so by the artistic manner in which they are placed.

This has not been a good season for vegetables—too cold and wet—but the display promises to be large, nevertheless. However, we shall miss those eighty pound water melons usually exhibited by Otto Messner and Jim Bechan—just now watermelons are only half grown.

The exhibit of school work is very large; so large in fact that County Supt. Gault cannot find room for all. The country schools are exceedingly well represented in this work.

Up to last evening the fancy work department made a good showing; but by noon today, at which time the entries close, the display will be such as to lead one to believe that Lincoln county ladies devote much time to this work.

There is a liberal display of canned goods, marmalade, jelly, cakes, pies, bread, and other articles along this line.

One of the attractive exhibits is the public park and fair ground scene carried out in detail by C. C. Hupfer. This is some show of itself, the grounds representing the several buildings, a race track on which are toy horses and riders, pens full of sheep, automobiles in speeding contests, flower gardens, living fountains, trees and shrubbery, in fact all the requirements and beauties of the community park which The Tribune hopes the people of North Platte will endorse by their votes on the 14th of September. This scene by Mr. Hupfer represents much time and work, but public spirited fellow that he is, he gave both freely.

The ball diamond has been scraped and bleachers erected for the games that will be played today, Wednesday and Thursday. At this point are also located the aviation sheds, and from there the big airships will ascend.

The grounds are well provided with water both for visitors and stock, in fact President Pielsticker and Secretary Sebastian have apparently left nothing undone that would add to the pleasure or convenience of the visitors.

In the grove are several booths where refreshments are sold, and here also is located a big dance pavilion. Other refreshment booths are located around the grounds.

No gambling in any form is permitted on the grounds. Several fellows applied for concessions of this nature but were promptly turned down.

The Better Baby contest under the supervision of the Mothers' club is being held in the former Dillon house, east of the grounds, which has also been fitted up as a rest room for the mothers. Application blanks are in charge of Mrs. W. R. Maloney. Examinations of the babies are being made and their measurements taken by Drs. Redfield, Simms, Lucas and other physicians, in a room set aside for this purpose. Mouth examinations are made by Dr. Cressler, Mesdames Edmond Dickey, J. B. Redfield and O. H. Cressler are assisting in the test room. Twenty babies were examined yesterday morning and a greater number during the afternoon.

We have a new shipment of House Acrons and convertible house dresses made of the best quality of dress ginghams and precales. Perfect fitting garments. It is surely worth your while to see them. All sizes, we can fit the stout woman too.

All That Glitters is Not Gold

A town resident thought he found a gold mine yesterday when he unearthed in the south river a chunk of melted brass weighing four or five pounds. Thinking that the metal might be gold, he took it to the Dixon store to be tested, but unfortunately for the finder the test proved it to be brass.

Ball Game Thursday

One of the attractions on the fair grounds Thursday afternoon will be a game of ball between the Episcopal team of the church league and a team of farmer boys living on the south side. Bechan, of Hershey, will pitch for the south-siders, who are said to be very fair players.

Entertainment at the Fair

Starting at nine o'clock this morning, when the North Platte Military Band gave its initial concert, there will be some amusement feature at the fair grounds every hour today, tomorrow and Thursday. At ten o'clock this morning the rough riders put on their exhibition, a number of riders participating. This afternoon at three the Boosters and the Big Springs ball teams will play, and following the same will be the pony polo races and several other races, the day concluding with a band concert at seven and general amusements.

Tomorrow at ten the first aeroplane exhibition will be made, followed in the afternoon by ball game, cowboy polo races, band concert, and a second flight by the aeroplane at 5:30. Band concerts and other amusements have been provided for the evening.

Thursday the Gothenburg band will be here to assist the local band, and both bands will take part in a parade at ten. At eleven there will be an aeroplane flight. In the afternoon at two, ex-Gov. Ammons, of Colorado, will speak on "Growers and Feeders," and at three the Episcopal ball team will play the south side farmers' team. At 4:30 the final aeroplane exhibition will be held. The evening will be devoted to a general jubilee.
