Accidentally Killed at Wallace

John Schmidt, of Hartford, Ind., was instantly killed at Wallace about seven o'clock Wednesday by the accidental discharge of a rifle which he was lifting out of the wagon in which he and others had ridden home after a day's hunt.

The deceased was superintendent of the John R. Johnson glass works at Hartford, and in company with his employer had been coming to Wallace each fall for a number of years to shoot chickens and ducks. They arrived at Wallace last week, and as guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hayden were having a royal time. Schmidt went out with the others Wednesday morning, and returned about seven in the evening. He was removing the game and luggage from the vehicle and picked up a rifle. In removing it the hammer in some manner caught and the cartridge exploded, the ball penetrating the corner of an eye and coming out at the back of the head. Death was practically instantaneous.

The body was brought to this city Wednesday night, prepared for shipment by Undertaker Maloney, and accompanied by Mr. Johnson and his son taken to Hartford last night.

The deceased leaves a wife and two sons, the latter aged sixteen and eighteen.

The Methodist ladies will have on sale Saturday, September 11, at Derbyberry & Forbes' store, lots of good things to eat, including rolls, pies, cakes, etc., also some nice woven rugs.

Geo. M. Smith has been demonstrating at the Baptist church this week an oil burner for boilers used in heating plants. This burner is placed in the grate of the boiler and the coal oil used as fuel is conducted to the burner through pipes from a tank outside the building. It is claimed that a building, by using this burner, can be heated as cheaply as with coal and it does away with the handling of coal and ashes, and the consequent dust and dirt.

The scarcity of prairie chickens where a few years ago they abounded in hundreds suggests a great possibility of their becoming practically extinct in this section of the state in the not remote future. These birds have had little protection during the open season in the past few years, numerous outside hunters coming in to slaughter them. The past season has been hard on the few broods scattered about the country and it is now apparent that there will be few hens left to raise young ones next year. The passing of the prairie chickens will be regretted by citizens of this part of the state generally, and especially by the farmers whose friends the birds have been. As a field for hunting operations, this section is already a failure.—Sutherland Free Lance.

Entertain Ball Team.

The Episcopal ball team and their ladies were banqueted by the Tillikum girls in the basement of the church Wednesday evening. The banquet table was artistically decorated with pantries and a bouquet of the same flower was presented to each guest. Five courses were served and each course elicited complimentary remarks. After the inner man had been satisfied the remainder of the evening was spent in a social dance. Before departing a vote of thanks was given to the young ladies for the royal manner in which they had entertained.

Wheat Yields

S. J. Koch has finished threshing his wheat, and after having been beaten when it was in the shock by a severe hail storm, 150 acres averaged him 24 bushels per acre.

Fred Marquette finished threshing the first of his wheat. From 210 acres he threshed 5,225 bushels of wheat. In addition to this he had about 823 bushels of oats from another piece of ground. This shows up very good for the south side.—Hershey Times.

Harry Jorgeson was shot while hunting near here the first of the week. One pellet from a charge of bird shot struck just below the right eye, penetrating the flesh to a considerable depth, and endangering the vision. The local base ball team evidently connected with an unusual amount of "pep" Sunday afternoon when for the first time this season it snared a victory over the Hershey Giants.—Sutherland Free Lance.

In the case of B. A. Wilson vs. O. H. Cressler, which was tried in the county court Wednesday, a decision was made in favor of the defendant. The charge was that Mr. Cressler had agreed to rent a house from the plaintiff but after discovering that it lacked modern conveniences notified the owner that he could not use it. Mr. Wilson claims that in the meantime he had lost a tenant and gone to great expense in fixing up the property and was entitled to the rent.

Politeness in China.

In China parents are held responsible for the manners of their children. Accordingly, for the credit of their parents, people try to be polite. If you are mobbed in a Chinese town you should look straight at one or two of the people and say: "Your parents did not pay much attention to your manners. They did not teach you the rules of propriety." A remark like this will make the crowd sink away, one by one, ashamed of themselves.

Novel Proposal.

"Have you ever been engaged to be married before?" asked the young man. "Yes; six times," replied the sweet young thing.

"Well, if your hand is not working just now I'd like to ask for it."—Yonkers Statesman.

Baby Army Officers.

It used to be the custom in England to buy commissions in the army for infants, and then they would be promoted as vacancies occurred. In this way a boy would have high rank when he was old enough to become a real soldier.

Argument Spoiled.

She—Too many men expect their wives to run their homes on practically nothing. They forget that no one can make bricks without straw. He—My wife does—out of flour.—Stray Stories.

Sure Test.

She—They held a mirror over her face to see if she was alive. I don't understand that. He—Why, you see, if she was alive she'd open her eyes and look in it.
