NORTH PLATTE WILL HELP MAKE FAIR A SUCCESS

North Platte will materially assist in making the Southwestern Nebraska Fair to be held at Maywood next week a success. A large part of the Lincoln county exhibit at the local fair and also at the state fair will be taken to Maywood and placed on exhibition; a North Platte orchestra will furnish music for a dance to be held each evening during the fair; a tug of war between teams from North Platte and McCook is on the program of sports, and the foot ball team of the North Platte high school will play the Curtis team on the Maywood grounds. It is probable that several hundred North Platte people will drive over to Maywood during the fair, thus swelling the crowd and doing their share to make the fair a financial success.

The Maywood people will find that North Platte believes in boosting Western Nebraska; that its people do not confine all their energy to their home town.

Clark Car Found.

The Ford car belonging to Henry Clark which was stolen from in front of the Lutheran church on the evening of September 26th, was found Sunday in the canyons northwest of Maywood. The car is in pretty bad shape, the engine burned through running dry, the fenders bent and several wires and rods broken and disconnected. A rain coat, pair of waders and other articles of apparel which Mr. Clark kept in the car, were taken.

Suspicion attaches to Earl Inman, of this city, as the fellow who took the car. He was missed from town about the time the car was taken. He was seen in Maywood the early part of last week, and Saturday night he left Maywood on a train for the east part of the state accompanied by a young girl. The officers will make an effort to locate Inman.

Henry Clark has taken a forty-day leave of absence and will spend the time in Omaha taking a course in embalming. During his absence Ole Graham is carrying the mail on the valley route.

Origin of Road Rules. The origin of the rule for pedestrians to keep to the right dates back to a period when such things as roads were unknown. Before the road as we know it existed progress from place to place was accomplished by means of tracks or paths, used in common by mounted and foot wayfarers. As in early days every traveler carried his life in his hands and saw in every approaching stranger a potential enemy, so the unarmed man either retreated from the path or was beaten from it by an advancing stranger. If the latter were armed. When two armed men met, with shield on left arm and sword in right hand, they of necessity passed each other on the right, so as to bring shield to shield, thus completely sheltered, but with the sword arm ready to strike if needed.—London Globe.

Origin of "Watered Stock."

The expression "watered stock," which describes so well the expansion of the stock of a company beyond the value of the property, originated, it is said, in connection with Daniel Drew, who was once the wealthiest and most unique manipulator in Wall street. Drew had been a drover in his younger days, and it was said of him that before selling his cattle in the market he would first give them large quantities of salt to make them thirsty and then provide them with all the water they could drink. In this way their weight was greatly increased, and the purchaser was buying "watered stock."

Bobby's Fruitless Search.

Bobby heard his mother tell his father that her mother, who was ill, was in a comatose state and she must go to her at once.

Bobby immediately ran for his geography and looked diligently for some time through it. Finally he brought it to his father and said: "Father, I can't find the state of comatose in here. Will you?"—Judge.

Hoyle.

The father of whist, Edmond Hoyle, lived to be ninety-seven years old. His treatise on cards has been published in all languages, and probably no work except the Bible has passed through more editions. The original work appeared in London in 1742.

Brevity.

"Brevity is the soul of wit," remarked the old fogey.

"Then there are mighty few witty preachers in the world," said the grouch.—Buffalo News.
