NORTH PLATTE DEFEATS OMAHA FORTY-EIGHT TO SEVEN The foot ball team of the North Platte high school defeated the Omaha high school team on the local field Friday afternoon by a score of forty-eight to seven. The game, particularly on the part of North Platte, was fast and there were enough sensational plays to keep the 1,000 or more spectators in the yelling mood all the time. The attendance was by far the largest of the season, and the crowd was a most enthusiastic one. The game started with a spirit that presaged a close contest and it was not until almost the close of the first period that Cool took the ball around the end on a sixty yard sprint, made a touchdown and kicked goal. This success for North Platte took some of the fighting spirit out of the visitors, but infused even greater vigor into the home team. In the second quarter the visitors were outplayed and outgeneraled, they could not withstand the line smashes of Baker and Bogue and the consistent gains made by Kelly, Christ and Thompson. Cool scored from the forty yard line; he also intercepted a forward pass and ran fifty-five yards to a touch down, and a fourth touch down was made by Bogue through plunges and forward passes. The first half ended with North Platte 25, Omaha 0. In the third period Christ scored on a fake formation. Omaha regained some of its fighting spirit but could make no important gains. North Platte opened the last quarter with wonderful line smashes by Bogue, Baker, Kelly and Christ, resulting in a touchdown by Kelly. Then came Omaha's score—the intercepting of a forward pass by Morearity, a thirty yard run, a touch down and a goal kick. North Platte again smashed the Omaha line with a touch down by Bogue. The game ended a minute or two too soon, for at the close North Platte was within easy reach of a touch down. Cool made three touchdowns, Bogue two, Christ one and Kelly one. Officials—Referee, Keefe, Notre Dame; Umpire, Caldwell, Marquette; Head Linesman, Hascall, Nebraska. Henry Murray has returned from Sidney, where he spent the past three weeks. NORTH PLATTE EVIDENCE FOR NORTH PLATTE PEOPLE The Statements of North Platte Residents Are Surely More Reliable Than Those of Utter Strangers. Home testimony is real proof. Public statements of North Platte people carry real weight. What a neighbor or friend says compels respect. The word of one whose home is far away invites your doubts. Here's a North Platte man's statement. And it's for North Platte people's benefit. Such evidence is convincing. That's the kind of proof that backs Doan's Kidney Pills. Charles F. Burroughs, 222 S. Pine St., North Platte, says: "Several years ago I had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills and found them to be a good kidney medicine. I suffered from burning pains in the small of my back and my kidneys were very weak. Doan's Kidney Pills soon cured me completely. I have not been bothered by kidney trouble since. I take pleasure in endorsing this medicine for the benefit of other kidney sufferers." Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Burroughs had. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Julius Caesar By M. QUAD Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate. The Hopeville Debatin' society was Squar' Joslyn's idea. It dawned on him one afternoon as he was hoein' in his garden, and that evenin' he came over to the drug store and made a speech and started the ball rollin'. A week later the society had its first meetin'. There was a hot time fur about an hour. Of the forty men present five wanted to be president, but after awhile and by puttin' in two votes fur himself the squar' was duly elected. Deacon Jackson was made referee, and the other offices was struggled after to an extent. There wasn't any debate at the first meeting, but Squar' Joslyn made a speech of acceptance which raised the price of butter in Hopeville 10 cents per pound. After saying that he wouldn't exchange places with the president of the United States he began with the year 750 B. C., and the way he come whittin' along down to the year 1915 made the glass in the windows rattle. He excited the crowd as he hit Nero, brought applause as he touched Columbus, and when he got through with Washington there wasn't no holdin' Enos Williams, and Jonas Bebee and Aaron Bradshaw was in tears. After the speech was over Elder Harper figured up and declared that the squar' had made twenty-seven different p'intns in his oration. The subject for debate at the next meetin' was "Does Honesty Pay?" The number on the affirmative and negative sides was almost even, and Ebenezer White was appointed to lead off and tell how honesty paid him. Each speaker was to be limited to ten minutes. Ebenezer had been thinkin' it over fur three or four days, and when he got up he began with: "Foller me back to the days of Julius Caesar. When Caesar was a young man of twenty-two he hadn't a dollar to his name and no show to strike a job. He had about made up his mind to commit suicide when he found a five dollar gold piece in the road. His first thought was to use the money to start in business, but it was only a temptation. His honesty wouldn't permit such a thing. He went around inquirin' who had lost $5 and at length found the owner, and the owner took a hikin' to him and pushed him along until he was finally made a king." "That's one tally mark for the affirmative side," said the deacon as the speaker sat down, "and I decide that Ebenezer has made five p'intns. We will now hear from Jonas Bebee on the negative side." "Foller me back to the days of Julius Caesar," began Jonas as he rose up. "When Caesar was a young man of twenty-two he hadn't a dollar to his name," continued Jonas. "He had made up his mind to hang himself when he found a stray mowl in the woods. He sold the critter to the first man who would buy, and with the $12 he received he went into politics and pushed along until he finally became one of the greatest men of his time." "That's a tally mark on the negative side," said the deacon, "and the p'intns seem to be even." The deacon called upon Aaron Bradshaw, who was on the affirmative side. "Foller me back to the days of Julius Caesar," began Aaron, with a wave of his hand. He had it that Caesar was poor and out of a job and discouraged when he happened to find a diamond ring in a mudhole. He could have got an advance of $50 on it at a pawnbroker's, but he actually went hungry for three days while huntin' up the loser. Struck by such a display of unselfish honesty, the owner presented him with $75, took him under his wing and in time made him king. "That's another tally for the affirmative," said the deacon, "and I guess I'll give Aaron the same number of p'intns as the rest." "It's the turn of the negative," said the deacon as Aaron sat down, "and we'll now hear from Philetus Johnson." "Foller me back to the days of Julius Caesar," began Philetus as he rose up, and there was a row. It was full ten minutes before order was restored, and during that time everybody got his head punched at least once and his coat torn up the back. By and by Deacon Spooner said: "It's a shame and a disgrace to this town of ours to carry on in this way. I notice that Jim Yates, who don't belong on either side, has jest come in. Jim, do you want to say anything?" "Not very much," replied Jim as he looked around. "I'd simply like to ask if anybody here has lost this half dollar?" He held up the coin in his fingers. There were forty-seven men in the room, and every single one of 'em, includin' the deacon and the squar', replied that it was his. "As to a debatin' society, it may be a good thing," said Jim as a grin spread over his face, "but as to the subject of discussion tonight I guess you'd better drop it and let it stay dropped. This half dollar has bin in my pocket for two weeks, and every one of you was willin' to lie to git hold of it!" Then he moved softly downstairs and went home, and after the rest of the crowd had sat and looked at each other for two or three minutes in an uncomfortable way the president put on his hat and said: "Instead of follerin' anybody else back to the days of Julius Caesar, I guess we'd better foller Jim Yates downstairs and call the thing busted!"

Why Not Say "Good-bye, Sir?" THE telephone "Hello" has fallen into disfavor because it is not only useless and meaningless, but is a rather ungraceful and rude little word. It is fast becoming obsolete. The telephone "Good-bye," however, is well worth preserving, even in these days of economy and efficiency. It gives that personal, friendly touch to business or social conversation which makes for better relations. The cheery "Good-bye" over the telephone is just as potent as the cordial "Good-morning" with which you greet a friend on the street. Over the telephone it averts the feeling one sometimes has of being cut off abruptly. Say "Good-bye" over the telephone as if it were really a part of your conversation and not merely a regrettable habit of speech. Remember— "The Voice With the Smile Wins." NEBRASKA TELEPHONE COMPANY
