The Permanent Hog House

No Other Building on the Farm
Pays For Itself So Quickly

A Government expert says that "Good hog men average about seven pigs raised to the litter. Many do better. But the general average raised on the farm does not exceed four pigs to the litter."

This big difference is largely in the housing. The question is not so much a matter of cost as the proper design of a hog house. Many hog houses cost enough to be good, but are entirely unfit because the sun cannot shine into the pens. Sunshine and ventilation are absolutely necessary.

On the other hand, inexpensive houses often give better results than more costly ones—because of the better design.

The design is what counts. Here's where we can help you.
