Concert

Miss Edith Lucille Robbins, of the University School of Music, Lincoln, under the auspices of the ladies' aid of the Methodist church, will give a concert in the Methodist church Friday evening, March 10th. Miss Robbins has recently returned from abroad where she spent the last four years studying. Her programs are a result of active research in the folk lore and art songs of many countries, including those of Germany, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Italy, England and our own America. The Norwegian costume which Miss Robbins wears was presented to her while she was in Norway studying the songs of that far-away land. The handwork of this costume was made especially for her. The sweetness of Miss Robbins' tones, her sympathetic interpretations and finished art, make her songs exceptionally enjoyable.

A musical treat is in store for North Platte.

Students Submit Answers

Some time ago three questions were submitted to high school students by Rev. White—what amusement do you like best, what occupation would you choose, and who is the greatest person now living. The answers were read by Rev. White at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening and showed quite a variance of opinion. Dancing was by far the most popular amusement; the occupations named ranged from banker to prize-ring manager, and quite a number thought Charley Chaplin the greatest man living.

Today's Omaha World-Herald features the candidacy of Keith Neville for the democratic nomination for governor, prints his picture and publishes a personal statement from him in which he announces his views and position on state issues—in other words the platform on which he stands. Mr. Neville's statement will be given further publicity in these columns Friday.

The school boy does not always realize the necessity of an education; the parents likewise, often fail to realize the necessity of giving the child necessary appliances for acquiring one. The eye is our main avenue of education. C. S. CLINTON, Registered Optician. Look for the sign with the big ring.

Making a Start With Poultry

The safest way for those about to make their first attempt at poultry raising, is to start in a small way with a few chickens. Then you can learn the business thoroughly as you go along. Spring is the best time to build the house. This gives them time to dry out during the hot days. Then the cement floors and foundation walls are sure to be thoroughly dried out before winter. Chickens do not thrive in a damp house. We have all the material that you require for poultry houses—have helped many others get started—let us help you. Put up your poultry house now. It is the best time of the year.

The Methodist Brotherhood was entertained last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Starr. Twenty-four members were present and Supt. Mr. Adams is a splendid young man. Question was discussed: "Which exerts the greater influence on the moral life of the individual, environment or heredity?" By environment we mean the surroundings under which a person is raised—the persons and things with which he comes in contact, the books he reads, the songs he sings and the government which rules over him. By heredity we mean all of those powers, traits and tendencies which come from our ancestors. This would include all that we get from the race to which we belong and all that we receive from our forefathers from having their blood. The discussion closed at 9:50 and was followed by a ten-minute talk by Rev. Cram on the application of the discussion to the spiritual life of the individual. The vote taken was in favor of the environment.
