WHO'S WHO.

A. B. Hoagland. Among those who seek the republican nomination for county clerk is A. B; Hoagland, who has been a resident of the city for thirty years, coming here with his father, J. S. Hoagland when a boy. He attended the city schools and later was a student at a Lincoln business college. He is a recognized accountant, and has on a numer of occasions been employed Echo Song Thrane by the city and county to audit accounts and do special clerical work He served one term as a city councilman and proved an exceptionally energetic and level headed city official. For several years he has been chaffeur to the county commissioners in their trips over the county on road investigations, leasing of school lands and inspection of bridges, and has obtained an excellent knowledge county conditions which would add to his efficiency as county clerk, and es pecially as a clerk to the county commissioners, which is a part of the county clerk's duties. Mr. Hoagland possesses an unusual amount of ener gy; he does whatever is to do without lagging, and if elected clerk the work in that office will be right up to the minute. If to keep up with the work requires extra hours, Hoagland will put them in without complaint of being overworked. While he goes at everything in a "sledge hammer" manner he is always sure that he is right before he takes the initiative, and in this manner "does things."

No one will question Mr. Hoagland's fitness for the office; there isn't a better qualified man in the county.

S. J. Koch.

Living a few miles southwest of Hershey on one of the best ranches in the coutny, lives Jake Koch, who has made that section his home for over thirty years. He came to Lincoln county with but few dollars in his pocket and secured work on the then Nowell ranch. He proved a willing worker, a level-headed fellow, and being ambitious to succeed and become farmer and cattle grower himself, took a homestead. Living on the claim but remaining in the employ of Nowell, he saved his wages, invested in cattle and soon had a nice little bunch. He then gave his time to his own place and his working day was from sun up until late at night. He was strong and robust, energetic, possessed good business judgment, and in applying these individual possessions, his cattle increased in number, his acres broadened until teday Jake Koch has one of the best ranch and farm properties in western stocked with several hundred head of well-bred cattle, and supplied with all the necessary up-to-date machinery and improved with excellent buildings the home of a successful man. While always a working republicar Mr. Koch never sought office, but six weeks ago, heeding the insistence of friends, he consented to become a days ago for the eastern part of the candidate for county commissioner from the Third district. His friends insisted that he become a candidate because of his excellent business quallifications, his good citizenship and the knowledge that he would give his best efforts to the conduct of county affairs. Mr. Koch is an that his friends claim for him, and if elected to that office he will ever be tair and justhonest in every official action.

MANAGER GARMAN GUARANTEES

The misleading advertising of many road productions has resulted in the inability of the public on frequent occasions to distinguish between the meritorious and the inferior attraction. To dispel any doubts as to the merits of "Robin Hood", described a the nation's funniest and most tuneful comic opera which is to be presented Monday evening at the Keith, it is announced in a signed statement by Manager Garman of the Keith that the admission price will be refunded to any patrons of the theatre who are dissatisfied with the production or who can dispute any of the claims made for this attraction. The management of the opera house in thus guaranteeing this to be the best light opera organizations have played in this city in a decade, takes a step that is hardly conventional acording to the ethics of things theatrical, but states that it is the most emphatic form in which to impress on theatre-going public the strong endorsement which goes with this production. Manager Garman's guarantee as follows: 1 personally guarantee the DeKoven opera com-pany's production or "Robin Hood" to be the finest comic opera organization that has ever played in this city. I will cheerfully refund their money to any of my patrons who, upon witnessing the performance, can dispute this statement.

Signed: R. F. GARMAN.

hy should our tears in sorrow flow When God recalls His own, lids them leave a world of woe For an immortal crown? a let our corrows nease to flow;

For an immortal crown?

In let our porrows cease to flow;
God has recalled fils own;
I tel our hearts in overy woe,
Still say "Thy will be done."
These words beautifully express the diags of those who watched by the diade of babelle the eldest daughter Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Skinner. She is born at Osage, Iowa, February 29, 68 and went to the heavenly home in the second of the second of the white plague, but finally she is conquered. Conquered? No, not neglected for—
"It is not death to die."

"It is not death to die
"It is not death to die
To leave this weary road,
And with the brotherhood on high
To be at home with God."
Earthly life was dear to this girl;
she did not want to leave this world.
After her pastor had spent some hours
with her she said, "Pray for me all day.
Tell Jesus what a good girl Til be if He will Just let me live." And then after a pause,— I've just now learned how to live." She wanted to live to serve her Master and her regret was that she had not served Him better.
She was not afraid at all to die but dreaded the suffering which might come with the final struggle. But her desire was granted. There was no struggie. She slipped quietly away. Like a tired child she closed her eyes to earth and opened them in Heaven.
The funeral service was held at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon
