CONTINUED QUARRERING ENDS IN SHOOTING

Mrs. Vivian Doggett Empties Revolver at Husband and Two of the Shots Take Effect.

As a culmination of a quarrel which had continued for a couple of weeks and which arose over the attention her husband had been paying to another woman, Harry Doggett, a switchman in the local yards, was shot by his wife, Mrs. Vivian Doggett during the noon hour Friday. The shooting occurred in the apartments over the Marti meat market which Mrs. Doggett conducts as a rooming house. During a violent quarrel, in which Mrs. Doggett says dishes from the dinner table were flung at her by her husband, she ran to Doggett's coat, which was lying on a trunk and taking a revolver from the pocket, fired five times at him. Two of the bullets took effect, one making a furrow along the stomach, the other entering the right shoulder and lodging against the bone of the arm, but not shattering it. Having emptied the gun, Mrs. Doggett phoned the sheriff that she had shot her husband. She was at once placed under arrest and at the same time the wounded man was hurried to the North Platte General hospital and given the proper attention.

Mrs. Doggett was arraigned before Judge French Saturday morning and plead not guilty to the charge of maliciously attempting to kill.

The preliminary hearing of the defendant was held Saturday afternoon, Doggett being able to appear in court and testify. He admitted that he and his wife had quarreled, but they had not quarreled on the day of the shooting. He had applied for a pass preparatory to going to Omaha to resign, but before leaving had gone to his home. While there his wife stepped to the phone and rang up some one, and then coming to the doorway of the room opened fire on him. Mrs. Doggett was bound over to the district court in the sum of five hundred dollars. She furnished bond and was released from custody.

Can't Build Road on Wind.

It will probably be several years before the road between North Platte and Maxwell over the new Lincoln Highway bridge can be put in good shape. To make a fairly good road will cost $3,000 to $4,000, and it will require several annual levies to create this needed amount. The commissioners are anxious to have this road built, but they can't build it on wind.

CONFERS WITH COMMISSION RELATIVE TO RATES

While in Lincoln last week Julius Pizer conferred with the state railway commissioners relative to freight rates in connection with the proposed opening of a wholesale grocery in North Platte. The matter was discussed at length and taken under advisement by the commission. Upon their ruling will depend whether it will be possible to open a wholesale house, as the all important item is the freight tariff on carload lots from the east as well as the west.

C. J. Lane, general freight agent of the Union Pacific, will be here in a week or so and will go over the rate situation with Mr. Pizer and others who are promoting the enterprise. No difficulty will be experienced in securing all the capital needed.

Will Mend Roads.

The city council will expend about six hundred dollars—all the funds now available for that purpose—in mending the roads leading to the North Platte and South Platte bridges. Just at present we do not know of any road, considering the amount of traffic that needs fixing much worse, particularly the road to the south bridge. Under a comparatively new law a city of North Platte's size can make a small levy annually for improving roads within a limit of six miles, which is a good law. Too much money cannot be expended on roads entering North Platte; in fact we will never be able to raise the funds to put them in the shape that they should be, but we can raise enough to make some improvement in their condition.

Card of Thanks.

We extend our sincere thanks to friends, neighbors and members of fraternal orders for the many acts of kindness shown us following the death of the late Mrs. L. C. Hansen and for the beautiful floral tributes.
