NORTH PLATTE TAKES TWO FROM SCOTTS BLUFF

North Platte again displayed its strength on the ball diamond by taking two games from the strong Scotts Bluff team, the Sunday game by a score of one to nothing, and yesterday's five inning game—called on account of the rain—by a score of seven to nothing. The Sunday game was exceptionally well played, in fact it is said to have been one of the best ever witnessed on the local lot. Canin, the new pitcher for North Platte, made his initial appearance, and he had the Bluffites at his mercy, allowing but five hits, striking out ten and making a hit that resulted in the only run of the game. His work satisfied the fans that he is some pitcher. The visiting twirler, Stolz, is no slouch, for though he was touched up for seven hits, they were so scattered as to bring in but one run. He fanned nine of Jake's men.

With Jackson and Walworth as the opposing pitchers, yesterday's game started well, and promised a repetition of Sunday's contest. In the third inning, however the locals touched up Jackson for three hits, there were a couple of bunched plays on the part of the visitors, and the inning closed with five runs by Jake's gladiators. In the fifth two more were added to the string—and then came the rain. Only once in the five frames did the Bluffites get a man on third.

Old timers pronounce last week to have been the most oppressive they ever experienced in this section—hot, dry and warm wind. Sunday evening a light rain fell, cooling the parched ground and lowering the temperature. Another shower came last evening.

Friends in town received word Friday afternoon of the death of Mrs. Harry Dunlap, of Stapleton, who died suddenly of apoplexy at the age of forty-three. The deceased was formerly Miss Daisy Crawford and resided here for a number of years. She was married here to Jack Marr who was killed in a railroad accident and later married to Harry Dunlap, who with one daughter, Miss Helen Marr, twelve years of age, survives her. Mrs. Dunlap had frequently visited in town with the Frazier and Miltonberger families.

The Tribune man, son Leslie and Horton Munger returned Saturday evening from a ten day auto trip in Wyoming and Colorado. Going to Encampment, Wyoming, four and a half days were spent along the trout streams, but fishing was poor on account of the number of fishermen who are continually whipping the streams. From Encampment a return was made to Tie Siding, thence south to Ft. Collins and Estes Park, back to Loveland and then home via Greeley, Fort Morgan and Sterling. The drive from Tie Siding to Estes Park is through about ninety miles of exceptionally fine scenery, and for the greater part of the distance the roads are perfect. The trip covered 965 miles.

NORTH PLATTE'S CHAUTAUQUA OPENS THIS AFTERNOON

North Platte's Chautauqua will open this afternoon at the grounds on south Dewey street and for seven days our citizens will have an opportunity to hear the most expensive and best talent that has ever been presented to them through a Chautauqua. While all the talent is good, the Thaviu's band and the "Melting Pot" are the headliners, which if presented separately would cost the price of a Chautauqua season ticket alone.

The program this afternoon will be the Hungarian orchestra and ex-Congressman J. Adam Bede, and this evening, in addition to the concert by this noted orchestra, Mr. Bede will again lecture, his second appearance being an added attraction to the full week's program.

The committee of citizens backing the Chautauqua have disposed of 625 season tickets, which is practically sufficient to meet the guarantee, but they are anxious to sell more in order that they may have a surplus to meet any deficit that might occur next year.

The large sale of season tickets together with the single admissions insures a crowded tent at each session.

MRS. ARTHUR PLUMER DIES AT VICTOR, N. Y., SUNDAY

Mrs. Arthur W. Plumer, of this city, died at the home of her father at Victor, N. Y., Sunday morning. Though Mrs. Plumer was not strong physically and had been in the east for two years by reason of poor health, her passing away was apparently sudden. Saturday Mr. Plumer received a wire stating that his wife's condition was serious, and he left on the first train. Sunday a telegram was received stating that she had passed away, death occurring before Mr. Plumer had reached her bedside.

Though Mrs. Plumer had not long resided in North Platte—having lived in Denver following her marriage—she won the highest regard and esteem from those who formed her acquaintance. She was a refined and accomplished lady, with an unusual degree of solicitude for the welfare of her relatives and friends. The attitude of Denver proved too great for her physical condition, and after residing there a couple of years after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Plumer came to North Platte to make their home. This climate, however, proved no better than Denver and physicians advised a return to the east, where she had spent the past two years. Improvement in condition seemed to be gradual, and her letters to her husband were cheerful and hopeful. The telegram summoning Mr. Plumer east therefore came as a shock to him.
