NEVILLE IS SATISFIED WITH OUTLOOK FOR SUCCESS.

(Lincoln Journal.)

Regardless of any and all impressions to the contrary Keith Neville, democratic nominee for governor, is satisfied with the democratic outlook and with the party organization back of his candidacy. If the democratic nominee has a grievance, such grievance is directed at the anti-saloon league of Nebraska. Such satisfaction and such grievance were aired by Mr. Neville in his room at the Lincoln hotel Friday afternoon.

Keith Neville is doing the picnic. He attended a gathering at Eagle Thursday night and is booked for a celebration at Dorchester Saturday. His time in Lincoln was spent on a get-acquainted tour with democrats. He spent much of the afternoon at the city hall.

Regardless of rumor that Candidate Neville did not pay a visit to Mayor Bryan at the city hall and that the mayor did not call at the candidate's quarters at the hotel, it was assured by the candidate himself that all is harmonious within the ranks and that lines of caste and discrimination have been washed away. If there is a ruffle on the democratic sea, such ruffle is without and beyond the knowledge of Mr. Neville.

The head of the democratic ticket is outspoken in denunciation of the campaign methods of the anti-saloon league. The latter organization is accused of alleging that a candidate is unsafe unless he stands firmly in favor of the adoption of the proposed dry amendment. Mr. Neville is opposed to the amendment as a political measure. "A man's personal views should not enter into a state political issue," says the candidate. Mr. Neville argues that the fundamental principle of the initiative and referendum is that all issues submitted to popular vote shall be non-partisan.

The head of the democratic state ticket believes he is a safe man. He argues that since he carried his home city, 420 to 94, at the recent primary, such tribute should carry some weight as to his ability and qualification to carry out the will of the people. He insists that both himself and the republican nominee are pledged by the same bond. To enforce the amendment if it carries and becomes a law. Since both democratic and republican are bound by the same pledge ties, Candidate Neville cannot appreciate the stand taken by the anti-saloon league.

Although opposed to the amendment as a political issue, Mr. Neville said that time for a discussion of merit of the measure must be reserved for election day. He would not venture an opinion as to the likelihood of passage of the amendment. "It's too early to venture a prediction." Although Friday was a comparatively cool day in Lincoln the democratic candidate was found in his room collarless and in shirt sleeve. Atmospheric conditions had small effect on a political battle in which the heat was already noticeable.

Mr. Neville expressed satisfaction over progress already made. He was pleased with the personnel of campaign managers. He is of the opinion that the democrats will win this fall.

MRS. SARAH BUCHANAN PASSES AWAY TUESDAY NIGHT

Mrs. Sarah A. Buchanan, mother of Butler Buchanan, Mrs. Miltonberger and Mrs. Davidson, of this city, and for more than thirty years a resident of this county, died Tuesday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. M. Baskin at Stapleton. The remains were brought to this city Wednesday, and the funeral held last evening at the Davidson home. Rev. Cram conducting the service. Interment was made in the North Platte cemetery along side of the husband, who died eleven years ago.

Sarah Waugh Buchanan was born in Washington county, Pa., October 1, 1832, and was one of a family of eight children. In 1846 her mother died, and the care of the other children rested largely on Sarah and the older sister until March 19, 1850, when Sarah was united in marriage to O. H. P. Buchanan, at her father's home in Pennsylvania. Here they lived until the spring of 1853, when they came west to Henry county, Iowa. They lived on the Iowa farm until the fall of 1854, when they came to Lincoln county and located in what is now Buchanan precinct, and which was named for Mr. Buchanan.

Following the death of her husband on May 7th, 1905, Mrs. Buchanan had made her home with her daughter Mrs. Callie B. Davidson in this city. At the time of her death she was visiting her daughter in Stapleton.

Of the eight children born to Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan five are living. They are Mrs. Ira Miltonberger, Mrs. Callie B. Davidson and Butler Buchanan of this city, Mrs. W. M. Baskin, of Stapleton, and Thomas D. Buchanan, of Kansas City.

This devoted mother, loved and cherished by her children and honored and respected by neighbors and friends, lived a long and useful life. She was a consistent christian from childhood, uniting with the Presbyterian church early in life, and remaining a loyal member to the end. Trusting in the promise that "whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die," she has passed to her reward—the life eternal.

Band Concert Program

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. C. J. Cox, who was recently operated upon for appendicitis at the North Platte General Hospital, has gone home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Toole returned Wednesday evening from Stromsburg where they visited relatives for three weeks.

Mrs. D. T. Quigley, of Omaha, formerly of this city, came last evening to visit her mother Mrs. Anna Seyferth for two weeks.

Wheat dropped two cents in the Chicago market yesterday, the cash price for No. 2 ranging from $1.42 to $1.43. September wheat in Omaha opened at $1.35 1/2 and closed at $1.36 1/4.

D. B. McNeel is reported to have sold at Hershey the early part of this week one hundred and thirty-four hogs averaging two hundred pounds each at $9.00 per hundred. That's a nice bunch of money.

Weather forecast for North Platte and vicinity: Partly cloudy tonight; probable showers Saturday; cooler Saturday afternoon. Highest temperature yesterday 92, a year ago 81; lowest last night 68, a year ago 64.

"Billy" Sunday and officers of the Nebraska Dry Federation left for Grand Island on a special train at four o'clock yesterday afternoon. This special is said to have cost a dollar a mile plus the fare of the passengers.

His Backbone is a Spring.

The snapping bug has a spring in his back, like a knife. When not in use as a spring it serves him as a backbone, so you see he is a believer in scientific efficiency and makes one part of his machinery do the work of two. His spring backbone, or backbone spring if you prefer, gives him power to jump, which in turn gives him his name. Nature probably gave him the spring to help him get on his feet when he's on his back. You've noticed how helpless some insects are when you lay them on their backs. Not this one, however. He slips his backbone out of its groove and then slips it back again suddenly. The spring pops him up in the air, he turns a somersault and drops right side up. Spring backbones are common in several other beetles. The beetle of the pestiferous wire worm, which destroys the farmer's crops, has a spring in his back. Other members of the family make their homes in trees or decayed wood.—Philadelphia North American.

Resourceful Burglar.

A constable going the rounds of his beat in London a few nights ago noticed a light in a house from which the family and servants had gone out of town. "After the officer had pulled the bell several times a man put his head out of the bedroom window to say that he would be down in a few minutes. He came down in a dressing gown and carrying a candle in his hand.

The constable explained his suspicion, whereupon the man stated that he had just run up to town to see that all was right. After chatting for a little he invited the constable to have a glass of wine. He lit the dining room gas and produced a bottle of port. After they had drunk each other's health he let the constable out and bolted the door after him.

The man lost no time in getting the "swag" together and left the house by another exit.

Giving a Horse Its Name.

The shire horse owes its name to Arthur Young's remarks, in the description of his agricultural tours during the closing years of the eighteenth century, concerning the large old English black horse, "the produce principally of the shire counties in the heart of England." But long previous to that the word "shire" in connection with horses was used in statutes of Henry VIII. Under the various names of the war horse, the great horse, the old English black horse and the shire horse the breed has for centuries been cultivated in the rich fen lands of Lincolnshire and Cambridgeshire and in many counties of the west. Curiously enough, the Shire Horse society, which has done so much to promote the breed, was known for the first six years of its existence, which began in 1878, as the English Cart Horse society.—London Chronicle.

The First War.

The first writing known to scholars was the account of a war waged between hostile nations in Mesopotamia, perhaps 3500 B. C. The first battle was that between Cain and Abel. Apparently men have always been quick to settle their differences by fighting. The first warlike king is said to have been Osymandias of Egypt, who passed into Asia and conquered Bactria in 2100 B. C. Palamedes Bagoas is mythically reported to have been the first who ranged an army in a regular line of battle, placed sentinels round a camp and excited the soldier's vigilance by giving him a password. This occurred during the siege of Troy, the date of which is variously estimated at about 2,500 years before the Christian era.—Pittsburgh Press.

Hippocratic Face.

The hippocratic face is a condition of the human face produced by death, long illness, excessive hunger and the like. The nose is pinched, the temples hollow, the eyes sunken, the ears cold and retracted, the skin of the forehead dry, the complexion livid and the lips relaxed with cold. This appearance is so named from having been accurately described by Hippocrates, the father of medicine.

Miss Maud Rees, who is spending the summer with the home folks at Elsie, will give a house party this week. Among the guests from this city are Misses Elaine Bundy, Margaret Craigie, Maud Owens, Esther Hummel and Helen Minshall.

Deputy Sheriff Roy Wilson returned yesterday morning from Mason City where he went this week to arrest Bob Canady for wife desertion. Canady was placed in the county jail and will be given a hearing in the county court. The family which he left in destitute circumstances reside on east Sixth street.

Maxwell

$595 We could claim 41 1-2 Horsepower and probably you wouldn't know the difference

F. O. B. DETROIT

"HORSEPOWER" is a misleading phrase. It is sometimes wrongly used to carry the idea of something unusual, exceptional—some startling innovation.

We don't claim anything we can't prove. We don't mislead by reference to a technical subject you don't understand.

We've got something real to talk about. Examine the Maxwell car—its complete equipment. Note the attractive appearance. Consider its reputation and its unequalled record for performance.

The price includes all the horsepower you need to take you anywhere and as fast as you want to go.
