DELANEY CHASED BY WILD HOGS IN FLORIDA TIMBER

Sport Somewhat New to North Platte Engineer and When Animals Charge He Climbs a Tree.

Claude Delaney, one of North Platte's well known locomotive engineers and also a mighty hunter, has been in Tampa, Fla., for a week or two as the guest of Fred Warren, who frequently comes here to visit and hunt, and on several of those occasions has been Delaney's guest. It is therefore meet and proper that while Delaney is in Florida that Warren should give him a taste of southern hunting. In a letter to Joe Schwaiger Delaney tells of his experience, stating that quail are plentiful but that it is all timber shooting and that in this timber wild hogs exist in abundance. "One day last week while hunting quail," writes Delaney, "the d— wild hogs got after me, and you bet I didn't lay off like I did on that bear that clawed my leg at Northport—I got the start running pretty lively, and I yelled to him asking what the matter was, and then I saw a pack of wild hogs coming for me—they had been attracted by my voice. "Run for your life," yelled Warren, and you bet I did, discarding my gun and surplus accoutrements as I ran. Seeing they were sure to overtake me, I watched for the first easy tree to climb, and shinned, just as one big long-tusked vicious boar made a lunge at my dangling leg—but he didn't get me. Seeing that I was out of reach, they started to renew their chase of Warren, but by that time he had put too much distance behind him and the hogs gave up the chase. After remaining in the tree for fifteen minutes I descended, resuscitated my gun and trekked after Warren whom I shortly found, and the first words he said were: "Wouldn't it be fun to see those hogs chase Joe Schwaiger."

Mrs. Chas. O'Rourke Dies.
Mrs. Chas. O'Rourke, formerly Miss Anna Neary, of this city, died at her home in Fleming, Col., Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. O'Rourke made their home in Brady for a number of years, but moved to Fleming two or three years ago. The funeral was held at Sterling this forenoon.

Her heart was in the gold fields of the north, but a heart shadow was cast over hers when her mother bartered her to another to escape her bad debts and keep her social position. The name "The Combat" in the Vitagraph photoplay showing at the Keith Wednesday. It was her heart against her second husband's brain. Anita Stuart stars and gives a supreme portrayal between being bigamist, a loveless marriage and undying faith.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY FAIR ASSOCIATION

Stockholders Meet Saturday and Elect Fifteen Directors—Plan Several New Buildings this Year.

The stockholders of the Lincoln County Agricultural Association held their first annual meeting Saturday, elected a board of directors composed of fifteen members, selected officers for the ensuing year, and planned several new buildings.

The directors elected were: John Fowler, A. F. Blankenburg, Warren Doellittle, Albert Coolidge, Earl Hamilton, Scott Reynolds, F. C. Pielsticker, C. E. Snyder, George Shoup, Frank Strollberg, Neale Turpie, J. C. Wilson, C. W. Walters and T. E. McCrone. These directors selected the following officers for the ensuing year: F. C. Pielsticker president, J. C. Wilson vice president, Warren Doellittle secretary, and John Fowler treasurer.

Among the new buildings planned for this year are two cattle barns 40x80 feet each, a fine arts hall, and suitable buildings for the chicken and hog exhibits. The grand stand and bleachers will be increased to double their present capacity.

Blanche Sweet in "The Clue," a mystery story of the most fascinating and absorbing nature such as ought to delight the thousands of sharp witted persons who love to solve mysteries, will be shown at the Crystal Thursday night. BUFFALO BILL IS TOLD THE END DRAWS NEAR Attending Physician Tells Old Scout Last Night that Death May Come in Thirty-Six Hours.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 8.—Colonel William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill), is dying in Denver tonight, facing death in the same manner that he has faced it many a time on the plains of the west in conflicts that made his name famous.

The "greatest plainsman the west ever knew," heard the warning words of the approach of the end of his life today from Dr. J. H. East, his physician and friend. Colonel Cody had summoned the physician to the home of his sister, where he is spending his last hours. When Dr. East walked into his room, Colonel Cody said: "Sit down, Doctor, there is something I want to ask you, I want you to answer me honestly. What are my chances?"

"There is a time, Colonel," said he, "when every honest physician must command his patient to a higher power."

Colonel Cody's head sank. "How long?" he asked, simply. "I can answer that," said the physician, "only by telling you your life is like the hour glass; slowly—but soon the sand will all be gone. The end is not far away."

Colonel Cody turned to his sister, Mrs. May Decker. "May," said he, "let the Elks and Masons take charge of the funeral." Then the man who made history in the west when it was young, began methodically to arrange his affairs.

Dr. East tonight said death would come within thirty-six hours. Hundreds of telegrams from men of prominence from all over the country came today. Many boys from different parts of the United States wrote to him.

Horse Breaks Leg Last Night.
