

Nebraska Druggists Praise Excellent Kidney Medicine

After selling Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root for fifteen years and knowing that it has been the means of producing satisfied customers, I am pleased to recommend it and believe that it is equal to the best preparation on the market for kidney ailments. I have never heard a single party say that it did not accomplish good results.

Very truly yours,
C. J. FLEMING, Druggist.

We have been selling Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root ever since it was placed on the market. There is no proprietary that we sell that gives better general satisfaction than Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. The sale is steady and the results satisfactory. I do not know of a case where the party complained that it did not do all that you advertise.

Very truly yours,
C. C. McLEESE, Druggist.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

Uncle Sam Searching for German Submarine Base

WASHINGTON.—A systematic investigation has been started by American government officials for the purpose of finding out where the German submarines believed to be operating off the coast of South America are obtaining their supply of fuel oil and provisions.

Naval experts who have been consulted have expressed the conviction that the only possible sources of the oil supply are in the oil fields of Tampico, Mexico, or in the United States. American or other neutral tank ships are suspected of being the medium through which oil is conveyed to the submarines. Naval officers are also convinced that one or more German submarine bases are being maintained on some out-of-the-way island in the Caribbean sea. It is known that German interests control considerable oil deposits near Tampico, where the principal British supply is also located. It is realized, however, that these German-owned fields would be of no use to the German submarines unless ships could be obtained to transport the supply, and it is realized also that the only facilities for transporting it would be those afforded by American or neutral ships, there being no German merchant vessels available for the purpose.

While all ships taking on oil at any port are supposed to get clearance papers for a definite port or destination, it is suspected that some of these are stopping at some secret base and there depositing some of their oil cargo. Mexican port authorities of easy conscience, it is suspected, are certifying, for a consideration, to "short" cargoes whereas in fact the vessels under suspicion may be clearing with full cargoes. In this way, it is pointed out, the vessels could dispose of part of their oil en route without there being a discrepancy between the amount of the cargo certified to at the point of departure and the amount deposited at the final port of destination.

Equestrian Indian Statue for National Capital

AT LAST the national capital may have one equestrian Indian statue, a site for which is suggested in the Smithsonian grounds between the Smithsonian buildings and the New National museum, if the proposal made by Franklin Steele, Jr., a Washington authority on sculpture, is carried out.

This statue is "The Scout," the work of Cyrus E. Dallin, standing about ten feet high. For this statue Mr. Dallin received a gold medal at the Panama-Pacific exposition. It is temporarily located in Kansas City, having been recently cast in bronze.

A Sioux brave is shown on his pony, and so impressive is the work and so true to type that when a number of Sioux Indians saw the effigy they cried out, "Lakota," meaning "the Sioux." The proposal for having this statue placed in some Washington park is thus outlined by Mr. Steele, as follows:

"If this statue could be acquired by the city it would add greatly to our ornamental features and would, no doubt, meet with the approval of the fine arts commission. An ideal place to locate, if we are fortunate enough to secure it, would be in the grounds of the Smithsonian institution, where it could stand out boldly between it and the New National museum, standing, as it does, ten feet high. Evidently this statue of the Indian scout represents an aborigine of early days.

"Before the statue in question is disposed of there should be an effort on the part of the people of this city to add this fine work of art to other ornamentations of beautiful Washington."

White House Policeman Always Picks Newlyweds

"DOPING Them Right, or Spotting Newlyweds," would be an excellent title for one chapter in the life of Policeman C. E. Dalrymple, one of the uniformed officers who stand guard at the doors of the executive offices of the White House, and who probably has welcomed more newly married couples than any other individual in Washington ever has seen.

Dalrymple has been on duty at the White House since 1903. It is said that nine out of every ten bridal couples that come to Washington on their honeymoon visit the White House. As Dalrymple is on duty in the daytime, he "catches" them all.

His 13 years of duty at the executive offices has made him an adept in "spotting" the newly weds the moment they enter the White House grounds. If he is on the inside, the moment they mount the steps and come inside the storm doors Dalrymple gets their number.

He says there are no fixed rules for "spotting" the honeymooners. "You just simply know it. It must be intuition," he said. "But they rarely ever get by without being recognized."

"What is my formula? That's a hard question. "You see that couple strolling down this way?" the policeman asked, as he pointed to a young fellow and girl headed toward the executive offices some distance away. The man was holding the girl's arm, and they were looking into each other's faces as they strolled along.

"They are not married," Dalrymple explained. "There are many other persons in the White House grounds now, and they know it. The average newly wed is self-conscious, and while proud of the fact that he is married, always is trying to conceal it. He wouldn't dare catch the arm of his bride in crowded grounds like these. Neither would each gaze into the other's eyes while in company. They think that such an act would easily label them as just married."

"Even if they did not say a word, seven times out of each ten you would be able to spot a recently married pair by their clothing. Whenever you see a girl with gray shoes, stockings, dress and hat to match, you can bet your last dollar that she's a bride. But few women that come to the White House ever have complete costumes, each garment and piece matching the other in detail, unless they are part of their trousseau."

Crack in New Quarter Makes It Seem Counterfeit

A CRACK in the edge of a coin which deadened the sound when the piece of metal was dropped on a marble or wooden surface, so worried some honest resident of Maine that he sent it to President Wilson and asked that the money experts of the government examine it and see where the trouble lies.

It was one of the new "two-bit" pieces. The Maine resident thought it was counterfeit, and when the coin was tested by the amateurs at the White House executive offices, they, too, agreed with him.

One of the secret service men attached to the executive mansion was told of the existence of the alleged spurious piece of money.

"How do you know it is not genuine?" he asked. "Because it does not 'ring' when tossed on a table," was the reply. "Ten to one that it's genuine, and I haven't seen it," was the expert's answer.

He took the new coin, placed it under a magnifying glass, and a tiny crack on the edge, which the glass developed into a huge gap, was seen. The secret service man inserted the point of a knife blade and further opened it. "The coin is genuine," he said. "It has not been out long enough to be counterfeited yet."

The new 25-cent piece was returned to the Dark Harbor, Me., resident, with the information that the money was perfectly good.

Too Sick To Work

Many Women in this Condition Regain Health by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Convincing Proof of This Fact.

Ridgway, Penn. — "I suffered from female trouble with backache and pain in my side for over seven months so I could not do any of my work. I was treated by three different doctors and was getting discouraged when my sister-in-law told me how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her. I decided to try it, and it restored my health, so I now do all of my household work which is not light as I have a little boy three years old."

—Mrs. O. M. RHINES, Ridgway, Penn.

Mrs. Lindsey Now Keeps House For Seven.

Tennille, Ga.—"I want to tell you how much I have been benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About eight years ago I got in such a low state of health I was unable to keep house for three in the family. I had dull, tired, dizzy feelings, cold feet and hands nearly all the time and could scarcely sleep at all. The doctor said I had a severe case of ulceration and without an operation I would always be an invalid, but I told him I wanted to wait awhile. Our druggist advised my husband to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has entirely cured me. Now I keep house for seven and work in the garden some, too. I am so thankful I got this medicine. I feel as though it saved my life and have recommended it to others and they have been benefited."

—Mrs. W. E. LINDSEY, R. R. 3, Tennille, Ga.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF HAIR STOPS FALLING

Girls! Try This! Makes Hair Thick, Glossy, Fluffy, Beautiful—No More Itching Scalp.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—then really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable luster, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any store, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Adv.

What Is Uric Acid?

Everyone has uric acid in the system, but naturally in small quantities. Excessive amount is caused by eating too much meat and foods that ferment in stomach. The kidneys, being the filters of the blood, are supposed to separate and throw the poisons out of the system. Weak, tired and overworked kidneys fail to do this, hence the uric acid accumulates and the urate salts are carried by the blood to the solid tissue structure, causing backache, lumbago, rheumatism, dropsy, drowsiness, and tired feeling.

To overcome the trouble is only a matter of toning up the kidneys, and this is best done by a treatment with Anuric, three times a day. Anuric is a recent discovery of Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., and can be obtained at any drug store. Experience taught Doctor Pierce that Anuric is a more powerful agent than lithia in dissolving uric acid, and it is then carried out of the system.
