All work is carefully inspected and must be perfect before it leaves our shop.

You don't need anyone to tell you that our glasses are a help and a comfort. You are sure of it the moment you put them on.

We have our own lense grinding machinery and can make new lenses or duplicate your old ones on short notice.

Polishing Coral.
Although Venetia is a center for tourist trade in coral and shell cameos, coral itself is neither gathered nor worked there. The manufacture is confined to Torre del Greco. Polishing coral in quantities is an interesting feature of the work. It is placed in a small bag of strong, raw linen together with crushed pumice stone, and the bag is shaken in a special tube with a hole for drainage under a small column of water. When the coral is well pumiced it is washed and passed into a clean bag. Instead of the pumice the so called "pulimento" (red or white) is used, and the former operation is repeated, first without water, then with a little and finally with much water, when the coral has become brilliant. What the "pulimento" is the inhabitants of Torre del Greco, while so proud and jealous of their industry, have never taken the trouble to find out, as indeed, what the "aqua ossigenata" (hydrogen peroxide) is, which is used to change the color of the coral, black when extracted from the sea, to red. As for the "pulimento," it is not different from that which the jewelers use to polish precious stones.—Exchange.
