

Watches for Railroad Men

Clinton offers railroad men the latest models in standard railroad watches, at prices representing the greatest possible watch values. Our unqualified guarantee is back of each timepiece. If anything goes wrong with a watch we sell within a year, barring accidents, no charge is made for making the repairs, and a new guarantee for a year from that date is given you. Come in and look at railroad watches. You will not be asked to buy.

Saturday morning Mrs. Frank Elliott received a box of beautiful Easter lilies and roses in perfect condition from her father W. T. Banks who recently located in California. They were distributed among many friends of Mr. Banks.

Claude Moore, aged fifteen and Lee Parsons aged twelve, both of Lexington, started out last week "to see the world," but they only got as far as this city, when they were taken up and kept until the deputy sheriff arrived and took them home. One was armed with a revolver with which to keep off Indians they expected to meet in the west.

Mrs. Mary Hill, of Chicago, formerly of this city, arrived here Friday evening to visit her parents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Yost.

Miss Irene O'Donnell, of Cheyenne, formerly of this city visited for several days past with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Haungrig.

L. D. Burgnor left Saturday morning for Grand Island to spend a week after which he will join the U. S. navy as machinist.

Have your painting, paper hanging and decorating done now by Landgraf Hoga. We also do sign work. Phone Blk 692.

The marriage of Miss Veronica Stuart and Albert Kjar, of Lexington, is announced for Wednesday, April 13th. Miss Stuart has frequently visited friends here and is well known among many local people.

Jack Hauser says the efforts of The Tribune to send him to Billings, Mont., are fruitless; he doesn't want to go and in fact positively refuses to go. He proposes to remain here in North Platte and look after the sale of oil and gas in his western Nebraska territory.

Richard Harding Davis' story, "Somewhere in France," will be the feature on the Triangle program at the Keith Thursday with Louise Glau and Howard Hickman in the leading roles. It is a story of adventure and intrigue and is particularly timely. With this will be shown the comedy "Haystacks and Steeples."

During the first three months of 1917 Secretary of State Pool issued 3,343 more automobile licenses than during the whole of 1916. He predicts at least 150,000 automobiles in the state for the current year, putting Nebraska at the head in the per capita number of cars. Iowa now leads the United States, with Nebraska second, the number of cars in 1916 was 109,531.

"ADLER COLLEGIAN INSPECTED"

These words mean a great deal to us as sellers of clothes.
They mean a great deal to you as a purchaser of clothes.

The Adler-Collegian system of inspection starts with the goods in the bolt. This inspection is made by fabric experts who received their training in our country's largest woolen mills.

Then, at three different stages in the manufacturing process, each garment must undergo examination by three different inspectors, each an authority in his field. There is the inspection after cutting, the inspection "in the rough" before the garment is finished, and the final inspection of the complete garment before it leaves the shop.

This, of course, does not include the careful scrutiny which we give each garment in each consignment coming into our store.

A suit that has thus five times had an expert's O. K. placed on it, merits your careful attention. It comes to you as nearly perfect in fit, form and fabric as human experience can make it.

The new line of "Adler Collegian Inspected" suits is now ready for you.

SHOULD NOT ENGENDER FEELDS, SAYS MAYOR

Having served four years as mayor through the indulgence of the citizens of North Platte, I deem it no more than proper that I express to them my sincere gratification for their wisdom and cooperation.

Disregarding differences of opinion, which merely reflect a healthy state of mind, I have but few instances in mind wherein anything but fair and just treatment was accorded, and those instances, I am retiring with only the deepest feeling of gratitude and well wishing toward every man, woman and child in the city and of supreme pride in this city of big hearts and broad minds.

It would be an almost unthinkable thing to be carried, through circumstances, to a foreign land and to bear arms against this my native city, my kin and friends, but many of our best and most desirable citizens are doing that very thing in principal today. It behooves us to be unusually considerate of their feelings, to be sane and temperate in our remarks. To remember that we must not engender any social feuds to survive this war and our German brethren should always remember that they are giving undivided loyalty that the doctrine of the equality of man may be scattered broadest and our principals of government, in which they believe, imported to the world.

Our business now is not local betterment, but attention to the wants of our country and for the time being our untempered devotion to her shall be the primary test of citizenship and the manifest duty of all.

Respectfully,
E. H. EVANS.

Barrett Will Lecture

G. E. Barrett chief electrician of the U. S. navy, who comes here April 14th to 17th to enlist men in the U. S. navy, will give a lecture Saturday evening, April 14th, at the Franklin auditorium. His subject will be "Submarine Boats and Torpedoes and their Use in Modern Warfare." The lecture will be illustrated with chalk drawings.

Notice to Property Owners

Those who rake leaves and other rubbish into the street ditches must burn or remove the same at once. In cases where an attempt to burn has been made and not all has burned the remainder must be removed.

We are all interested in a clean looking city; will you do your part?

A banquet was held Sunday evening at the Lonesomeclub for the seven students of the state university who were spending their Easter vacation here and are member of the club.

Mary Pickford will be seen at the Crystal Thursday in a drama of hearts and swords, "Mistress Nell." Mistress Nell was one of the greatest heroines of historic and romantic drama and Miss Pickford makes the portrayal very real.

Flour made a material advance at the mills the latter part of last week and three-dollar-a-bushel prices are certain to come shortly. This also means another raise in the price of bread at the bakeries. With flour, meat and potatoes at such heights, what the dickens can we eat that is cheap?

Mrs. Henry Waltham while crossing the street at Fifth and B streets Sunday evening was run into and knocked down by an auto. Fortunately the injury received was slight. The driver of the car was a woman who lost her head and instead of turning away from Mrs. Waltham, turned into her.

"The love of money is the root of all evil." This phrase is the basis of "Greens" showing at the Keith tonight. Directly assisting Nance O'Neil will be Robert Elliott who supported Margaret Tillington on the legitimate stage. The chasing of the elusive riches is a pursuit in which we are all engaged and it is often a problem to know where to draw the line.

Arcey of Omaha, a former resident will be the guest of honor and the guests will be her friends and schoolmates of former years.

Ten young ladies were guests at a bridge party Thursday evening at the home of Miss Elizabeth Hinman where she entertained for Miss Harriet Dixon. The luncheon was served on a prettily decorated table and bouquet of snap dragons were used in the decorations. Favors were appropriate to Easter and place cards were hand-painted steamer trunks and cups.

Miss Helen Watts, of Corning, Ia., was hostess to ten young ladies Saturday afternoon at one o'clock luncheon at the home of Mrs. R. C. Langford. The guest of honor was Miss Harriet Dixon, who will be married to Dr. Frank Conlin of Omaha this evening. The luncheon was served in five courses and table decorations were large bouquets of pink and white sweet peas. Favors were small baskets in the form of pink and white roses and tied with pink ribbon. Place cards were appropriate to the bride elect.

The trousseau tea given the latter part of last week by Miss Harriet Dixon was a pretty and unique social function. Her guests were the ten young ladies who will attend her at her wedding this evening. Decorations were garden flowers in orchid shades and tea was poured by the maid of honor Miss Helen Waltham. Favors were spring poke bonnets filled with confections. The trousseau which is complete in ever detail and very beautiful was displayed in a room set aside for that purpose. Out of town guests were Misses Helen Watts of Corning, Ia., and Gertrude Maytham of Omaha.

A one o'clock luncheon was given yesterday afternoon to the eleven young ladies and seven little girls of the Dixon-Conlin wedding party by Mrs. Henry Waltham and daughters Alma and Helen. The decorations were in rose, pink and white and large bouquets of cut flowers were used on the tables. A basket bouquet of pink roses and ferns was suspended from the chandelier and the center piece was a bridal chariot drawn by tiny Easter chickens and covered with flowers. Attached to this was a small trunk filled with pink gifts for the guest of honor. The nut baskets were tied with rose ribbons. The smaller guests were served at a tiny table with decorations corresponding to those used on the bridal table. Mrs. James Ware, of Blair, poured tea and Mesdames William and Fred Waltham assisted in serving. A guessing contest of flowers was carried out with pink booklets and the prizes awarded to Miss Harriet Dixon and Miss Harriet Fleischmann. Out of town guests were Misses Massey and Maytham of Omaha and Miss Watts of Corning, Iowa.
