LINCOLN COUNTY SCHOOLS COST $173,000 LAST YEAR.

The one big item in the taxes the people of Lincoln county pay is the support of schools. Last year the expense of conducting the schools was $172,973.50. With a population estimated at 19,000, the cost of school is a little over nine dollars per capita, and the cost per pupil per year exceeds thirty-one dollars.

The value of school property in the county is $386,000, and the total bonded indebtedness is $174,375. There are 130 school districts in the county with 150 school buildings, and last year 230 teachers were employed. The number of pupils is 5,573.

Nineteen of the 130 districts have terms of nine months, forty-nine have eight months, forty-seven have seven months. Last year the average salary paid teachers was fifty per month but this year salaries will be increased and the average monthly wage will be sixty dollars.

Total of salaries paid last year were $107,935.66.

During the past year seven new buildings were erected.

This data is obtained from the annual report just completed by Co. Supt. Gantt.

Draft Men Soon to be Called

Washington dispatches appearing in yesterday's papers stated that one-third of the eligibles under the selective draft will be called to the colors September first, and that between September 5th and 15th they will be sent to the mobilization camps which are being prepared by the government. It is probable that this first call for 229,000 men will be apportioned among all the states and the counties of each state and Lincoln county's quota will be thirty-eight or forty men. The other two-thirds will be called as rapidly as the government can take care of them at the concentration camps.

M. K. Barnum, a former district foreman at this terminal and now superintendent of motive power on the Baltimore & Ohio road, is expected to arrive in North Platte today for a brief visit with friends.

He has been an assistant in the engineering college at the University of Nebraska for two years, while doing some regular college work there. He is a married man, above the draft age and comes well recommended.

Miss Viola Myrburg, whose home is at Stromberg, will teach in one of the intermediate grade positions. She is a graduate of the normal training department of Grand Island College and has had both rural and grade experience.

Moving the Ames Monument.

Out on the summit of the Rocky mountains, where the Union Pacific crosses the backbone of the continent, workmen are preparing to move the Ames monument erected thirty-seven years ago to the memory of Oakes Ames and Oliver Ames, the constructors of the Union Pacific. When the new line of road was built this monument was left standing five miles from the present track, and it is now proposed to move it to a point along the Union Pacific new line. The monument is built in the form of a pyramid, sixty feet square at the base and sixty feet high. It will be taken down stone at a time and carried in wagons to the new site just east of the station at Sherman.

The work of the Woman's Committee of National Defense in this county has been turned over to the Twentieth Century club. T. C. Patterson is chairman of the committee of National Defense in this county.

NEBRASKA TROOPS ORDERED TO ENTRAIN FOR DEMING

Today's Bee says: The Nebraska brigade of 6,000 men will begin to entrain for the great concentration camp at Deming, N. M., tomorrow. The order comes from the United States army general staff at Washington.

No announcement has been made as to which troops will be the first to move, and to a certain extent their entrainment will depend upon transport.

Orders for the entrainment of the troops have been in the hands of the mustering officer, Major James W. Heidt, of Lincoln, for weeks. They were sealed and not to be opened till August 1. They set the date of entrainment for August 10, or as near to that date as could be managed.

Some of the troops may begin to move even earlier, others will be a few days later. But within a week the last of the Nebraska brigade will have left Nebraska soil.

As late as nine o'clock this morning Captain Halligan, of Company E had received no orders to move, though he thought it probable he would receive some word during the day. He can get his company in shape to entrain within a few hours.

It is understood that the Union Pacific is prepared to furnish transportation equipment for the company on short notice.
