Give the Telephone Number Distinctly

It is important in making a telephone call to speak the number distinctly.

Several numbers sound much alike over the telephone unless spoken clearly. For example, 9 sounds much like 4, and 2 like 3, and 5 like 9.

In calling a telephone number speak slowly and distinctly, with the lips half an inch from the mouthpiece.

Say "Right" when the operator repeats the number correctly.

If the operator misunderstands, say "No" and give the number again.
