A CATHOLIC PRIEST ON LIFE INSURANCE

(Rev. Father Harrison of Milwaukee, in the Insurance Journal.)

I would encourage every young man, and especially every father of a family, to have his life insured, and not have the widow or dependent friends, in case of misfortune, humiliated to the very earth in seeking charity of this or that organization. We Catholics show much heart in our liberal support of charitable institutions, but we could show more wisdom by removing many of the causes which make them necessary.

Charity is charity. No matter how warm it may be, there is always an element of cold comfort in it when brought home to our own families. Some men seem to be perfectly insensible to the possible needs of others. They follow out a selfish and narrow-minded policy. Among the worst men must ever be ranked those who willfully refuse to provide for their families. We should strive to be practical and in this we can learn wisdom from the shrewd Yankee who, if his salary be not more than one dollar a day for selling notions, generally has filed away in some remote corner of his house a paid-up insurance policy on his life of sufficiently large amount to enable his widow, in case of death, to battle successfully against hunger. Yes, my dear friends, we are behind in these matters, very far behind.

Not long ago I was present at the death of a comparatively young man, who left his widow and five children to be provided for. His great regret was that his wife had persuaded him to discontinue his life insurance payments in order to purchase a piano upon the installment plan. The good woman, I fear, will have more music as a result of her folly than she expected. It is unpardonable foolishness for any woman to barter away the necessities of life for accomplishments doubtfully profitable. I would advise young ladies to demand of any young man, as the first introduction to her friend, a policy of at least $1,000 written on his life. In this I am perfectly serious. His life insurance policy and marriage certificate should both adorn the preliminaries to the wedding breakfast.

I would advise mothers of families to so impertune their husbands that life insurance would be the only condition of domestic peace. Oh, but it costs so much! This is an excuse that springs from shiftlessness. It does not cost five per cent per day for a $1,000 insurance policy. What is $20 a year to a man who spends double that amount to gratify his whims. Usually those who are alarmed at the expense have more money to squander in some life destroyer than in life insurance. But life insurance money is blood money! No; it is bread money, and the man who needlessly denies it to his family is unworthy to have a family. Therefore when God commanded us to not serve wealth as a false god, He did not say that wealth could not serve us.

Joe L. Scudler, who for a year or two has been bookkeeper at the Hendy-Ogier garage, resigned this week to become a member of the Durbin Auto Co., and will look after the office end of that company's business. Mr. Souder through his association with such a progressive firm as the Hendy-Ogier Co. has become versed in practically all the details of the auto business and is a valuable acquisition to the Durbin Company, the members of which are now Albert Durbin, Joe Souder and Walter Kocken, though the latter is still with the Hendy-Ogier Company.

Among the men of the national army who were to have left for Fort Riley yesterday but did not go was Chas. G. Russell, who resides in the south part of the county. Russell had a good excuse, for a few days ago while handling a gun he shot the end off several fingers on his right hand. He reported to the examining board yesterday but of course was excused for the present.

FIRST FOOT BALL GAME WILL BE PLAYED TODAY.

The foot ball season in North Platte will open this afternoon at the athletic park when a team from the high school squad will play the alumni team. This is largely a practice game to get the high school team in shape for the game with the Lincoln high school team which will be played Friday afternoon of next week on the local field. The members of the high school team has not yet been officially selected, and probably will not be until after the game with Lincoln.

The schedule of games for the season has not altogether been completed as to dates, but is known that Sterling, the Curtis Aggies and Lexington will play here in addition to Lincoln, and that North Platte will play at York, Kearney and Curtis.

Coach Oman says that while most of the players who will compose the team are new men, he believes that the team will be up to the average in strength.

As the season for public sales is near, I wish to announce that I have recently located in North Platte and cordially invite you to remember me when employing your auctioneer. I was born in the state of Iowa and at the age of twenty-one moved to northern Saskatchewan, Canada, where I lived until a short time ago. I decided to change my location, as I also wanted to return to the land where Old Glory floats, and where the auction business is better than in the frozen north.

I kindly ask the citizen of Lincoln County to assist me by giving me a chance to demonstrate my ability as an auctioneer as I realize my greatest trouble in getting into business is getting before the public and getting acquainted.

I expect the people of Lincoln County are like those in other counties just a little afraid to trust several thousand dollars worth of property in a stranger's hands, and that is only human nature, but when you decide to have a sale, don't go from 25 to 50 miles to employ an auctioneer before having a talk with me I am always glad to meet and talk and get acquainted, whether I date your sales or not.

I make a specialty of live stock and general farm sales, and am a graduate of one of the best auction schools in U. S. A.

Big Bag of Ducks.

J. C. Den, Ed Rebbhausen, Ed Bell, Jessie Smith, Will Otten and R. D. Birge spent Tuesday morning duck hunting on the North Platte river near Keystone and succeeded in bagging one hundred and fifty ducks—the lawful limit. These hunters got into the river early in the morning and say that they never had better shooting or saw the birds more plentiful.

The Sunset Social

Fifty-five North Platte residents seventy or more years of age, attended the Sunset Social given at the Baptist church Wednesday afternoon. At 12 o'clock noon a three course dinner was served, and following the meal addresses were made by Judge Hoagland, Chas. McDonald and Mr. McDonald and recitations given by Marie Culby, and vocal solos by Mrs. Leininger. After the program, the afternoon being pleasant, the guests were given an auto ride.

The first Sunset Social was given two years ago, and proved such a success that the ladies in charge suggested that a similar function be given each year, and that the ladies of a different church each year act as hostesses. This year the Baptist ladies volunteered, and the dinner and entertainment provided proved pleasing to the guests.
