The time has come when men should scrutinize their wardrobes with the greatest care. Plans should be made to buy Clothing of all kinds this week. Hundreds of men are availing themselves of the unusual assortments at such slaughter prices. Suits may had now for practically any season. Because of the ever increasing cost of wools and cotton the prices of these suits are practically doubled, indeed, it is absolutely impossible to obtain the same good materials in the clothing that is being produced today.
