Occupants of houses quarantined for small-pox are said to be rather careless in observing the quarantine rules, and it has been recommended by City Physician Simms that a man be hired to patrol the infected sections in order that the occupants may not run at large and spread the disease. In several instances the spread of the disease has been traced to this source.

For quick action and satisfactory sale list your land with Thoelecke. A statement in Tuesday's paper conveyed the impression that Leypoldt & Pennington were not shipping hay, while what was meant was that they were not getting nearly the number of cars needed. This firm is shipping hay both east and west, several cars having recently been forwarded to Shelton and Grand Island, two towns located in what was formerly part of Nebraska's hay section. The firm is also shipping east many cars of alfalfa, using for this purpose automobile cars which hold about twenty tons.

NICK CHIRO'S PLEADS GUILTY TO GAMBLING

In the county court Tuesday afternoon, Nick Chiro who conducts a store and Greek rendezvous on east Front street, plead guilty to gambling and was bound over to the district court on $1500 bonds. He furnished surety and was released from custody. Three counts were charged, one for engaging in gambling games, the second for maintaining gambling tables and the third for keeping a gambling house.

The complaining witness was Homer V. Wilson, a young man who has been in town but a few weeks. He came here with considerable money which he obtained through an estate, and according to his statement had lost eight hundred dollars in playing a game somewhat similar to faro, and the cards were worked so quickly and so skillfully that he was not always sure whether he won or lost. In court Nick admitted that he played cards, but he said he objected to being made the "goat." He asserted "that there are twenty-five places in town where gambling is carried on," and "he wanted to know why he was singled out."

Judge Grimes is expected home tonight, and if so Chiro will probably appear before him, plead guilty and receive his sentence; at least he promised he would plead guilty in the district court just as he had in the county court. The maximum penalty for gambling is $500 on each count, or a year in the penitentiary.

Arrange for Hard Coal

John L. Kennedy, federal fuel administrator for Nebraska, has been informed that the national fuel administration has arranged for shipment of considerable quantity of anthracite coal into this state, to relieve the shortage now apparent. One shipper has guaranteed five thousand tons each month while another mine will ship fifteen car loads per day.

Hard coal such as is needed in base burners, is hard to get, there being none available. There is a certainty that not enough hard coal will be available to meet the requirements. People are generally advised through the federal and state fuel commissioners, to conserve as much as possible and use other coal where it can be done.

State committee, to act with Fuel Administrator Kennedy, have already been named and are now in conference. Following this meeting there will be created county committees. The latter will be asked to keep in close touch with the local conditions and forward recommendations that may relieve any serious shortage which threatens or is effective.

"The Pride of the Clan"

Mary Pickford's appearance is always one of charm. No matter whether she is in rags, the silk kimono of Butterfly, the worn out home garments of Tess the Foundling, or the clattering wooden shoes of Hulda, there is always the same charm, the same sweetness and the winsomeness that makes her so appealing to every one.

In her picture, "The Pride of the Clan," to be shown at the Keith Monday and Tuesday, she portrays the Scotch lassie and when clad in kilts and with her golden hair thrown about her gracefully poised head she is more beautiful than ever. It is a character, too, that holds out every opportunity to the star for making it one of the most popular parts she has ever created. In other words, it is an ideal Mary Pickford part and that is just what all of the many Mary Pickford admirers most want.

Goodfellowship Meeting

The Twentieth Century club will hold their annual Goodfellowship meeting and banquet at the Methodist church Tuesday evening, November 13, at seven o'clock. The question will be discussed from the standpoint of the schools by Miss Smith; the community by Miss Selman; the business side by Miss Krampf. The reports from the delegates to the federated club meeting in Omaha will also be given.

Tickets for the banquet are fifty cents and can be obtained by all those holding membership tickets, from any of the heads of the departments.

NORTON APPOINTED DISTRICT FOREMAN AT THE ISLAND.

P. J. Norton, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Norton of this city, who went to Grand Island about a year ago to accept the position of shop foreman, has been promoted to district foreman, succeeding Bob McCabe, who has enlisted in the engineering corps and will soon go to France. The appointment became effective last Monday, and with the wonderful heavy traffic on the road, "Jim" is probably about the busiest man in Grand Island.

Mr. Norton served his apprenticeship in the local shops, and later entered the service of an Iowa road. He returned to North Platte and accepted the position of shop foreman which he held until he went to Grand Island. The fact that he has been promoted to district foreman is evidence that his record with the Union Pacific has been good and his advancement merited, for in these days it is merit that wins. "Jim's" friends in North Platte will be pleased to learn of his promotion.

Investigating Car Conditions

A member of the state railway commission spent several days in town this week investigating the car situation and a representative of the Denver stock yards has also been here securing information as to cars for hay shipments to that city. It is possible that the railway commission may send a man here for a month to assist in securing cars, and the stock yards company may also maintain a man here for several weeks for the same purpose.

RAILROAD NOTES

Freight traffic is not letting up any, getting heavier all the time, train men say. Shipments of green fruit have fallen, but stock shipments have increased, and more coal is moving. Empty coal cars west bound have in some instances been given right of way over manifest freight.

Ada C. Blakely was granted a divorce from Arthur Blakely, Union Pacific conductor, in Omaha Tuesday and Blakely is ordered to pay her attorney's fees and $800. On the other hand she is to return to him the diamond cluster earrings which were his present to her in the days of domestic felicity.

Engineer Arve Peterson, who was one of those sent to Camp Finston, held the rank of captain for a time, having charge of 300 colored recruits and he writes that he had his hands full in keeping them under military discipline. However, when he turned them over to the commanding officer of the company he was highly complimented for his work.

Probably few of our people outside of railroad employes, know that the Union Pacific yards at this terminal are four miles long and that within this area there are sixty miles of track. On these tracks are 408 switches, 104 of which have lights. These sixty miles of track are, however, insufficient, and additional trackage is being laid.

The space between the north side of the new depot and the east bound track is being plowed up and switch tracks removed preparatory to laying a brick block platform. This platform will extend the full length of the building on the north, and will also be laid on the east and west ends. On the south side the paving will conform with the street paving. It is understood that the plat of ground between the depot and Locust street will be laid out in a park and that there will be a park extending quite a distance east from the depot. These parks will materially enhance the appearance of the depot surroundings.

"You Always Pay."

"You always pay, you know," said a forger who was captured recently after years of liberty as a fugitive from justice.

Sure you do. Whether you violate man's law or nature's law, which is another name for God's law, you always have to pay, and the full price, too. Some pay, as this man did, in dodging and slinking through the world like a hunted beast, his mind wracked, his face gradually taking on a furtive look, knowing always that somewhere ahead lay the steel jawed trap all set and ready.

Some pay with broken health, others with broken hearts; some surrender friends and love, some give all in life worth living for; some cast their conscience to be gnawed by the wolves of remorse, some not only pay their own share in full, but shift part of the burden to their children and their children's children, even to the third and fourth generation, for the debt must be paid to the last farthing.—Kansas City Star.

Have You a Dodge Miniature?

There are today a very large number of homes in America where the most treasured possession is a small old fashioned miniature, painted some time between the years 1824 and 1870, most likely, and which bears in tiny, unostentatious lettering the name of the artist, "J. Dodge." If the miniature be that of a bona fide ancestor is not that of the bought variety its possession is better than a D. A. R. pin, for in practically every instance it is all the proof necessary that the family ancestor was somebody. For the artist who painted these pictures did the most masterly work, and his patrons represented the statesmen and leaders of their time. Henry Clay, Andrew Jackson, James K. Polk, Andrew Johnson, Aaron Burr—men famous throughout the nation—sat to the painter whose art was devoted to the tiny miniature portraits on ivory.—Exchange.
