

LOVE'S WITCHERY

By LEE VERONE ALLAN.

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

"You have done me a great favor," said Dudley North, shaking hands with a companion in a passenger coach.

"Don't speak of it. I'm only glad that the people at Hillside won't be disappointed. Remember, though, you are Robert Wade."

"I've got my lesson by heart," laughed the other.

Unhappily drifting, leaving it to chance where he would land, Dudley North had entered into a casual conversation with his seat mate on the train. The latter had told him that he was bound for Weston, but he had intended going to Hillside up to that morning.

"You see," he explained, "some people at Hillside sent to an agency in the city for a chauffeur. I agreed to take the position. Only this morning, though, an old employer sent for me. Sorry to disappoint the agency and the Worthingtons. They expect me on this train."

"See here," interposed North. "I want work. Wonder if I couldn't fit in?" And an hour later, fully posted, he arrived at the station of the little town of Hillside. In the distance a lake showed, surrounded by fine residences. An automobile stood at the edge of the platform. From it a young man with a satchel hastened to catch the train and directed the quick query of the one passenger alighted:

"You the new chauffeur?" and North bowed assentingly.

"All right, there's the car. My sisters are over at the store." Then he was gone, and crossing the street the sweetest little specimen of girlish loveliness came tripping up to the machine.

"Oh, the new chauffeur?" she spoke.

"My sister Hortense will be here in a minute or two. You don't know the ways around her, or course?"

"It will not take me long to learn," submitted North.

"No, and I'll help you," chattered on Miss Gladys Worthington. "I'll call out 'right,' or 'left,' just before we reach a turn."

"I shall certainly be obliged," said North, and the warm sense of emotion the very human Gladys had incalculated, became congealed as her queenly sister appeared and with chilling hauteur spoke the mandatory word: "Home."

Average Values.

In estimating quantities of bulk it is of considerable help to have unit figures handy for multiplication or division to get the required result. The following figures are recognized average values, giving weights in pounds for one cubic foot of the material named: Soft coal ashes, tightly packed, 43; cinders, 40 to 45; hard or anthracite coal, 56 to 60; soft or bituminous coal, 47 to 52; coke, 23 to 32; iron, 450; lead, 709; pitch, 75 pounds per cubic foot.

First Colonial General Hospital.

It was on February 7, 1751, that the first general hospital was chartered in the colonies—the Pennsylvania state hospital in Philadelphia. Joshua Crossby was the first president of the institution, and Benjamin Franklin, who had been prominent in urging the establishment of an institution for the care of the sick, was the first clerk. It was in this hospital in 1769 that Thomas Bond gave the first clinical instruction in America.

Ancient "Cathay."

Cathay was an old name of China by which that country was known to Europeans during the middle ages. The British Encyclopedia says: "Cathay is divided from Khitai, the name which was properly that of the kingdom established by the Khitan conquerors in the northern provinces of China about A. D. 907 and was subsequently applied to the whole of China." Khitai is still the Russian name for China.

Seen in a Different Light.

There stood an old peddler resting on the bridge situated near Avoca at the meeting of the waters. He was tired and weary after a hard day's walking, and as he looked down into the waters he murmured: "Sweet Vale of Avoca, Tom Moore called you sweet, but if he had to be on a bed without a blanket or sheet and travel the country without boots on his feet, he wouldn't give a curse where the bright waters meet."

Licorice Root in Demand.

Licorice root is found in various parts of the province of Cape of Good Hope. After its introduction there a number of farmers planted it and then, probably on account of the lack of a market, neglected it. Later it so spread in certain localities as to become a pest difficult to eradicate. Now, its usefulness has been recognized, and the diggers pay two cents a pound for the privilege of digging it.

Not in That Way.

A foreign-born citizen and his wife were not living together. A fire destroyed their home. The insurance company was resisting the payment of the policy of insurance thereon. The husband, on cross-examination, was asked by the lawyer for the insurance company if he and his wife were not separated. He replied, "Not financially."—Everybody's Magazine.

Just a Hint for Aunty.

Aunt Mable, visiting at our house, borrowed a nickel from little Katie to telephone and forgot to repay the loan. Katie worried about the loss, for to her it was a mighty big sum. Finally she said to her mother, "When we are all at the table, let's you and me begin to talk about owing people nickels, then maybe aunty will remember she owes one to me."

Lightning Statistics.

The best conductors of lightning, placed in the order of conductivity, are: Metals, gas, coke, graphite, solutions of salts, acids and water. The best nonconductors, ending with nearly perfect insulation, are: India rubber, gutta-percha, dry air and gasses, wool, ebonite, silk, glass, wax, sulphur, resin and paraffin.

Survival.

Life is a struggle, but not a warfare; it is a day's labor, but labor on God's earth, under the sun and stars with other laborers, where we may think and sing and rejoice as we work.—John Burroughs.

Daily Thought.

In the long run men hit only what they aim at. Therefore, though they should fall immediately, they had better aim at something high.—Henry David Thoreau.

Improving on Preverb.

"Rise wid de sun" is good 'nuff fer lots of folks, but a better way'n dat is ter ketch de sun in bed ever' mawnin' de Lawd sends.—Atlanta Constitution.

Marred Furniture.

When furniture has become marred touch up the spots with iodine to bring back the color, then rub with furniture polish.

"Cape-to-Cairo Rhodes."

So they called him, mockingly, when Cecil Rhodes, idealist and pirate, empire builder and adventurer, dreamed a railroad through the African sands that should run straight from the Cape of Good Hope to the shores of the Mediterranean. "Nonsense!" said the British government, forgetting that this man's "nonsense" had given the empire a territory greater than France, Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy, all together. So Cecil Rhodes merely went out and built the railroad that turned a desert into a nation.—World Outlook.

Job Too Big for Average Man.

It takes lots of brains, patience and attractiveness to keep everybody straight. The trouble is it's not so much a matter of benefit to others as it is a satisfaction to yourself to be the general manager of things. The world could lose several in every community and its efficiency and peace would not suffer in the least. The chap that would be general manager of any group of people must not only be a man of big mentality but it has to be recognized to bring harmonious results.

Amusement for Children.

For the children, before they are old enough to use scissors, tearing paper is an engaging occupation. Tear a piece of old newspaper into an oblong shape; it may be any size, about two by four inches, we will say. By folding this in the middle it will make a little tent. Again, fold in thirds, one piece turned up and one down, for a chair. Turn both ends down for a table. The child can tear paper into trees, a ball, doll babies and many other simple shapes.

One's Best Always Called For.

This is the golden time now to begin your life work—if you have not already done so. Age and condition—even health, are not so important factors as formerly. The Oaser dictum of innocuous desuetude at forty is taboo as regards women as well as men. There is work for all ages and conditions, at home and abroad, and it behooves each of us to do our best in the task that falls to our lot.

Neat Way of Putting It.

Roland was usually put to bed at a certain hour every night, but almost always objected, not liking to own that he was tired and sleepy. On one occasion his mother was too busy to notice that for once he was ready to be put in his little bed. Not liking to own it, evidently, he edged up to her and, gazing wistfully into her face, he inquired: "Mamma, isn't you getting tired?"

Birds Remember Kindness.

Birds are naturally very friendly to man. They make friends easily, and unless violence is threatened they never forget a kindness or favor. Once food is placed on a window sill in the winter, when food for birds is hard to get, they return time and again, even though the individual forgets to place morsels within their reach.

Don't Be Like Her.

There are a number of pitfalls waiting the girl who is always setting her mother right, and who bemoans the fact that her parents are "so old-fashioned." And there is no better safeguard against the world's evils than confidence in a girl's heart that mother knows best.—Exchange.

Lamps for the Eyes.

A new optical instrument consists of a high-powered incandescent lamp which can be taken into a person's mouth to illuminate his eyes through the retinas, enabling them to be examined through the pupils.

Tools and the Man.

The proper epic of this world is not now "Arms and the Man," how much less, "Shirt Frills and the Man;" no, it is now "Tools and the Man;" that henceforth to all time is now our epic.—Carlyle.

Rugs Made From Tissue Paper.

Rugs are now being made entirely from fine tissue paper and mixtures of paper and wool. The tissue paper is twisted into threads and woven into a compact heavy mat or fabric.

Daily Thought.

We reap what we sow; but nature has love over and above that justice, and gives us shadow and blossom and fruit that springs from no planting of ours.—George Eliot.

Uncle Eben.

"De queerest thing about a fault-finder," said Uncle Eben, "is dat he kin always git a few people worryin' der heads off tryin' to please 'im."
