

Serve Ice Tea in The Correct Manner

To be in style, you must serve iced tea in large capacity glasses with long handled spoons. But there is more than style to recommend this service.

One usually wants more iced tea than the ordinary glass holds. These deep glasses hold the right quantity.

The long spoons make it easy to reach the sugar at the bottom of the glass and cause it to dissolve.

NO BIDS FOR GRADING FEDERAL AID ROAD.

No bids for grading and hauling gravel on the federal aid road between North Platte and Sutherland were filed last Friday. The bid of the Central Town Cement Co. was accepted for the culverts needed on the road.

A contract not having been awarded, the county commissioners have been authorized to secure a contractor and have the work performed provided they can make a contract at a price not exceeding the estimate made by the state engineer. Or if the county so desires it can do the work with its own grading outfit if the work can be done as soon as possible.

The failure to receive bids is not likely to long delay work on the road, as the commissioners are anxious to have the work done as soon as possible.

Pays Big Price for Chickens.

John Federhoffs' appetite for prairie chickens grew so strong Friday that it impelled him to go out hunting for them. He succeeded in killing four in a field southwest of town, and might have gotten a few more had not Game Warden Jones swooped down upon him and found the birds in his possession. John was inclined to consider the game warden too inquisitive, and they had words that almost led to an altercation. A warrant was issued for John charging him with killing birds out of season and resisting an officer. Saturday he pleaded guilty to killing chickens, paid $20 as a penalty and $4.35 costs and the charge of resisting an officer was dismissed.

Temporary Cessation of Work.

Orders have been received by the local Red Cross chapter to suspend work for a period after the present supplies on hand are used. This order is made by the reason of the great scarcity of both cotton and wool, the supply of which is expected to be greater after September first. The scarcity of wool and cotton has forced the government to employ hundreds of women to repair the garments of soldiers. Garments that formerly were discarded when needing repairs are now saved and sent to the repair shops.

It is understood that after September first the Red Cross work will be resumed with increased vigor.

No Delivery of Meat.

Elsewhere the four meat markets of the city serve notice on the public that on and after August first they will not make deliveries of meat. This innovation will no doubt result in considerable criticism, but it is the public that is responsible for the new order.

The abuse of the delivery system has so increased the number of deliveries that in these days when there is a constantly increasing shortage of labor it is impossible to secure men and boys for the work.

When a woman phones to a market to send up five cents worth of liver for her cat, or the man phones for ten cents worth of meat for his dog, and that man or woman lives anywhere from eight to sixteen blocks from the market, there surges in the breast of the market man a feeling that he can't express in words. The Tribune man, who noses around anywhere and everywhere and learns lots of things he don't print, is ready to swear that there is nothing that the people of North Platte abuse as much as they do the merchants' delivery system, and he marvels that the grocer and the meat market man is over able to summon a smile to his face—in other words what they have to contend with would make a 100 per cent grouch out of the sweetest dispositioned male or female in North Platte.

There are some people in town who can remember when there were no free deliveries, and people were just as happy, contented and lived as well as they do in these days when the cat's and the dog's meat must be delivered.

If you don't like the idea of carrying home your meat, do without it. (we all eat more meat than we should) and put the amount you save in Liberty bonds or war savings stamps.

"CARDIFF GIANT" PURE FAKE

Had its Origin in Hoax Which is Understood to Have Had its Inception at Chicago.

Andrew D. White gives some of the particulars of the "Cardiff Giant" in a book entitled "The True Story of a Remarkable Deception." The Cardiff giant was the huge stone image of a man which Farmer Newell of Cardiff, N. Y., claimed to have unearthed while digging a well in the autumn of 1890. After it had been sold to a joint-stock company formed to exploit the wonder for show purposes, Barnum tried to buy it for his own museum, but his offer was declined. The showman then had an imitation made, with the result that two Cardiff giants were on exhibition at the same time, the duplicate being shown to the public as "the only and original." Doctor White attributes the exposure of the fake to Professor Marsh of Yale; in another account it was Dr. John V. Boynton of Syracuse, N. Y., who held bare the fraud. The original Cardiff giant was carved or chiseled out of a gypsum block in a stoneyard in Chicago and was transported thence by rail and wagon to Cardiff. According to Doctor White, scientists as well as clergymen were much impressed with the colossal figure. Dr. James Hall, state geologist, issuing a statement in which he described the giant as "the most remarkable object brought to light in this country" and as "deserving the attention of archaeologists."

REFUGEES IN RICH ATTIRE

Amid all the chaos of the Italian retreat one kept on meeting utterly incongruous figures, for alongside of others road-worn, shabby and dirty, to be clean and well dressed is to be grotesque.

Amid this multitude of haggard, unwashed, unshaven, dead beat males, I noticed two Italian ladies treading delicately over the rough ballast of the railway track. They had naturally brought with them in that flight the most valuable of their possessions, which were of a kind conveniently carried on their persons. Against this gray background of mud and rubbish and a disbanded army their two figures glittered with a brilliance that would have been conspicuous in the Rue de la Paix.

Heavy sable furs and muffs almost bowed their shoulders; each finger had two or three rings that flashed in the light; round their necks were gold chains hung with pendants, and yet instead of the air of self-satisfied ostentation that might well have gone with a display so lavish, they were only two pathetically little, frightened, perplexed faces, and an uncertain gait that did not promise much further progress along that ankle-wrenching railway line.—G. Ward Price in the Century Magazine.

Cavite Flashes Time Over Pacific.

Since October 1 the radio station at Cavite, co-operating with the Philippine bureau of posts and the Manila observatory, has been sending the time signals of the 120th meridian east, of Greenwich at 11 a. m. and 10 p. m. every day, says Science.

For the purpose of sending time signals, the transmitting clock of the Manila observatory is connected with the Cavite wireless station through the bureau of posts. Manila observatory time signals begin at 10:55 a. m. and 9:55 p. m., standard time of the 120th meridian east of Greenwich, and continue for five minutes. During this interval every tick of the clock is transmitted, except the 28th, 29th, 54th 55th, 56th, 57th, 58th and 59th of each minute.
