It was officially announced Monday that the Ford works at Detroit had suspended making pleasure cars. Tractors and trucks will continue to be made, as they are considered essential. The abandonment of pleasure cars will put Ford garages in the smaller towns out of business. Already it is announced that two garages in near by towns have closed.

The war department's estimate of the number of men who should register in Lincoln county yesterday was 2,337. The actual registration will of course not be known for several days. The total registration June 5, 1917, in the county was 1,758, and this was further increased by 162 registrants June 5, 1918. The local board is of the opinion that the total registration yesterday in Lincoln county will exceed the war department's estimate.

Oscar N. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Smith, of this city, who was superintendent of the Ford assembling plant at Omaha until it closed, left last week for Detroit to accept an executive office in the plant where the sub-marine chasers are built. Elmer C. Baker returned Wednesday from Omaha where he had gone to take an examination for Y. M. C. A. work overseas. He failed to pass the examination for the sole reason that his wife is of German descent, though this would not interfere engaging in the work in this country. It was overseas work, however, that Mr. Baker desired and he declined the offer of cantonment work in this country. He was offered a clerkship in the Union Pacific auditor's office in Omaha at a salary of $147.50 per month. He will leave for Omaha in a day or two to take up the work.

"People are slow to adjust themselves to war conditions," said a grocer yesterday. We send in an order for twenty items to the wholesaler or jobber, and get a return stating that twelve of the items cannot be furnished. That puts us in bad with our customers for they fault us for not keeping in stock goods that we cannot get or can get only in limited quantity. The grocer of today is doing everything possible to supply his customers; if he fails it is because a sufficient quantity of the particular stuff cannot be found. People should remember that these are war times and that market conditions are unusual."

Eves, living in the south part of the county, has received a letter from Congressman Reavis in which he says that during his recent visit to the American lines in France he met her son John Eves near Chaumont, where General Pershing has his headquarters. MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN.

C. T. Temple, who as county chairman conducted the Third Liberty Loan campaign, and who will hold that position during the continuance of the war, assisted by J. E. Sebastian is making preparations for the Fourth loan campaign which opens September 28th.

One of the first moves these men is making is that of getting the publicity machinery in operation and carrying it out along the lines suggested by the treasury department. One suggestion is that the business men of each town bear the expense of the publicity campaign, and this is being followed all over the country. To this end Mr. Temple has classified the business and professional men of the county, and apportioned to each a fair quota of the publicity expense and notified each by letter of the amount assessed. It is requested that this money be sent to the county chairman not later than Sept. 16th.

Another first step to be taken by Chairman Temple is the calling together of the district chairmen of the county and all the bankers of the county at which will be discussed the general conditions in each section of the county. This meeting will be held within the next few days.

"TARZAN OF THE APES" has "219 Thrills."

Maddened by the death of his Ape Mother—at the hands of the cannibal chief—Tarzan races through the jungle. Leaping from tree to tree with the speed of a bird—he overtakes the fear-stricken black—grasps him in his great hands—and when life has flown—flings him far out into the soggy alligator-infested lagoon. The Tarzan returns and mourns over his wild ape-mother as he would over Lady Alice—his real mother. Then calling his friend the elephant—raids the cannibal village and destroys it.

One of the thrills in "Tarzan of the Apes."

If 100 Hens Were on Every Farm.—The United States department of Agriculture says there should be 100 hens on each farm in the United States. Each hen should produce at least 100 eggs. With approximately 6,000,000 farms, that would mean 600,000,000 and 60,000,000,000 eggs per year. That number of eggs constitutes a military resource not to be ignored.

E. E. Moody, who returned this week from Baltimore, says one readily notices the difference between war conditions in the east and west. In the east one sees the real activities which war has brought; he sees the thousands of marching soldiers, the wonderful output of the shipyards, and above all the number of women filling positions formerly occupied by men. On the Pennsylvania railroad system east of Indianapolis, fully half the track workers are women; you see them in all classes of industrial pursuits; a man elevator conductor is no longer seen. Everything in the east is a hustle and a bustle; they are hitting a pace never before known.

Between Hay and Grain

When pastures become poor, it is seldom wise to let cattle depend entirely upon them. This season especially, every available ounce of meat and dairy products is needed to keep America and her Allies in fit condition. Make your herds produce as much as possible that this demand may be met. If you are short of supplemental feed would it not be wise to purchase more.

We will do our best to assist in speeding up war time production. If you need financial assistance, see us, we shall probably be able to help you.

Twelve Tire Tests No. 11

This series of twelve tests is designed to take the uncertainty out of tire-buying.

Universal Usefulness

NOWADAYS many tire-makers are urging motorists to use non-skids on rear wheels and smooth-treads or "driving" tires on front wheels.

The reason given is that ordinary non-skids, with their small projections, make steering difficult when used in front, the effect being much the same as driving over rough roads.

Though some non-skids are unsatisfactory on front wheels, it is evident that the use of two different kinds of tires involves serious disadvantages.

Such a tire is the Michelin Universal Non-Skid. It is a Universal tire in fact as well as in name. Its patented tread is the most effective rubber non-skid ever devised. Yet this tread is so broad and flat that it steers just as smoothly and easily as a plain tread.

When used on all four wheels Michelins ensure the utmost economy, satisfaction and safety all around.

Look for this Sign on Leading Garages

Michelin Universals Are Ideal Non-Skids as well as Unequaled "Driving" Tires.
