

Eyes that are Slow in Developing

Eyes grow just like legs, arms, and other parts of the body. The eye is not fully developed until several years after school work begins. Often a child's eyes are slow in developing, and school work puts a severe strain on them. In such case, glasses should be worn. Clinton's optometrist is expert in testing children's eyes. It will be a good thing to let him examine your child's eyes now that school has begun.

NEWS ABOUT THE BOYS WHO ARE IN SERVICE.

"Jack" Shields has been sent to Camp Grant, Illinois, to take a four months' course in the officers' training school.

Claire Boyer, a member of a machine gun company at Camp Hancock, Ga., is home visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Boyer.

A card received the early part of the week stated that the transport on which Victor A. Bradshaw had sailed had arrived safely overseas.

Julius Connell, formerly of this city, who made several attempts to enlist in the army, has finally been accepted for limited service and will enter a training school at Manhattan, Kan.

Arthur McCabe, having finished the radio course at Harvard university, is now located on a land station at Brooklyn. He expects to soon be transferred to a war vessel as radio operator.

In a letter to his sister, Mrs. Fred Ferrit, received this week, Lieut. Col. Mills says he lost forty per cent of his command in an engagement which occurred a few days before he wrote the letter.

Clarence Runner, whose parents live south of Hershey, has been home on a furlough this week. He is a marine on board a war vessel, and since enlisting he has traveled thirty thousand miles.

A telegram received by Chas. Lambert Wednesday announced that his son Lieut. Burton Lambert has returned from his second trip overseas on a convoy vessel. He has made two round trips within sixty days.

The Denver Post of yesterday announced that Sergeant Harris Stuart had arrived in Denver and was ready to accept enlistments in the tank service. Sergeant Stuart left North Platte as a member of Co. E, and later was transferred to the tank service. For several months he had been stationed at Gettysburg, Pa.

A card received Tuesday by Mrs. E. W. Fetter announced that her husband Lieut. Fetter of the medical corps had arrived safely in France. Lieut. Fetter went from North Platte to Funston, thence to New York, from there to a southern camp, thence back to New Jersey and is now in service somewhere in France.

The last letter received from Clarence McCabe by his parents stated that he was still at the hospital though able to be up and around after a siege of trench fever which he contracted while engaged in telegraphic signal work at the front. In a letter written previous to the date he was taken to the hospital Clarence gives a little insight into a soldier's life as follows: "One night a soldier will sleep under the canopy of the moon and stars the next night he sleeps in some foul smelling old barn, or deep in some dingy, age worn wine cellar or dug out. One thing we boys have to be thankful for is the fact that there is always a little hay in these latter places, although it is infected more or less with French cooties. I am writing this letter in one of the aforesaid wine cellars. The only light is an old-fashioned French lamp which I dare say has hung in its present position since the days when the barons waxed rich by suppressing the poor, simple peasants."

The Races at the Fair.
The horse racing to be held during The Lincoln county fair, Sept. 25th, 26th, and 27th, will be the best ever held, bigger purses being offered than ever before.

A large number of the horses that raced at the state fair at Lincoln are already entered in these races, and this assures the people that they will see something good. Among these entries is a three year old colt, by the world's champion, Dan Patch, named All Win Patch, and owned by L. O. Johnston of this city. This colt won the Iowa State Futurity for three year old trotters at Des Moines, Iowa several weeks ago.

There will also be a good number of running horses for which the Association has offered good purses, and the people will see some real running races.

Boys are Given Reception.
A farewell reception was tendered Peter Meyer, Chas. Leth, Fay Mudge, John Winn, Earl Hall, Glenn Cox and Kenneth Abercomble at the Franklin auditorium Wednesday evening at 8:30 and three hours later the boys left for Manhattan, Kan., to enter the military training school.

The program consisted of selections by the band and by a mixed chorus, and addresses by J. G. Beeler, Governor Keith Neville and S. R. McKelvie, republican candidate for governor. Sweaters and comfort kits were presented to the boys by the Sammy Girls. John E. Evans presided as chairman of the meeting. Quite a number of the relatives and friends of the boys assembled at the depot at train time to give the boys good-bye.

Good-Bye Pleasure Car.
The United States will soon be altogether without passenger automobiles, Stanley Field, for a year director of supplies and transportation for the American Red Cross in France, predicted in a speech before a gathering of motor car men in Chicago Wednesday.

"Almost all of the transportation of troops and supplies to the allied lines is done by motors," he said, "and we are going to have to come to doing without cars in this country without any kick. England now has no touring cars running. We've got to come to it."

Mailing Out Questionnaires.
The local registration board was directed to begin mailing out yesterday questionnaires to all of the men between the ages of nineteen and thirty-six who registered last week. Ten per cent of the questionnaires are sent out each day, and the registrant is given seven days to fill out and return the document.

It is hoped, however, to have all the questionnaires returned within two weeks, as it may be possible that some of the men who registered last week may be called into service before the end of next month.
