NEWS ABOUT THE BOYS WHO ARE IN SERVICE.

Walter Ellis has entered the officers training school at Camp Zachary Taylor near Louisville, Ky.

Earl Carlton, who had been visiting his wife for a week, returned to Camp Cody this morning.

Sergt. Fred Peterson writes home that he expects to sail overseas in a few days. Other North Platte boys are due to leave at the same time.

Harry Brodbeck arrived from the Great Lakes naval training station Saturday and will remain for a week or so. He has been assigned to a submarine chaser.

Leo Tighe, who made application to enter the students training school at the state university, left for Lincoln Sunday. Next week he will be formally inducted into the army training school.

Captain Victor Halligan, stationed at Camp Sill, Okla., arrived home Sunday morning and will remain until the latter part of the week. If his application for an extension of furlough is granted he will remain longer.

Captain P. R. Halligan writes that owing to the prevalence of the Spanish influenza in the eastern camps his going overseas will probably be delayed thirty days. Mrs. Halligan has gone east to remain until the Captain sails.

Rev. Herbert Covell, formerly of this city, who had been engaged in Y. M. C. A. work in the French army, has been appointed an army chaplain, has returned to this country and is now with the 84th division at Camp Sherman near Chillicothe, Ohio.

In a letter to Charley Whelan, received yesterday, "Pop" Sturges says: "I am sending you a German helmet. The particular German who wore this helmet started for Paris to spend the winter, but landed in h—." Mr. Sturges says that while he has traveled over a good part of the entire front he has yet to meet a soul he knew.

Everett Evans, who with Alvin Sandall is on the battlefield Texas, writes that both are well. He says these are strenuous times on the sea fighters for day or night a vessel must be ready for action in five minutes time. Since going over Everett says he has had but two hours' shore leave, and the only time the vessel touches port is to coal. It is thought probable that the boys may come home on a furlough some time this fall.

In a letter to his father dated August 29th, Jimmie Clinton, with the 3d Bat. Dispensary, 6th Marines, writes that he had just finished a trip "de luxe" in a box car, the journey consuming three days and two nights, and giving him and the thirty others in the car a fine opportunity to see France. When he alighted from the car he bumped into Ferdinand Streitz who is a motor truck driver hauling ammunition to the front. He says Ferd is looking fine and has filled out in flesh. Jim says their present quarters are in the loft of a barn which has been fixed up comfortably and is free from "cooties." The distance Jim traveled is evidence that he is now on or near the front line. On the back of the letter received by Mr. Clinton were these words: "Hello, Clinton, didn't know Jim was in our division.—Sturges." The letter had passed through the postal office of which Loren Sturges has charge.

"RAFFLES" John Barrymore as Raffles in the screen version of E. W. Hornung's novel and stage play, introduces this character to his audience with such a genuine appreciation for this type that there can be no doubt of an equally genuine and hearty reception given this drama when it is presented in the motion picture theatre. It is intensely interesting from start to finish and can be recommended to any and all exhibitors as a sure bet. The title itself will attract. The cast is composed of recognized artists. The picture has been given an excellent production. The photograph is as good as the best.

"Raffles," the amateur crackman (John Barrymore) steals for the excitement of it. He delights in outwitting the police and in taking from the rich and giving to the poor. The story opens with Raffles in pursuit of an international swindler aboard a ship. He wishes to get a ruby which the swindler has. He discovers it in the heel of the swindler's boot, and jumps overboard to escape detection. He is seen by Mrs. Vidal (Christine Mayo), an English society woman. Raffles reaches shore, and returns to England, where he meets Mrs. Vidal, and she falls in love with him. They meet at Lord Amersteth's home in London. Lady Amersteth has a priceless necklace of jewels known as the Melrose jewels. There is a discussion about the amateur crackman who has robbed many of the rich in London. The jewels are shown in Raffles' presence. Raffles is in love with Gwendolyn (Evelyn Brent). Mrs. Vidal threatens to expose him if he doesn't return her love. A detective is engaged to guard the jewels. Captain Bedford (Frederick Perry) is introduced to Raffles as the detective. He declares he will catch the amateur crackman.

Crawshaw (Mike Donlin) visits the Amersteth home, and arranges with the maid to get the jewels. Raffles sees him enter at night and snatch the jewels from him. The detective is called and arrests Crawshaw. The jewels are missing. Raffles leaves for the city. He promises Bunny Manners (Frank Morgan) that he will obtain sufficient money to allow him to pay a gambling debt.

Raffles bets Bedford that he will not obtain the jewels before midnight of the next day. Bedford follows Raffles to the city. Crawshaw escapes prison and returns to Raffles' apartment for revenge. He enters, and Raffles sees him. Bedford is outside. Bedford allows Crawshaw to escape. Bedford enters. Bunny has left with the jewels in a tobacco pouch. Later Raffles gets the jewels back and returns them to Gwendolyn, saying that he is the amateur crackman, and that he is through for good and all. He wins the bet, and Bunny gets the money to pay his gambling debt. He proves that he took the jewels to prevent Crawshaw from stealing them.

Visit the Y. W. C. A. Booth.

Those who attend the county fair are invited to visit the Y. W. C. A. booth and obtain the literature that explains the importance of the Y. W. C. A. work in the army and navy. The Y. W. C. A. extends a hearty welcome to the men of the army and navy and to their women guests at its hostess houses in ninety-one camps and aviation fields. These hostess houses are being built for the girls of the U. S. signal corps who tend the wires for the army in France. War Service Centers keep girls fit to do their bit on war orders for our armies overseas. For every man in the khaki there will be a girl in war industries, and it is because of the request of the government that these Industrial War Service Centers are being established in the twenty-two government industrial cantonments where these tens of thousands of girls are producing war order supplies that go directly across to the army overseas.

President Wilson says: "The Y. W. C. A. has responded in this time of need in the most admirable way to the claims upon its patriotic services and I wish to give myself the pleasure of expressing my appreciation and the high value which I put upon its work."

The Y. W. C. A. is one of the seven organizations which will participate in the campaign culminating November 11th to 18th, 1918, for the war work.

Literature and information will gladly be given you at the Y. W. C. A. booth on the fair grounds.
