In Honor of the Gold Stars

"My star—that turned to gold when my boy laid down his life to defend his mother, and all mothers. My golden star that my old eyes will always see shining in God's sky. And always when I lift my face to ask the Heavenly Father for strength to bear my burden, I see my boy's face smiling back to me across the grave.

"He did his duty! And how I prayed God that he might be strong even to the end."

Oh, Americans, make sure, by your self-sacrifice, that that boy, and those other thousands, shall not have died in vain. Do your duty, too, in an overwhelming subscription to the Victory Liberty Loan.
