It is our aim to give twenty-four hour service. Consult us freely regarding:

 2. How to file claims for compensation.
 3. Back allowance and allotment.
 4. How to apply for arrears in pay.
 5. Liberty bonds subscribed for and not received.
 6. How to straighten out business difficulties.
 7. How Red Cross will help you with your family problems.
 8. What the Red Cross can do to help you get employment.
- Whatever we shall be able to do for you, we shall do gladly in the same spirit that you served us.
- Yours for service.

Appreciates Work of Canteen.

Gardner Morris, of Chicago, director of bureau of canteen service, in a letter to Commandant Mrs. Bogue says: "It was a pleasure to note in your report that the good work you have always done there still goes on, and in fact there were almost 3000 more men served during the month of May than in April. Also to note that the number of your canteen workers remains the same. They have certainly done their bit and I take this opportunity to congratulate both you and them."

Rev. Jones, formerly rector of the Episcopal church, who is now located at McCook, has been in town this week attending the Episcopal convocation. Rev. Jones is well pleased with McCook. That town, he says, has started in to pave the streets and have laid out a three-year program which when completed will cover a good portion of the entire town. The people in that town demand that paving be laid—everybody favors it. In the business section the alleys are also to be paved.

Mrs. Mary Norris arrived Wednesday from Omaha where she has resided for some time past and will again make North Platte her home.

The store building on Dewey street occupied by the Gem candy kitchen will be sold by the executor most any day, as a deal is pending now.

Successful Convocation.

The Episcopal convocation which had been in session in the city for three days closed last evening. One gratifying feature was the large attendance of delegates, more parishes in the missionary district being represented than usual; and the reports read showed that the church work at all points is progressing and conditions, generally speaking, very satisfactory. During the sessions a number of interesting papers on church work were read and discussed. A feature of the closing session last evening was the confirmation of a class of seventeen.

Teachers' Examination.

The next teachers' examination will be held Friday and Saturday, June 27th and 28th at North Platte. The Reading Circle examination will be given at this time.

The streets in the new H. & S. addition in the south part of town are being graded, sidewalks and crosswalks will be laid and arrangements made for connection with the city water mains. When these improvements are completed the 120 lots which comprise the addition will be placed on the market. At a recent meeting of the city council this addition was incorporated within the city limits.

No larger, firmer or more finely flavored strawberries than those grown by Thos. Doolittle, living southwest of town has reached North Platte. From a small patch Mr. Doolittle has been marketing forty boxes a day. The yield this season has been very prolific. If the valley farmers cared to engage in the berry growing industry the local demand could easily be supplied and thousands of dollars kept at home each season.

Merchants Split Time.

Thirty or more merchants assembled at the court house Wednesday evening pursuant to a call and after discussing the question and hearing objections from the Central Labor Union relative to a change in time resolved to open the stores one-half hour later in the morning and close one-half hour later. The "Wilson" time will remain unchanged, the stores closing at 6:30 that time instead of at 6 o'clock as at present. This was apparently a compromise between the demands of the farmers and the objection of the Central Labor Union. The new closing hour will go into effect next Monday.

Knock Out Beer Law.

Repeal of the war-time prohibition law was given a knockout blow by the senate Wednesday when by a vote of 55 to 11 it refused to entertain a motion by Senator Phelan of California to set aside the restrictions as to wine and beers.

The local Rebekah lodge has invited all neighboring lodges to attend the meeting tonight at which the state president, Mrs. Elinor Bralley, and state secretary, Mrs. Emma Talbot, will be present. There will be initiation followed by refreshments and a general good time. Mrs. Bralley and Mrs. Talbot, who are making an official trip through this part of the state, will go to Gering Tuesday to install a chapter there.
